Goldwater Sweeps Into Deep South; Union Hears LBJ

Johnson Gets Endorsement

MIAMI BEACH (AP)—President Lyndon B. Johnson told a whooping audience of labor union members today that prosperity must not be sacrificed to partisanship.

Addressing the annual convention of the Interantional Assn. of Machinists, which has endorsed his candidacy, Johnson got a foot-stomping, chanting welcome from 4,000 delegates crammed into smoky hotel ballroom.

The president's second Florida appearance in five days coincided with a visit to the state by his Republican rival, Sen. Barry Goldwater.

Scattered crowds that welcomed Johnson's motorcade through the city obviously were on his side. They waved hundreds of "LBJ" banners and Goldwater placards were scarce.

Johnson got the biggest hand in the speech when he plugged hard for medicare for the elderly under Social Security.

"And I say to you now and I say to Americans everywhere," the president said, "if you believe in medicare under Social Security, now is the time to stand up and be counted."

His audience roared out with applause and cheers and screeching sirens.

Johnson said he believed the machinists want their leader-

Barry: 'I'm For States' Rights'

ATLANTA (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater swept into the Deep South today declaring himself a champion of states' rights and openly bidding for the votes of dissident Democrats.

The Arizona senator was warmly received in speeches here and in Winston-Salem, N.C., where he began his second week-long campaign trek.

100,000 PEOPLE

Atlanta police estimated that 100,000 people lined the streets to cheer Goldwater as he passed and into and around Hurt Park in the downtown area to hear him speak.

Goldwater criticized the president and the Supreme Court for invading the legislative fields, charging that this amounted to "bypassing the people."

He pledged "every effort" to maintain the peace.

"Peace is for those strong enough to keep it," he said.

In his comments on the court, Goldwater referred specifically to the Supreme Court's reapportionment decision and said "this power was never given to the federal government, in spite of what the Supreme Court says.

IN OPEN CAR

Goldwater, smiling and waving, rode in an open car through large crowds gathered in the downtown area.

Confetti showered down as his motorcade turned onto famed Peachtree Street. At one point, the crowd surged from the curb and engulfed the limousine. A group of picketing girls from a business school wore their right arms in slings and carried banners reading, "We'd Give Our Right Arms For Barry."

Goldwater was sharply critical of the administration's policy on Vietnam in his prepared remarks but he spent most of his time in Winston-Salem and here criticizing the Supreme Court and bidding for the support of Democrats dissatisfied with their party.

He told a breakfast rally in Winston-Salem, N.C., "I happen to believe in state's rights," and said some Democrats "don't believe the South is a part of the United States." He named Democratic vice presidential candidate Hubert H. Humphrey as one of them.

Goldwater then flew to Atlanta.

Medicare Bill Faces Dead End

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Suporters of the administration's program of health care for the aged today abandoned their attempt to push it through the house this week.

They conceded they did not have enough votes to win.

Rep. Cecil King (D-Calif.), cosponsor with Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-N.M.), of the controversial hospital care proposal, had hoped to get a vote on the issue in the House this Thursday.

But he told the House Rules Committee he was dropping this plan because he and other supporters knew they did not have the necessary votes.

The House then voted to let a Senate-House conference committee take up the proposal. It

Bond Vote Is Steady

Steady voter turnout throughout the morning was reported today in Ross and Larkspur School Districts, both conducting special elections to authorize bond issues.

Twelve per cent of the approximately 5,400 registered voters in the Larkspur district had voted by noon on the district's request for approval of issuing $476,000 in bonds to finance more classrooms.

In Ross, 262 of approximately 1,700 eligible to vote had cast ballots at Ross School by 12:30 p.m. An election official report-

Tomales Seeking Unification Again

A proposal to unify the Tomales Joint Union High School District—twice turned down by the State Board of Education—will go before the board for a third time.

The Marin County Committee on School District Organization last night approved the plan by an 8 to 2 vote. Members voted after a public hearing at Tomales High School. Mrs. John W. Binckley and Mrs. A. E. Larson opposed the plan, and Dr. John Hamren was absent.

The unification proposal, in area and trustee arrangement, is identical to those previously turned down by the state board.

It covers all the elementary districts now part of the Tomales High School District: Tomales Bay, West Marin and Point Reyes in Marin County, and Bloomfield, American Valley, Watson and Bodega Bay in Sonoma County.

The proposal calls for seven trustees elected at large, but serving from trustee areas. It also includes a provision for a maximum tax rate which will produce the same revenue as would result if each of the component districts levied its maximum general purpose rate this year prior to unification.

A bond leveling election—to allow the new district to take over the bonded indebtedness of the separate districts — would be called at the same time as the unification election.

The Sonoma County Committee on School District Organization must officially approve the unification proposal before the state board will act. Eight members of that committee expressed approval Aug. 24 at a joint meeting with the Marin County committee.

Tomales unification was last submitted to the state board as part of the county's master plan.

The law provides that if a unification proposal is part of a master plan, and the state does not approve it, the county committee must return a plan to the state board. Last night's action will fulfill this requirement.

Among those expressing opposition to the unification proposal were Mr. and Mrs. R. Bruckman and Cecil R. Asman of Inverness.

Asman said his major objection was based on the small size of the proposed unified district. This would make it impossible to present an adequate educational program, he said.

He also objected to the high cost per student to maintain even "minimal standards."

Shoreline Warning Sounded

By WAT TAKESHITA

SAN FRANCISCO—The need to save the scenic shoreline, especially of Marin County, was voiced today at the first meeting of the San Francisco Bay Conservation Study Commission.

Mel Scott, research city planner in the Institute of Governmental Study of University of California, was the principal speaker before the nine-man commission appointed by the governor. The meeting was held in the State Building here.

Showing slides of various filling operations, Scott pointed to the San Rafael Canal along Third Street and declared, "This illustrates in miniature what could happen to the bay as a whole" if filling is allowed without control.

The picture showed a small strip of the canal with both sides filled.

Sausalito also came in for considerable comment.

Said Scott, "Filling along the

Victims Sift Pictures In Robber Hunt

Victims of yesterday's $4000 robbery at the Food Villa market in Fairfax were to look at police photos of possible suspects today, said Fairfax Police Chief James Orr.

The calm, well-dressed robber, who held eight people at gunpoint while he took $4,000 cash and $3,000 in checks, was still at large.

The robber's method of operation has been sent to the California Investigation Bureau at Sacramento and the San Francisco police, which were both to send photos of criminals with similar methods of operation to the Fairfax police for viewing by the eight victims.

The co-owners of the Food Villa, Curtis Smith and Melvin LaFranchi, both among the eight held at gunpoint and bound and tied, said the loss is covered by insurance.

Rep. Miller Charges LBJ Discrimination

The Republican vice presidential nominee said he had copies of two deeds that showed Johnson and his wife bought about 20 lots in Austin in 1938 without any restrictive covenant and resold them in 1945, this time with a clause prohibiting forever the transfer of the land to "persons of African descent."

Driver Goes Off Turn On Highway

A 20-year-old San Francisco driver's car went off a turn on Highway 101 about one-half of a mile south of the Waldo Tunnel at 11:20 p.m. yesterday, struck a "no parking" sign, damaged 30 feet of guardrail and plowed into a light pole.

California highway patrolmen reported the driver, Richard Anthony Pedelaborde, was taken to a hospital for treatment of injuries, but no hospital had a record of receiving him.

Gas Fire Guts Service Station

$50,000 Damage In Hub

A gasoline fire burned out of control and gutted a service station in San Anselmo today, destroying one car and damaging another car and a police motorcycle.

San Anselmo Fire Chief Frank Sousa estimated damage in the blaze at the Mobil Service Station, corner of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Red Hill Avenue, at $50,000.

The gasoline ignited as it was being drained from a car by a co-owner of the service station, Joseph Glauser, and a mechanic, Henry Croker. The gasoline continued to drain out, feeding the flames in the drainage tank. The two men tried to put it out with fire extinguishers at the station, but the drainage tank, containing solvent and other waste as well, overflowed.

FORCED OUT

The spilling gasoline and waste quickly spread across the station floor, forcing Glauser and Croker out of the station. The lift the car was on suddenly gave and the car crashed to the floor. Next to catch fire were tires, about 50 in all, most of them suspended from the ceiling of the combination lubrication room and repair shop.

By the time the fire department arrived, the whole station was blazing.

The fire had burned through a partition into the station office. Afterwards the two owners, Glauser and Melvin MacDougall, opened the cash box to find paper money had been reduced to ashes.

UNDER CONTROL

Chief Sousa said his men had the flames under control about 10 minutes after they arrived. They received the call at 9:52 a.m.

Altogether, 14 firemen, including four volunteers and sev-

Dead Skunk Found Rabid

Robinette shot the skunk after it charged at a Pacific Gas and Electric Co. worker on Atherton Avenue east of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad. The health department made tests on its brain and determined it was infected with rabies.

This was the 18th rabid animal found this year in Marin County—a record number since 1928, when 43 rabid animals were killed during the year. The previous high in recent years had been 11 rabid animals in 1955.

No report was yet available on whether a skunk shot Sunday by San Rafael Police Officer John A. Loane on Dellwood Court was rabid.

Radio Phone Service Firms Join Forces

Two firms seeking permission to start auto radio telephone service launched a California Public Utilities Commission hearing at the Marin Civic Center today by saying they plan to join forces.

At request of the firms' attorneys, PUC examiner John R. Gillanders postponed the hearing until 9:30 a.m. tomorrow, but first allowed an executive of another company to read a statement of protest against both applications.

San Francisco attorney Bruce R. Geernaert, representing Redwood Radio Telephone Corp., told Gillanders at the outset that his client had reached an agreement with the other applicant, United Ambulance Co. of San Rafael, to form a new company called Redwood Radio Telephone Corp. of Marin.

Half the stock in this new company, he said, will be owned by Daniel W. Cochran of Redwood and the other half by Angelo Turrini, owner of United Ambulance.

Uniter's attorney, Lester W. Spillane, said both original applications would be withdrawn. He asked that the hearing be recessed until tomorrow to work out details of the new arrangement.

Gillanders said he would accept the revised application, and would agree to the recess. To speed the proceedings, however, he instructed Jack G. Hofeld, vice president in charge of operations of ITT Mobile Telephones Inc., to read the statement he said his company wished to submit.

Stating that his company is equipped to extend its present San Francisco and East Bay service to Marin, and is working on an agreement with Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. to do so, Hofeld urged that the applications of Redwood and United be denied.

A motion by Spillane to strike the entire statement from the record, on grounds it contained unfounded speculation and opinion rather than facts, was denied.

Asked if they wished to cross-examine Hofeld, the two attorneys declined. But Ermet J. Macario, representing the PUC staff, said he would cross-examine Hofeld tomorrow.

The county planning commission's chambers have been reserved through Thursday for the hearing.

'Monstrous New Terrible Weapon,' Nikita Boasts

MOSCOW (UPI) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev today announced the Soviet Union has developed a "montrous new terrible weapon." He did not describe it.

Khrushchev made the announcement while addressing visiting Japanese lawmakers.

He also said any Peking attempt to change the Sino-Soviet border would lead to war.

Khrushchev told the Japanese that Soviet scientists showed him the new weapon yesterday.

"We do not want to use such terrible weapons and wee shall continue to press for peaceful coexistence and economic development which are the sole hope for mankind," he said.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Ford Offers Chrysler-Type Pact

DETROIT (AP)—The Ford Motor Co. has offered an economic package to the United Auto Workers union similar to an historic agreement worked out last week between the UAW and Chrysler.

The offer appeared to have cleared the path toward settlement on a new contract covering some 125,000 Ford workers without the pressure of a strike deadline.

Still to be discussed however, are the union's so-called non-economic demands, such as for improved working conditions—including additional relief time for workers on assembly lines.

Negroes Arrested On Riot Charges

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Philadelphia police arrested two Negro men and sought a woman on charges of inciting the rioting and looting that burst on north Philadelphia's Negro area just over two weeks ago.

Arrested last night were Abbyssinia Hayes, 34, who is known as Shaykh Muhammad, and Raymond Hall, 25, also known as Yussuf Abdullah. Police described them as members of an extreme Negro separatist movement. They were charged with conspiracy to riot, inciting to riot, and rioting.

Also sought, on similar charges, was a woman identified as Florence Mobley.

Cuban Revolution Seen In Year

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A revolution for Fidel Castro's overthrow "could happen within a year," says a former president of Cuba.

Dr. Manual Urrutia, who said he was designated president "by all the groups that fought Batista" but resigned because of Castro's "betrayal of his country to the Communists," told a news conference yesterday:

"At least 10 organizations in this country and in Latin America are beginning to work together to plan such an overthrow."

Husbands May Watch Delivery

The State Health Department's Hospital Advisory Board, meeting in Berkeley yesterday, approved a public health regulation change that would admit fathers.

Board members are hopeful the recommendation will be approved by the State Department of Health at its next meeting, Oct. 23.

Husbands have never been allowed in the delivery room except a few who got special permission from the hospital, doctor and the mother.

VATICAN, HUNGARY SIGN PACT

Pope Names New Bishops; Cardinal Fate Is Unsettled

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican and Communist Hungary signed an accord today giving the Vatican at least partial administrative authority over the Church in that country for the first time in 15 years. It paved the way also for the eventual transfer of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty to Rome.

Within minutes after the announcement, the Vatican Press Office said Pope Paul VI had named five new bishops and confirmed one selection by Pope John XXIII but never approved by Hungary.

NEW BISHOPS

Vatican officials said the timing indicated the appointment of the new bishops was part of the accord, and that Budapest had approved their nomination.

The Vatican has had no administrative direction over the Church in Hungary since the conviction of Cardinal Mindszenty on charges of treason 15 years ago.

But the status of the cardinal was left unsettled in the new accord, and Vatican sources stressed that he remained in refuge in the U.S. Legation in Budapest.

He took refuge there during the abortive Hungarian revolt of 1956.

The partial accord was regarded as a major step forward in relations between the church of Hungary, and could effect relations between the Church and other Communist countries, as well as between Washington and Budapest.

MADE 'CONFESSION'

The fate of the 72-year-old cardinal has figured in negotiations between the Church and the Communist regime, and also in talks between Washington and Budapest.

The trial of the cardinal in 1949 was a sensational one. He made a confession, but during his few days of freedom in 1956 he told an interviewer he had been tortured before the trial.

A firecely proud man, the cardinal has shown no intention of obtaining freedom at the expense of either his dignity, or that of the Roman Catholic Church.

A communique in the Vatican's L'Osservatore Romano announced the accord. The statement said envoys of the Vatican and Hungary had discussed the entire question of Church-state relations.

It added that both sides agreed to a binding document spelling out results achieved thus far.

Two Trainmen Die In Blaze

CLIFTON, Tex. (AP) — Flames engulfed the locomotive and two trainmen died as a passenger train hit a tank truck carrying 8,000 gallons of gasoline yesterday.

Kirby R. Vaughn, 71, of Temple, Tex., the engineer, and Leslie B. Himmelreich, 38, Cleburne, Tex., were killed. The truck driver, Aubrey Butler, 41, of Hubbard City, Tex., suffered burns.

None of the train's 81 passengers was hurt. The Santa Fe's Chief No. 16, was en route from Galveston to Chicago.

Draft Study Sampling Records To Get Status Of Inductee Pool

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government plans to analyze Selective Service histories of possibly 290,000 men as part of a massive study that could lead to a halt in the military draft.

Officials told The Associated Press today that Pentagon experts conducting the draft studies for President Lyndon B. Johnson have asked the Selective Service System to take a 1 per cent sample of the records of all men in the draft pool.

This involves men between 18 and one-half and 35. Selective Service headquarters said there are about 29 million men in that pool.

The purpose of the sample, authorities explained, will be to "get a more definitive view of the status of people within the pool," from which men are called for induction.

Among other things, the sample will seek to find out to what extent men have moved from one deferred classification to another, thus avoiding induction.

Men being drafted these days average about 22 years old. Roughly 100,000 men a year are inducted, all of them going into the Army.

A little-noticed request to Congress calls for $375,000 to finance the sampling job this fiscal year.

In another phase of the Johnson-ordered study, it was learned, the Census Bureau will make a special effort in its monthly survey of households to determinte the attitude of young men toward military service.

This, too, is to be done at the request of authorities conducting the draft study.

The draft study was ordered by Johnson last April. He said at the time it would consider alternatives, including "the possibility of meeting our requirements on an entirely voluntary basis in the next decade."

Storms Wipe Out Manned Space Flights This Year

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Lightning and hurricanes have dashed U.S. hopes for a manned space flight this year, Dr. George E. Mueller, National Aeronautics and Space Administration associate administrator, has announced.

The manned Gemini mission has been postponed from December to sometime in the first three months of 1965, Mueller said.

Astronauts Virgil I. Grissom and John W. Young have been selected to fly the two-man spacecraft in three orbits of the earth.

Mueller said lightning which struck the Gemini pad Aug. 17, damaging scores of electronic diodes in the Titan 2 rocket, and the dismantling of the rocket to protect it from hurricanes Cleo and Dora forced the delay.

The Titan 2 is to launch an unmanned Gemini spacecraft on a ballistic flight down the Atlantic. Data from this firing is required before a manned mission is attempted.

Mueller said the launch now is scheduled for the last three months in 1964. Most observers say November will be the soonest the rocket can be ready. It was re-erected yesterday.

Tito Stresses Red Bloc Unity

BUDAPEST, Hungary (UPI) — President Tito of Yugoslavia wound up a six-day visit to Hungary today, stressing unity with the Soviet block nations that once shunned him.

Tito and Hungarian Premier Janos Kadar prepared a final communique expected to announce increased trade and a common front against Communist China's militant policies.

The Yugoslav leader returns to Belgrade tomorrow and then move on to Sofia, Bulgaria, for talks with East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht, now visiting there, and Bulgarian leaders.

Bishops Work On Definition Of Sharing Papal Powers

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Given strong impetus by Pope Paul VI, tahe 2,500 Roman Catholic bishops of the Vatican Ecumenical Council started work today on a schema to define sharing of some Papal powers with the bishops.

The pontiff at the ceremonial opening of the council's third session Monday virtually commanded the prelates to clarify "the doctrine of the papacy which will place in its spendid light the role and mandate of the episcopate."

The schema, or topic, before the council at its working session today was titled "De Ecclesia" — on the nature of the church.

It has been considerably changed from the version that the council debated, through its first four chapters, at its second session last fall.

The council now must discuss the fifth and sixth chapters. It also will decide whether to accept or reject amendments offered for the first four chapters. Chapter five is on eschatology—the theology of death, judgment, heaven and hell — and chapter six on the place of the Virgin Mary in the Church.

The first four chapters are concerned chiefly with those who make up the Church — hierarchy and laymen.

Sources familiar with the schema say it puts collegiality — the sharing by all bishops with the Pope in governing the entire church — into precise terminology.

"De Ecclesia" goes into collegiality as a broad principle, almost a doctrinal basis, for further action in implementing new powers of the bishops. The 1869-70 Vatican Council had planned to make definitions on both papal primary and episcopal power as corollary themes. It ended, because the Italian nationalists seized the last papal states in Italy before the episcopal document was discussed.

The collegial concept is based on the idea that Christ founded the Church on St. Peter with the other apostles, not on St. Peter alone.

Morse Attacks Vietnam Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) renewed his attack on the Johnson administration's Vietnam policies in a Senate speech yesterday.

He accused the administration of withholding from the people "the facts about the war" and said "if we don't stop this flagrant violation of international law, I am convinced we are heading straight for a third international war."

Morse called Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Khanh a "military tyrant dictator, kept in power by the United States" and described the weekend coup against Khanh and its quick collapse "a tragic comedy."

Bracero Driver Murder Feared

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The driver of a bus involved in a crash with a train in which 32 Mexican farm workers died near Salinas a year ago may have been killed by vengeful relatives in Mexico, a Department of Motor Vehicles spokesman disclosed yesterday.

The spokesman, responding to charges that the department was negligent in issuing a license to the driver, Francisco Espinosa, 34, because he had tunnel vision, said investigators were told by the man's sister-in-law that he had fled to Mexico after being hounded by relatives of the dead braceros.

Espinosa was acquitted by a Salinas jury of manslaughter charges in the bus-train collision.

The sister-in-law, said Espinosa had gone to Mexico last January to escape threats, but was murdered by other relatives there.

Other Salinas residents testified they had not seen Espinosa in months.

The negligence charges were brought by Assemblyman Edward M. Gaffney, chairman of the Assembly Interim Committee on Industrial Safety. He said Espinosa was able to see straight ahead, but not on either side.

Gaffney said this made the department indirectly "partially responsible" for the accident.

"What the committee found out is that the State of California itself was lax in granting an operator's permit to a man who could not see a train approaching from the side, and who could not even speak English and give an accident report to the highway patrol," Gaffney said.

The state has already allowed $750,000 in workmen's compensation for families of the 32 braceros killed in the accident last Sept. 17. Widows wtih children received $20,500 while childless widows received $17,500 each.

BULLDOZERS BARE WALL WITHIN WALL

Demolition crew from Ira Corbun Co., contractor, knocks south end off San Rafael's E Street School building, exposing new wall which was built inside the former one before demolition. The building, now headquarters for San Rafael schools, continued in use as the bulldozers completed their work. Demolition and rebuilding were under a $24,700 contract, of which the City of San Rafael paid $6,300, and resulted from school district-city property exchange to make way for extending Third Street. City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen said the street extension work is expected to start soon after Jan. 1. (Independent-Journal photo)

Bagley Drubs Tax Proposal

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A Republican assemblyman said yesterday that a Brown administration proposal to consolidate state tax collections under one agency was an attempt to set up "an unholy triumverate."

Assemblyman William T. Bagley of San Rafael made the charge at a hearing before an almost empty committee room.

The subject being heard by a skeleton version of the Assembly Elections and Reapportionment Committee was a proposal that candidates for public office be required to report their campaign expenditures.

But Bagley and Committee Chairman Don A. Allen Sr. (D-Los Angeles) who could muster only one other member of his 11-man committee, got off the subject.

"We're making some progress," Allen said, referring to the state's inheritance tax appraisers who are appointed by the state controller — a system charged with giving a state controller a political machine. "It used to be a sort of joint venture between the governor and the controller."

Bagley fired back: "The governor wants to make it one again. He wants to set up an unholy triumverate of the controller, treasurer and governor so they can divvy up the patronage."

Bagley was referring to a proposal by Gov. Edmund G. Brown to create a state revenue agency to administer collection of state taxes and also appoint inheritance tax appraisers.

The inheritance tax appraisers were a key issue in the primary election race for the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate. The winner, Sen. Pierre Salinger, charged that his opponent, Controller Alan Cranston, created a machine out of the tax appraisers by pressuring contributions from them.

Cranston has denied it and filed a libel suit against Salinger.

The reporting bill being heard by the committee was authored by Bagley, and was identical to one supported by Brown but defeated by Allen's committee during the 1963 legislature. Bagley asked the governor to testify yesterday but no representatives for Brown appeared.

West Marin Enrollment Increases

Enrollment was up in three western Marin school districts on the opening day of classes yesterday.

But tiny Point Reyes School District had only seven pupils enrolled—half the attendance on the first day of school last year.

At one time last year Point Reyes had 18 pupils. Mrs. Ila M. Donovan, principal and only teacher in the school, said she is looking forward to working with a small number this year. Those enrolled are in grades 1-6.

West Marin School District enrolled 280—an increase of 16 over last year. Largest increase was in West Marin School, which has 215 pupils, 15 more than last year. Inverness School has 65.

A total of 205 attended first day classes at Tomales High School, up 25 over last year.

The Tomales Bay Union School District showed an increase of 15, all at Tomales Bay Elementary School, which enrolled 136. Marshall School enrollemnt remained the same, 19.

Redwood Dance Set

Redwood High School freshmen will attend the first dance of the 1964-65 freshman dance series Friday night in the school gymnasium. Dancing will be from 8 to 10 p.m. with music by a high school combo. Tickets will be sold at the door.

Train Hits Car; Driver Isn't Hurt

A Greenbrae man driving a 1962 model compact car escaped injury today when his vehicle tangled with a slow-moving diesel locomotive on Paradise Drive near Harbor Drive in Corte Madera.

J. Donovan Jacobs, 42, of 84 Almenar Drive told police he heard no whistle or bell from the locomotive before it hit the front of his eastbound car at 7 a.m.

He said his vision of the tracks was impaired by a pile of lumber, and the glare of the sun on his windshield prevented his seeing the railroad crossing signal.

Tam News Bureau

Marilyn Tracy and Richard Morrison, both of Mill Valley, have been appointed heads of the Tamalpais High School News Bureau. Miss Tracy is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted N. Tracy of 217 Richardson Drive and young Morrison is a son of Mrs. Patricia Morrison, 115 Corenlia Avenue.

Fairfax Withholding Payments To Pound

Still undecided about how to deal with the countywide uniform animal control ordinance, which its city attorney holds is illegal, the Fairfax City Council last night informally agreed to withhold payments to the county dog pound for the time being.

But at least one councilman appeared to have some doubts about holding back the money.

The city was about to adopt the ordinance some months ago when City Atty. Wallace S. Myers said he felt the stated $4 yearly dog license fee was a violation of state law, which sets limits of $3 for male or spayed dogs and $5 for females.

Last night, City Clerk Alice Leonesio said the city has been using county-supplied forms when it sells licenses "but we cross out the $4 and write in $3."

And Myers said he is "waiting for someone in San Anselmo, who has a dog, to challenge their ordinance through the courts."

Noting that the county has been paid some of the fees collected in Fairfax since the controversy arose, someone suggested that the county is "taking money under false pretenses" if it fails to provide services. Others, however, pointed out that the city has not yet signed an agreement with the pound. And councilmen differed as to whether the county has, indeed, failed to provide services.

Councilman Robert R. Souza urged that the city continue its payments. When the council paid its bills at the end of the meeting, however, a warrant made out to the pound was set aside.

Pesticide Talk

Bus Service Operator Is Hopeful

The operator of a trial bus service between Canal Street and downtown San Rafael said today the run is doing as well as can be expected — but that isn't very well.

Cecil J. Allen, owner of San Rafael-Richmond Bus Lines said, "It'll be six months before the line is self supporting and a year before it makes any money." Apartment owners in the Canal Street district are subsidizing the line, to cut the loss during the initial period of service.

"I consider that if we get two customers per trip we're doing all right," Allen said.

The bus being used on the run, which makes several stops on Canal Street and then goes direct to Third Street and Tamalpais Avenue, has a capacity of 12. Allen doesn't think he'll need more, even after a year.

The bus line operator said business should pick up after the apartment owners, who have formed a group called the East San Rafael Property Owners Assn., mail bus schedules to every apartment dweller in the area.

An official of the association, George Kaenel, said mailing of the schedules should be completed shortly.

The bus makes five trips daily from Canal Street to downtown San Rafael, leaving at 8:30, 10:15 and 11:15 a.m. and 1:30 and 3:45 p.m. It leaves downtown for Canal Street 15 minutes before it makes each trip from Canal Street downtown.

Opera Workshop Audition Tomorrow

A second audition for the College of Marin Opera Workshop will be held from 7 to 8 p.m. tomorrow in room 67 of the college art building, Peggy Donovan, director, announced today.

Singers should take a prepared work, preferably an operatic selection for the audition, she said. An accompanist will be present.

City Takes Control Of Building Proposals

Tiburon City Council last night approved an "urgency" zoning ordinance which means any contemplated commercial construction or change of use must first have city approval.

The ordinance, effective immediately, states that "no new use of land, buildings or structures" shall be established without their developers first getting a use permit which must be approved by the city planning commission and council, except for R-1 and A-2 zones. These zones cover single family residential and agricultural areas.

"I don't think in an R-2 zone right now anyone could build a dog house without the permission of the city council, said Councilman Fred C. Hannahs after passage of the ordinance.

The ordinance is a "temporary" one until "adequate and comprehensive zoning ordinance laws, regulations and a general plan" can be drawn up, its wording states.

The city, incorporated in June, took over county zoning regulations and has generally been following the county's general plan for the area.

The planning commission is interviewing representatives of planning firms, one of which will be hired by the city to review the general plan and zoning laws. Councilmen last week hired a zoning administrator-building inspector.

"An interim zoning ordinance does not freeze development . . . not a moratorium," said City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose.

Councilmen approved the ordinance unanimously, then went on to approve a use permit for construction of a building to house a restaurant, bar, travel agency and yacht brokerage office by Fred G. Zelinsky.

But the council linked its approval to Zelinsky's providing a detailed development plan which would include provision for customer parking. The building is planned for 1 Main Street in downtown Tiburon.

Two Hurricanes Still Around

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricanes Gladys and Ethel still flicked on Weather Bureau screens today, but their older sister Dora, killer of at least seven persons, no longer exists. Gladys stirred northeast of Porto Rico.

Forecasters predicted Gladys would continue to move west-northwest at 16 MPH for the next 24 hours and probably would gradually increase in intenisty.

Ethel, centered about 325 miles east-southeast of Cape Race, Newfoundland, spun at 30 MPH toward the northeast packing winds of 85 MPH.

TRIBUTE TO THE BOY SCOUTS

Action . . . that's what boys like. And Scouting in Marin has plenty of action, not mere activity. Personal fitness, for instance, has always been a basic in Scouting, a sound body developed by vigorous action.

The Marin Council, Boy Scouts of America, serves nearly 5000 boys a year under the leadership and guidance of 1700 volunteers in the Cub Scout, Boy Scout and Explorer programs. Thanks to the generous contributions of the citizens of this area, the Boy Scouts of Marin have two fine camps with a wide range of programs available. Camp Tamarancho and Marinsierra are among the finest camps anywhere in the country.

TV Antenna Service Called State Problem

Marin residents need protection when they subscribe to a master television antenna service, but the state should provide it, County Communications Supervisor J. Mansfield Lewis told the board of supervisors today.

The supervisors agreed, and voted to refer the problem to Assemblyman William T. Bagley and State Senator John F. McCarthy.

Lewis said the policy of granting encroachment permits for television cables does not give the county any control over the quality of service or engineering standards. In fact, he said, no engineering or quality standards have ever been set up.

The county probably could exercise control if it issued franchises, but policing the operations would be an expensive operation, and the county would probably have to handle all complaints about poor television, he continued.

Lewis said the problem is statewide, and state standards should be set. Jurisdiction should lie with the State Public Utilities Commission, but a change in the law is needed first, he said.

The board quickly voted to have the county counsel's office draw up a resolution to send to the legislators.

LYNDON

ship, government and country "to extend their hands but keep their guard up."

"I believe, and I think you believe," he said, "in a test-ban treaty that will save us from contaminating the milk of our children. I believe and I think you believe in the policy of good neighbor that will help those who want freedom to help themselves.

"I believe, and I think you believe, that one of the proudest moments of our history was when we wrote a Social Security bill on the law books of our nation."

Johnson apparently was attempting, without exactly saying so, to contrast his views in these fields with those of Goldwater. He never mentioned the Republican nominee by name.

He went on to say that "we must always be prepared to defend ourselves from any attack" and also to reason out our problems with any area of the world.

Pohnson's address to the machinists featured a plea for national unity in the face of a potentially divisive campaign. He said:

"Unity is our challenge. The prosperity of the many must not be sacrificed to the partainship of the few. The progress of all the people must not be victimized by the prejudices of any of the people."

The president was to tour Cape Kennedy for 90 minutes this afternoon before returning to the White House.

HEALTH

faces certain burial when the conferees meet.

The House last July 28 passed a bill to increase Social Security benefits. The Senate, on Sept. 3, passed this same bill and tacked on the long-stalled health care proposal which never has gotten through the House Ways and Means Committee.

This action meant that the Senate and the House had to reconcile differences on the Social Security bill. Normal procedure is to send such a measure to a House-Senate conference committee which seeks a version acceptable to both chambers.

Knowing that most of the conferees involved in the Social Security bill are opposed to medicare, Democratic backers of the health bill sought to bypass the conference and get a direct vote in the House on the Senate amendment.

King went before the House Rules Committee today to seek approval of this course, but gave up after admitting he was beginning to see "the facts of life."

Kings' announcement apparently closed the door on any possibility that Congress would take any real action on health care this year.

SHORELINE

Marin shore line, which is particularly scenic, could do a lot of damage." He said the damage may not be quite so severe in areas which are not so scenic.

Sen. J. Eugene McAteer (D-San Francisco), chairman, announced these two major goals for the commission:

1 .Ascertain public interest in San Francisco Bay and recommend appropriate legislation.

2. Determine the effect of further filling on navigation, fish and other water life, air and water pollution, and general public welfare.

Scott said mud flats may be ugly, but some are absolutely necessary to sustain wild life. He urged the commission to charter a plane and see for themselves the results of bay filling.

Senator McAteer asked Scott to give the commission a written definition of what he considers to be the public interest and the effects of bay filling.

The commission hired Joseph Bodovitz of Mill Valley as study director, and Robert H. Mendelsohn of San Francisco as assistant. Its next meeting will be at 9 a.m. next Tuesday in the same place. The commission must wind up its work and submit a recommendation to the legislature in January.

eral men on their day off, fought the blaze. Two pumpers were used to feed streams of water onto the burning service station.

Chief Sousa said his men worked under a serious hazard for several moments, when the flames engulfed a large drum of white gas on the station floor.

"Fortunately, it didn't go," said the chief ."If it had, burning gas would have gone everywhere."

The cement block walls and wooden roof of the building were still standing, but badly damaged—about $20,000 worth, the chief estimated. Inside the building, repair equipment, about $1,500 worth of tires, most of the supplies and furnishings were detsroyed.

Outside the building near the door were an automobile and a motorcycle belonging to the San Anselmo Police Department. Both were badly damaged.

Only part of the building not touched by fire was that containing the two rest rooms.

Chief Sousa said he did not know the origin of the spark which ignited the gasoline.

ed the voting "very steady" throughout the morning.

The Ross district seeks approval for a $350,000 bond issue to finance additions to the school.

Voters in both districts have turned down similar proposals previously — once in Ross and three times in the Larkspur district, which includes most of Corte Madera.

Polls will remain open in both districts until 8 p.m.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Ida Louisa Lucas Dies

Mrs. Ida Louisa Lucas, 80, who lived at 93 Clark Street, San Rafael, for 42 years, died last night in a San Leandro convalescent hospital after a long illness.

She was the widow of Alfred Lucas, who worked on the Sausalito-to-San Francisco ferry boats. He died about eight years ago.

A native of Ohio, Mrs. Lucas came to California about 47 years ago. She was a hospital patient about two years, and before that lived with her son, John J. Lucas, in Oakland, for a year.

She also leaves three brothers, Irvin, Victor and Oscar Streb, and two sisters, Mrs. Minnie Kessler and Mrs. Laura Oakes, all of Canton, Ohio, and two grandchildren.

Summer Youth Park Work Pay Protested

Youngsters in the City of Mill Valley's summer youth work program believe they should receive more than $1 per hour for their work in cleaning parks, creeks and pathways, Park Supt. Joseph F. Penders told the city parks and recreation commission last night.

He said some cited that the minimum wage law is $1.25 per hour.

Another discouraging aspect of the program, Penders said, is that some of the boys think that "if you work for the city, you can take your time in doing your work."

It was agreed by the commission that these "problem areas" ing the program should be worked out with the Mayor's Youth Committee and Penders, reported Dean Meyer, chairman.

The commission discused the use of city tennis courts by residents outside Mill Valley and agreed to try to work out an arrangement whereby use might be policed by a blackboard for signups and possibly through hiring a weekend attendant.

A motion by Commissioner Thomas B. Lathrop to restrict use, to Mill Valleyans only died for lack of a second. There is now a sign posted at the courts saying Mill Valleyans have preference for use.

The commission agreed it will appoint a member to a county-wide council on recreation for the handicapped, after hearing a presentation on the subject by Kelvin J. Nelson, Marin County parks and recreation director.

Eldon Beck of Royston, Hanamoto, Mayes and Beck, landscape architects, told the commission his firm will have an exhibit on display at the Fall Arts Festival Oct. 10 and 11 on the proposed Old Mill Park development.

FAMILY BIKE

Looks Like Tot Can Get Ride

A Fairfax couple appeared to have won their campaign to get the city to change an ordinance so they can legally take their daughter for rides in the "passenger compartment" of the family bicycle.

City councilmen told Police Chief James Orr and City Atty. Wallace S. Meyer to work on a revision in the bicycle ordinance which would let an adult bicycle rider carry a passenger in a permanently attached, commercially sold tandem seat.

The request was submitted about three months ago by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Price of 131 Bothin Road, who said Mrs. Price took their small daughter for rides in such a seat for years until they realized she had been violating the ordinance. At that time, councilmen took a dim view of making any change.

After studying other cities' ordinances, Mr. and Mrs. Price returned last night. They cited a revision made in San Bruno's ordinance, in which commercial attachments were made legal while juvenile double-riding was still banned.

Told Fairfax not comparable to San Bruno because of the hilly terrain, Price retorted both San Francisco and Berkeley allow adults to carry youngsters in approved tandem seats.

When Myers admitted he was "prejudiced against this" because one of his own children was once hurt on a bicycle, Price shot back:

"Well, safety is another matter. There are far more kids hurt riding loosely in the front seats of automobiles. It seems to me if people have the right to carry children in cars without strapping them in, we should have the right to take our child around on a bicycle, which is actually safer."

County Nurse To Continue Private School Services

A public health nurse will continue to give services to children in Marin's private and parochial schools, if the schools ask for it.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors today voted to appropriate $4,662 to hire another nurse after the county's chief nurse, Margaret Hoff, announced the service had been cut back because more time had to be spent on tuberculosis control.

Effect of the action was to give the County Health Department essentially what it asked for at budget time. At that time funds were appropriated to hire two additional clerks, but the supervisors said a nurse could be hired instead.

The clerks were hired, however, after health officer Carolyn B. Albrecht claimed paper work had piled up so much that efficiency was cut. Now the department will have both the nurse and the clerks.

Miss Hoff said there has been a 33 per cent increase in tuberculosis cases discovered in the county this year, and therefore the tuberculosis problem took top priority.

Main complaint on the cut in service to schools came from St. Rita's School in Fairfax.

Supervisor William D. Fusselman asked for the extra money. He was backed by Supervisor W. Leydecker, who said he had not realized at budget time there would be such a cut in services. Miss Hoff said she had mentioned the parochial school nurse would be "curtailed."

"That's not the same thing as a termination," objected Leydecker. Chairman William A. Gnoss said he, too, had not realized the effect of the budget action.

The health department was also instructed to report on the status of well baby clinics in the county, after Fairfax residents complained these had been reduced also.

County Administrator Alan Bruce said no budget cut had been made there, but Asst. Health Director Mary Tonelli said increased population has forced a reallocation of time.

State Districting Compromise Defeated

WASHINGTON(UPI)—The Senate today defeated a compromise amendment on state legislative reapportionment aimed at clearing away the major stumbling block to adjournment of Congress. The vote was 42 to 40.

The compromise drafted by a group of so-called liberals was a mildly-worded statement to express the "sense of Congress" that the states be given "reasonable time" to comply with the Supreme Court ruling that their legislatures be apportioned on an equal population basis. It was not binding but merely reflected the sentiment of Congress in formal form.

Copter Crash Kills

TOKYO (AP)—Five members of Japan's defense force were killed today and one was seriously injured when an H-19 helicopter crashed into a rice field 40 miles west of Tokyo.

Swimming Hole Water Cleaned

NEWTON, Mass. (UPI)—Crystal Lake, a popular swimming area, is kept clean and fresh by an artificial babbling brook.

Nature's helper is a water flow inducer called the Aqua-Guard. Its function — to decontaminate the lake—is performed by stepping up the natural circulation of water when hot weather and heavy usage combine to form a breeding place for bacteria.

Utilizing a 10-horsepower submersible motor, the device has a displacement capacity of two million gallons per hour.

Improvement Clubs Set Charter Session

The Marin Federation of Improvement Clubs last night set Nov. 9 for the organizational meeting of groups interested in discussing formation of charter government for Marin County. The session will begin at 8 p.m. in the county courthouse.

The federation sponsored at meeting on the subject last spring, when it was agreed that nothing could be done until after the November elections.

School Meet Off

Because of the meeting on unification last night in Tomales, the regular meeting of the Tomales Bay School District board was postponed until Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Tomales Elementary School.

Vandals Hit Cars

Evy Winter reported to Mill Valley police last night that someone broke radio antennas and cracked the windshields of her 1958 Impala and 1961 Chevrolet while they were parked over the weekend at her home at 65 Ethel Avenue.

Arabian oryxes have adapted well to life in Arizona, under a project sponsored by the World Windlife Fund to safeguard species of animals and birds that face extermination.

Child Center May Be Turned Over To County

The Marin City Child Care Center may be turned over to county supervision, Sausalito School District trustees agreed last night, provided stipulations in the agreement are carried out.

The center, now operated by the Sausalito district, is proposed to be handled by the County Welfare Department and county superintendent of schools office. Final decision on such a transfer must be approved by the board of supervisors.

Trustees received the annual report last night and it was announced that persons wishing copies may pick them up at the district office.

Regular meeting of the board on Sept. 28 had been canceled, said Supt. Marcus F. Davis, so trustees may meet that date at 8 p.m. with Mill Valley School District trustees at Old Mill School, Mill Valley, to discuss inter-district efforts to do something about racial imbalance at Manzanita School, Marin City.

Sausalito To Meet On 'Segregation'

Sausalito School District trustees agreed last night to meet Monday at 8 p.m. at the district office to set up a citizen advisory committee to study "de facto segregation" in the district.

The board discussed names for the committee last night but said they need more time to review the names before making a decision. Thirty-three names have been submitted.

Lake 'Monster' Sighted Again

KELOWNA, B.C. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Kerry of Kelowna reported they watched Ogopogo, the mysterious and unidentified "monster" of Okanagan Lake, swimming and diving for a mile down the lake till he disappeared near the Kelowna bridge.

Kerry said Ogo "looked very much like a seal head, although I thought I could make out two horns."

Juvenile Aide Gets Promotion

County Juvenile Hall Director David Fogel's promotion to the new position of director of institutions, with an immediate salary hike to $1,000 a month, was approved formally today by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Supervisor William D. Fusselman abstained, saying he was in favor of the program but was not convinced the salary should be so high. Approval was unanimous by the other four board members.

Hot, Cold In U.S.

NEW YORK (UPI)—The highest temperature reported yesterday to the U.S. Weather Bureau, excluding Alaska and Hawaii, was 104 at Imperial, Calif. The lowest reported this morning was 23 at Ironwood, Mich.

WHERE'S THE CENTER LINE? — This is what street striping on Fifth Avenue at Irwin Street looked like today. Some driver played a game across the wet paint of the center stripe immediately after it was painted by A and M Striping Co., with this result. The street striping is in similar condition on many of San Rafael's streets. (Independent-Journal photo)

City Sees Red On Striping Of Streets

San Rafael has the strangest street striping ever seen, and Walter Mick, supervisor of street maintenance for the city, is more than a little unhappy about it.

Not exactly happy, either, are Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles, Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa, City Mgr. Dan E. Anderson, members of the city council, and the A and M striping Co. of Petaluma, which has the $19,000 annual contract to paint stripes and lettering on San Rafael's streets, along with crosswalks and curb markings.

The street stripes run every which-way. But it's not the fault of A and M Striping Co. They no sooner get the stripes painted, Mick complained today, than along comes a car driver with a perverted sense of humor to drive back and forth in zig-zags across the fresh paint. Result: what should be center stripes are yellow treadprints that no driver could follow if he tried.

Up to now, nothing much has been done about it.

Police Chief Chiesa reported today his officers have turned one juvenile driver over to the probation department and two adults over to the district attorney for prosecution, and cited three others.

One of the adults, William J. Newman, 18, of 390 Peachstone Terrace, Marinwood, was fined $17 in Marin Municipal Court on Sept. 2 after pleading guilty to interfering with traffic devices. This charge was leveled because he picked up some traffic cones —not for driving across the wet-paint stripes.

The second adult formally charged, Clyde W. Tynes, 34, of Scenic Avenue, San Rafael, obtained a delay until Sept. 18 for setting date to enter a plea. He also is charged with interfering with traffic devices — again for allegedly picking up the cones.

Nobody has been charged with defacing public property.

Over a month ago, Rawles complained to the city council about lack of police cooperation with the street striping crew, which works nights. The council told Chiesa to take care of it.

City Manager Andersen said today the additional cost to the city of repainting the stripes after they have been defaced by the motoring vandals has not yet been computed. The $19,000 contract calls for the job to be done once. Doing it over comes extra.

Most of the painting has been completed. A and M Striping Co. hopes soon to be finished—if it can get any stripes down long enough for the paint to dry.

Edna Maguire School Bus Service Is Urged

Mill Valley School District trustees last night heard a request that bus service be provided Edna Maguire School students who live east of Elm Street and the county road.

Norman W. Dau of 84 Surrey Avenue, who made the request, stressed that it is dangerous for the children to walk to schoool since there are no sidewalks in the lowest East Blithedale Avenue-Camino Alto area.

Trustees said they have discussed the subject before with city councilmen and will continue to urge that sidewalks and stop lights be installed. Bus service is not provided students who live less than one and one-half miles from school.

The board agreed to dedicate a small, triangular piece of Hillside land for road purposes at Tamalpais Valley School. In return, Goheen enterprises has agreed to deed 4,000 square feet of flat ground to the district and to give about 20,000 cubic yards of fill to be placed on the marshy portion of the school site.

Novato Planners Approve Nine Single Family Zones

The Novato Planning Commission last night approved single family zoning for nine subdivisions previously unzoned.

The commission instituted on its own initiative the rezoning for Benton Manor, Hillside Units 1 and 2, Kristin Hill Acres, Novato Pines, Rancho Marin, Tropicana Estates, Trumbul Unit 3, and Villa Maria. Its recommendation will now go to the city council.

The commission granted lot split permits to Emil Renati at Simmons Lane and San Marin Drive, K. D. N. Corp. in Kaden Court, Jack Caristi at Railroad Avenue and Hancock Street.

It approved rezoning from single to multiple family for a lot at 1025 Second Street, requested by Dunya Chernenko.

Orville E. Peterson was granted a permit to keep two horses on 28,000 square feet of land at 719 Lamont Avenue.

$45 Stolen From Unlocked Safe

Theft of $45 from the unlocked safe of Togs and Toys store in the Town and Country Shopping Center, Bel Aire, was reported yesterday to Marin County sheriff's officers by Mrs. Esther A. Cammann, a clerk.

Mrs. Cammann told sheriff's deputies that a woman in gold stretch pants entered the store with three men about 1:45 p.m. and attracted her attention by shopping in the children's department while her companions apparently took the money from the safe's cash box.

She said she missed the money immediately after they left.

Lack Of Quorum

Regular meeting of the Kentfield Civic League board was canceled last night because of the lack of a quorum to conduct business, according to Allen G. Wright, president. Next meeting will be at 8 p.m. Oct. 12 at Gillis Realty, 818 College Avenue, Kentfield.

School Site Suggested For Library

The proposal that the City of Novato buy the former Grant School property from the State Division of Highways was revived last night.

Mrs. John Machado of 1424 Dawes Street suggested to the Novato Parks and Recreation Commission that the property, which has gone begging at three state auctions, be acquired as site for a city library.

The commission named Edmund Mahany, parks and recreation director, a one-man committee to look into the idea, and also to find out what the Novato Junior Chamber of Commerce has done toward its proposal for a library district. The Jaycees proposed such a district be formed to build a library in Harry Heifetz's Scottsdale development.

Novato carried on intermittent negotiations with the state to buy the Grant School property after it was declared surplus because of re-routing of the Highway 101 freeway. The negotiations fell through, however.

Mrs. Machado suggested they be renewed since the state has dropped the minimum price for the parcel of slightly over two acres, to $175,000.

Five Windows Broken At Optimist Ball Park

Five windows were broken and several bleacher scaffoldings were scattered about last night at the Mill Valley Optimist Club ball park on city-owned project 17. Police estimated damage at $100.

Vandals removed the bleachers, breaking one, and used them to climb on top of the locker rooms. They broke two skylight windows, about three by six feet, plus three smaller windows. The damage was done between 3 p.m. yesterday and 8 a.m. today.

Man Is Arrested For Grand Theft

Morgan, who said he is in the electronics business, was taken to county jail, where he posted $2,750 bail. He was booked en route to San Jose. Police Chief Dan Terzich said that Morgan had also been arrested Sunday in Mill Valley on a bad check charge.

Commercial Zoning For Store Denied

Commercial zoning at the southeast corner of Paradise and El Camino drives in Corte Madera to allow a grocery store was denied by the Corte Madera Planning Commission last night.

Many residents of the area appeared before the commission to express opposition to the plan presented by D. Hugh Gregory Coleman, according to Mrs. Betty Long, commission secretary.

Opposition was based on the availability of other property in the area which is zoned for commercial uses, and the danger to children of increased traffic which would be created by the store.

The commission also denied Mrs. Jeannie West a use permit for a 14-child nursery school at 529 Manzanita Avenue. Several neighbors opposed the plan on the basis of narrowness of the street adjacent to the school.

Use permit for a day care center for eight children at 10 Granada Drive, requested by Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Schneider, was approved. No protest to the application was presented, Mrs. Long said.

Public hearing on amendments to the town's ordinances on slope conservation was continued until 7:30 p.m. Oct. 7 at the town hall.

The commission directed the town's planning consultants, Livingston and Blayney, to include requirements for maximum one-acre lots for slope development, with maximum clearing for construction of 8,000 square feet, in the proposed amendments.

The consultants werer asked to include also a requirement for 22-foot wide streets in future hillside developments, with sidewalks where protection of the public safety demanded them.

Scheduled study of sign regulations and proposed revision of an ordinance regulating design review were postponed until the Oct. 7 meeting.

San Rafael Man Kills Rattler

A San Rafael man killed a 15-inch rattlesnake in his front yard yesterday.

Mrs. Alfred Olson of 2143 Fifth Avenue said she spotted the snake near her fireplace chimney, where she had earlier been pulling weeds.

Her son-in-law, Ned McFaddin of the same address, killed it with a shovel. It turned out to be a rattler with one rattle, she said.

Japanese Royal Wedding Slated

TOKYO (AP) — The royal wedding of Prince Yoshi and Hanake Tsugaru, 23, is officially scheduled for Sept. 30.

The deupty chamberlain of the imperial household notified the bride's parents of the date, set by Emperor Hirohito, today.

Firemen's Delegate

Aldo Paladini last night was chosen as delegate from the Novato Volunteer Firemen's Assn. to the California State Firemen's Assn. convention at San Luis Obispo, Sept. 27-Oct. 1. Paladini is president of the Novato volunteers.

PUP GETS TO SOLE OF MATTER

Mrs. Kathleen Pabst asked Mill Valley police yesterday to do something about her neighbor's dog's diet.

Mrs. Pabst, who lives at 167 West Blithedale Avenue, complained that a dog belonging to S. C. Putney of 153 West Blithedale enters her home and chews up her soles.

Top Students Being Studied

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The California state colleges system has begun a study to find the best way of screening out the top third of the state's high school graduates — the maximum eligible for admission to its 18 campuses next year.

The top 40 per cent was eligible last year.

Computers will be used to determine tightened entrance requirements. The analysis will continue for perhaps 10 years to establish a more detailed profile of potentially successful students.

SACRAMENTO (CNS — Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan today announced issuance of a notary public commission to Stephen H. Kaufmann, 1005 A Street, San Rafael.

Tomales High School Plans Due In Spring

Architect George Quesada last night told the Tomales High School District board that plans for rehabilitation of the high school buildings would be completed in time to call for bids next April or May, with the work to be done during the 1965 summer vacation.

Voters of the district last January approved a $175,000 bond issue to bring the buildings up to state earthquake proof standards.

Meeting Postponed

The Novato Sanitary District board did not meet as scheduled last night, but will meet Thursday night.

Kentfield School Job Bids Sought

Kentfiel School District trustees last night authorized Supt. Howard D. Harmon to advertise for bids, to be opened Oct. 8, on the third addition to Wolfe Grade School.

Plans for alignment of the Wolfe Grade Road extension, presented by Donald R. Frost, county director of public works, were deemed acceptable by the board, although trustees would prefer not to have the extension, Harmon said today.

Payroll deductions for district employees participating in the Marin County Credit Union were approved. Installation of locked doors on fire extinguisher cabinets at the Greenbrae School and call for bids on tables for the new building at Wolfe Grade School were authorized.

The board approved hiring Mrs. Frank as secretary-receptionist at A. E. Kent School, and Leonard Clark, William Nishimura, Richard Trimble and Dale Strong as half-time custodians.

The Gals Get On The Phone For Lyndon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In addition to telephone, telegraph and television the Democrats now have enlisted one of the oldest forms of communication in their election campaign — tell-a-woman.

Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson and Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey launched a nationwide telephone campaign yesterday to help their husbands win. They spoke over a simultaneous conference call, supposed to be directed to one woman in each state and the District of Columbia. The purpose was to promote the "tell-a-friend" campaign.

Separate calls were made to Hawaii, Alaska and Biloxi, Miss.

Mrs. Johnson told her listeners, "It's been a very busy, action-filled nine months (in the White House). He's doing his best and he wants to thank you all for all you are doing."

Mrs. Humphrey told the women she knew they could "work miracles" with a telephone. She said that by calling 10 friends, who in turn would call 10 more, it could be pyramided to 1,000.

The initial teaching alphabet was first introduced in the United States in 1963.

Young Mill Valley Man Headed For Iran And Peace Corps Work

A 22-year-old Mill Valley man will leave San Francisco Sept. 23 on his way to a two-year assignment with the Peace Corps in Iran.

He is Timothy R. Thomas of 933 East Blithedale Avenue, who was graduated from University of California in Berkeley this June with a bachelor's degree in phychology.

He recently completed 10 weeks of the corps' "basic training" at Utah State University in Logan, Utah.

The training, he said, was "not extremely hard," but demanded much of the 63 volunteers' time. They worked 14 hours a day, five days a week, plus a half-day Saturdays. Training emphasized class-room instruction and physical education, as well as five hours daily instruction in Farsi, Iran's national language.

As for the classroom work, it was impossible for the corps to give them anything which could apply too directly to their work, since no one knows exactly what each volunteer will be called upon to do until he or she gets there.

Thomas will be among a group whose specialty is termed "community development." This means he will be assigned to a village and will work with an employee of the Iranian government, doing "just about whatever is necessary in the village."

TIMOTHY R. THOMAS
With Peace Corps

"The Iranian term for our job translates into something like 'all-purpose worker'," he said. "We might be doing any number of things, but most likely will help build a school or organize a clinic.

"Our main goal will be to get people started; after that, they can go ahead on their own. The tradition of being in the same place over 6,000 years is somewhat overbearing.

"We will be in a position to show them they can change their lives for the better."

But if Iran's ancient history makes it hard for its people to change, it also played a big part in Thomas's decision to go there instead of, say, Africa or Latin America.

"I wanted to go to a country with an extensive history, and I also wanted to pick one which had a chance for economic development—where civilization is established and there is a chance for rapid improvement." he said.

With one other Bay Area volunteer and one from Hawaii, he will fly to New York, where the entire group of 63 will board another plane to Tehran by way of Frankfurt, Germany.

Legion Post Plans Annual Fete Sunday

Games will start at 1 p.m., and a chicken barbecue will be served at 4 p.m. Tickets are available from post commander William J. Wider of San Rafael.

Murphy Says Demos Troubled, On The Run

ANAHEIM (AP) — Republican senatorial candidate George Murphy says the Democrats are in trouble "and we have them on the run."

Democrats are having factional trouble on both national and state levels, he said yesterday, adding, "Watch the polls change."

Murphy told newsmen that public opinion polls showing President Lyndon B. Johnson ahead of Republican presidential candidate Barry Goldwater don't impress him.

"I think these polls are just a reflection of the opinion of the people talked to at a particular moment," he said.

Tape Player, Camera Reported Stolen

A Tiburon man told sheriff's deputies someone stole a stereo tape player, a camera and 21 tape recordings, valued at a total of $426, from his car Thursday night or early Friday.

James Koenig of 5 Circle Drive said the tape device designed for auto use, was worth $159. The camera, a Japanese make, was valued at $60 and the tapes were valued at $165.

The National Park Service, custodian of Ford's Theater in Washington, hopes to have the theater restored by April, 1966.

THE SENSIBLE SPECTACULARS

65's most sweeping changes_in size_in style_in power

We can tell you this about the new automobiles coming to market for 1965:

No other new cars will be more dramatically changed, or better attuned to the new motoring age, than the '65 Ramblers.

They are changed to meet today's changing tastes, changing traffic, changing turnpike demands, changing car uses.

To meet the challenge of these changes, we designed three different kinds of Ramblers, in three different sizes, on three different wheelbases, in three different price ranges.

We powered these Ramblers with seven spectacular engines, Sixes and V-8s, including Torque Command, world's most advanced engine. Boosts both power and economy.

We put new brawn and heft into these Ramblers, new space inside, yet kept the famed easy handling, parking, maneuverability.

We added new features to the long list of extra-value features you get at no extra cost—added new sportiness and action—added new glamor models, including dazzling new convertibles in Ambassador and Classic

These new 1965 Ramblers you will see next week are Ramblers through and through—the most sensible Ramblers we have ever built.

But they are also the most spectacular Ramblers in history—spectacular in looks, size, beauty, performance.

Thus, they named themselves. They are The Sensible Spectaculars. No other words describe them better, more honestly.

When you see the new Ramblers on Wednesday, September 23—sit in them, drive them—you will understand the honesty of the name—The Sensible Spectaculars.

We invite you to see the 1965 Ramblers yourself—at your Rambler dealer, next week.

Bagley Carries Fight To End Spoils System

Both Republicans and Democrats generally agree that it's a good idea to consolidate the administration of taxes under a single Revenue Agency.

But just how to go about doing it is another thing. Gov. Edmund G. Brown's proposal, made last month, to set up a single Revenue Agency has already run up against some stumbling blocks.

One of them is Assemblyman William T. Bagley of San Rafael, who has been trying to eliminate the system of political appointments of inheritance tax appraisers by the State Controller.

Under the Department of Revenue, proposed by the governor, a three-member tax commission would head the department. The commission would include the State Controller, the State Treasurer, and a representative of the Governor (probably Finance Director Hale Champion).

This three-man commission, not the State Controller, would then appoint inheritance tax appraisers. State Controller Alan Cranston has come out in favor of that proposal.

In fact, Bagley calls it "a facade if not a fraud to deceive the public into thinking he (the Governor) is proposing a reorganization."

Under the proposed new setup, the three-man commission would merely divide up the job of appointing the inheritance tax appraisers. "Instead of being a single-headed creature, it becomes hydra-headed," Bagley charges.

Bagley appears determined to get rid of the old "spoils system" whereby one man or a three-man commission can hand out inheritance tax appraiser jobs to party faithfuls or men who contributed most to their campaigns.

Bagley's contention is that putting inheritance tax appraisers under civil service or under county assessors' jurisdiction would mean a savings of some $3 million. And he has figures from the state legislative analyst to back up his contention.

It's a pretty safe bet that when the Commission on State Governmental Organization and Economy (Little Hoover Commission) meets again, Assemblyman Bagley is going to be right in there fighting for abolition of appointive inheritance tax appraisers.

The Governor's plan to consolidate tax collection under one agency is good in concept. Bagley agrees. But he's not about to swallow this idea of merely shifting the power of political appointment from one man to a three-man commission.

Looks as if the Governor's new proposal for consolidation is headed for rough sailing.

POOR EXCUSE IS NO EXCUSE

Some motorists think up incredible reasons for justifying accidents in which they have been involved.

Here are some of the more bizarre explanations that have been offered to insurance companies by nimble-witted drivers:

1. "A pedestrian hit me and went under my car."
2. "Coming home, I drove into the wrong house and collided with a tree I haven't got."
3. "I collided with a stationary bus coming the other way."
4. "I consider that neither of us was to blame but if either was to blame the other one."

It is only too natural for any of us to be quick on the trigger when it comes to throwing the blame on others.

Such an approach, when it is not downright foolish, can be inconsiderate and often unjust.

Think before you speak and act. By weighing your actions in the light of what the Lord expects of you, you will be more likely to benefit everybody.

"But I tell you, that of every idle word men speak, they shall give account on the day of judgment."—(Matthew 12:36)

Grant me the wisdom, O Holy Spirit, to be fair and objective in my judgments.

CAMPGROUNDS SQUEEZED OUT

Financial Policies Threaten New Facilities In State Parks

By EDWIN S. CAPPS

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown and his administration are expressing shock at the number of persons turned away from state park camping facilities over the Labor Day weekend, and all summer.

Yet the financial policies of Brown's administration threaten to block the development of any new facilities in the existing park system. Facilities generally are campgrounds and these are the features being squeezed out by the financial pinch with Brown's budget-balancers.

THE GOVERNOR commented, in discussing Proposition 1, the 150-million-dollar bond issue on the November election ballot for beach and park purchase and development, that too many people were turned away from parks this summer.

Before the day was over, Charles A. DeTurk, director of parks and recreation, released a story on turn-away statistics from state parks. DeTurk said 5,340 families were refused admittance because the beach and park facilities were full over Labor Day weekend.

"IN AUGUST, 86,630 families were turned away from camping in state parks," DeTurk said.

The statements of Brown and DeTurk apparently were designed to assure the people that a "yes" vote on the 150-million - dollar bond issue would improve capacities at state parks.

Under the language of the bond issue, none of that 150 million dollars may be used for development on present units of the state park system. The 25 million dollars reserved for development must be spent entirely on new lands acquired with bond funds.

UNDER THE PRESENT set-up, a total of about six million dollars a year is earmarked in the state budget for beach and park development. However, the 1961 Legislature approved a law calling for full development of recreational facilities at state water project reservoirs — development during construction of the project.

But the Legislature did not provide any funds for development around the reservoirs. Brown's department of finance has been raiding the regular beach and park development funds for the separate program of reservoir development.

In other words, there is no chance for an increase in capacities of present parks unless new financing plans are found, whether the bond issue is approved or not.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Bay Moratorium 'Passes The Buck'

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The "conservationists" may think that they have won a battle in Sausalito, but to the average person who looks at the Arques-type fill, or tries to walk along the waterfront between Sausalito Marine's yard and the Associated pier there is nothing to preserve—a lot of junk, rat-ridden shacks and useless mud. Where is Mr. Gilliam's "shining expanse of water"?

It seems to this observer that this moratorium only postpones the decision, "passes the buck", and may lose to Sausalito the opportunity to work out something mutually satisfactory with architect John Lord King whose integrity, unfailing good taste and love of Marin are well known.

In fact to all of us who are deeply concerned with the future development of our county the name John King has always been synonymous with conservation.

Children Deserve Better Schools

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Re: Bond Issue for the Larkspur-Corte Madera Schools.

Many of the parents of this day and age hold to a philosophy that their children should have things better than they themselves did. I do not agree with this entirely, but in the field of education it is true. The whole world will be much more different for our children than it was for us. We cannot back up in time. Numbers themselves will not permit this.

I am of the opinion that this community needs and can afford better schools and more classrooms. It is said that whoever controls the purse strings of any unit of society can also control most actions of that society. Many of us complain that we have given too much economic control to the government already, but let us also consider that we have given more economic control to the children of today than to the government. Juvenile purchasing power actually makes a profound effect on the whole social behavior of this country. Parents have made this possible. Children can turn beatles into gods and millionaires. Yet when parents are asked to give their children something that will have a lasting beneficial effect for not only the children, but the country as well; they often shrug it off and say taxes are too high anyway, or they are too apathetic to bother to vote.

Those who are not parents still have a grave responsibility as citizens to provide better education for the future citizens of the United States. If our educational institutions are ill equipped also.

"In a Republic, ignorance is a crime." The fact is that if we do not provide the children of this community with the best education we can afford, then it is we who shall have committed the crime.

MARC Appreciates Merchants' Help

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Marin Aid to Retarded Children wishes to take this opportunity to publicly thank the merchants and businessmen of San Rafael and Novato who have so generously supported the advance sale of tickets for a benefit circus on Sept. 21 and 22 in Novato.

Through a misunderstanding, Novato merchants were erroneously informed that the event would be sponsored by the Novato Horsemen, Inc. In actuality, the circus will be presented by this group, who have willingly offered the use of their rodeo grounds at Bugeia and H Lane, in Novato, for the event. In addition, their membership has cheerfully given a great deal of time and effort in assuring that the benefit will be successful.

The money raised from this circus will help MARC continue to provide needed services for all retarded in Marin County, from equipment for the new classrooms at the County Hospital to hot lunches for needy students in special education.

Take Pride In American Heritage

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Sept. 17-23 will be Constitution Week according to a proclamation signed by President Johnson in April. This time of recollection of our heritage and the magnificent document our forefathers created is indeed a privilege when we consider that nearly half the world has been told to forget its past and its tradition....

In the last few years many Americans have become increasingly concerned about the United States' loss of prestige throughout the world. It is with this thought that our group is making a special effort to emphasize Constitution Week and the pride we can have in this document and the heritage it stands for.

Some of our activities in this direction will be to ask local officials to announce the week, give a Constitution quiz in one of the grade schools, and to have at least two window displays—one in San Rafael and one in Petaluma.

After squiring her aggressively for months, he decided to propose matrimony, but cautiously hired a private eye to shadow her for a spell to make sure she wasn't two - timing him. A fortnight later, he received this report: "Miss So-and-So enjoys a spotless reputation, and until this year her behavior has been exemplary. In recent months, however, she has wandered sadly from the paths of virtue, and is now being seen constantly with a banker who is said to be the biggest crook on Wall Street."

Khrushchev Has Splitting Headache With Communists

WASHINGTON—Talk about alliances being in disarray, the Communist world is something to behold—and is getting more so.

It's not going right for Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

He is implacably determined to have a summit meeting of Communist parties in Moscow Dec. 15 to dump Red China before Red China dumps the Soviet Union.

BUT SO FAR only seven of the 26 Communist delegations Mr. K. summoned to Moscow have accepted. Even most of the Kremlin's nearest satellites in Eastern Europe are either opposed or reluctant. Albania openly sides with Peking. Poland and Rumania have been telling Khrushchev that his summit project is a grave mistake, that it will only make the split worse.

Why do these Eastern European Communist regimes, which owe their very existence to the Soviet army, argue against and even hold out against the Khrushchev conference? What's a little conference among friends?

There is a reason and it makes some sense. Though they don't admit it openly, the Eastern European satellites do not want the Chinese-Soviet split settled—either way. They are not pro-Chinese, but they don't want to see the split made final and they don't want it repaired. They want it to continue indefinitely just as it is so that Moscow will have to court their favor to some degree and so they can have the maximum leverage with the Soviets.

THIS MANEUVERING by the satellites is only part of Khrushchev's current difficulties. And not the greatest.

On top of them comes the Togliatti bombshell, literally a death-bed explosion. The leader of the Italian Communist Party — widely respected by Communists for his courage and independence — was resting at Yalta and gathering his ideas for his conference with Khrushchev over the projected summit. Unfortunately for the Soviets, he finished writing them down a few hours before he was fatally stricken.

More trouble for Mr. K.

NOT ONLY DO THE Italian Communists oppose the Khrushchev meeting to read the Chinese out of the movement, but even more disconcerting, they want to keep Khrushchev from consolidating his Soviet-controlled Communist International. Here is what the Italians are saying:

"We would be against any proposal to create once again a centralized international organization."

What the Italians want is independence among Communist states and equality between Communist parties. They pay lip service to "the unity of our movement," but what they really want is a kind of third Communist force unaligned with either Peking or Moscow and playing each for anything they can get.

This is the kind of national communism a la Tito which the Kremlin abhors. This is the kind of Communist diversity which undercuts Moscow's ability to use the Communist parties as an instrument of Soviet policy.

THE OUTLOOK FOR the Khrushchev summit is increasingly dim. If he has to call it off, he will lose face and prestige. If he goes through with it, the Communist world will be further divided.

It will be divided three ways. There will be Peking and its followers; there will be Moscow and its satellites; there will be nationalist Communist parties in Italy, Yugoslavia and elsewhere—a worldwide fractionalizing of the Communist movement.

The Togliatti memorandum hits Khrushchev at two other sore points. It blames him for covering up weaknesses in the Communist movement. It criticizes him for not ridding the Soviet Union more rapidly of Stalinist repressions.

The Khrushchev summit, if it is held, will be shot through with Communist disunity.

Tax Money Helps Kennedy Campaign

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The hotly contested New York Senate race could easily become the most costly campaign in congressional history for everyone involved—including the American taxpayers.

While neither GOP Sen. Kenneth Keating nor Robert Kennedy, his Democratic challenger, are talking in public about the high costs, their political strategists are privately saying that the total campaign spending could easily top five million dollars.

The latest campaign plans of Senator Keating call for spending nearly two million dollars, while the confidential estimate of the well-financed Kennedy staff runs to more than three million dollars.

AND THAT'S NOT all of the money being spent to turn out the vote in this crucial election.

While few taxpayers or members of Congress realize it, tens of thousands of dollars in federal funds are being pumped into Harlem in an unprecedented vote registration project, designed to register the more than 50 per cent of persons over 21 who have never voted.

Under the tight supervision of Haryou-Act, a semi-private organization handling millions in federal, state and private funds to fight poverty and juvenile delinquency, taxpayer funds are being used to set up neighborhood centers for voter registration drives.

THIS CONTROVERSIAL project, which already has produced some startling results in increased Democratic registrations in Harlem, is the brain-child of Kennedy and David Hackett, former executive director of the President's Committee on Juvenile Delinquency, which the former attorney general headed before he resigned.

Hackett, who skillfully sold the project to the Harlem organization, is now on Kennedy's New York campaign staff, master-minding the drive to register and get out the New York Negro vote for Bobby.

Before departing from Washington last week, Hackett told a caller that the Haryou-Act project was tailor-made to get out a heavy Negro vote for Kennedy in Harlem.

HE ALSO REVEALED that the Haryou-Act group, which is seeking 118 million dollars in state and federal funds for its three-year project, will soon receive a new million-dollar grant from the federal government.

The amount of this grant that will go into the registration drive is not known. However, there are estimates that nearly $50,000, and maybe more, already has gone into this project.

Senator Keating's campaign aides, who plan to raise some explosive questions about the Kennedy-Hackett project, are now seeking to determine whether the General Accounting Office has ever passed on the legality of spending funds to fight juvenile delinquency in this manner.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By JAMES K. WILLWERTH

Today's Progress Truly Based On What's Learned In School

It's the jet age.

Salk vaccine, space travel, silent submarines, and every imaginable type of progress make America a land of glittering affluence.

IT'S BEAUTIFUL . . . in fact, it's amazing. It is also tragic.

The tragedy is that all this progress serves only to highlight a certain ignorance inherent in people. One simple statistic in Marin County illustrates this fact.

Last year, Marin County voters turned thumbs down on six out of nine school bond elections. Yet to come are three more. Will residents enforce the two-thirds mortality rate again?

The problem is simple. The village idiot knows you can't build a better mousetrap without some mechanical knowledge. The world needs more food, more medicine, and more progress. We need doctors, research scientists, specialists and political leaders.

What we need to start is more education.

Just as you build a rocket from the ground up, education must sprout the same way. It begins in a classroom when a child is delighted to learn that Dick and Jane have a dog named Spot.

BUT WHEN YOU crowd 35 children in there, pay a teacher poor wages to instruct them, and combine two classrooms into one, the process loses something.

How do you build a better rocket if no one cares. And no one does care in the end, if not properly educated in the beginning. The key to progress is thus education.

Unfortunately, the key is padlocked by a certain ignorance, perhaps vindictiveness, of the average voter who refuses to let his school expand. He pays his federal, state, sales, inheritance, excise, and local taxes grudgingly with a grimace that resembles the Chinese coolie hauling bricks to the Great Wall.

Yet he pays them.

NEXT, HE HEARS that the school down the road is about to expand "once again"—this time asking $400,000 for the trouble. The last straw? Perhaps.

The voter equates government taxes with patriotism, order and a host of other things to make paying easier. But "when I was younger," he mutters, "schools weren't so dad-burned fancy." So why pay for more frills?

Such simple logic gives ulcers to school superintendents, who growl the words "second try" and "third time around" during sleepless nights.

Today, Ross Elementary District is making a "second try" — this time for $350,000. Last April, they tried $400,000, but missed. Instead, the district rented two portable classrooms to house the student overflow.

Larkspur School District also is trying today for $476,000 — the third time around. Larkspur-Corte Madera School now uses its shop and library for class space. Even if the bond is passed, admits principal Gilbert Slusher, construction will not be finished in time to avoid double sessions.

Fairfax School District, which has already entered double sessions for low grades at Deer Park and Manor schools, attempts a $500,000 bond Nov. 3. This is their second time this year.

WHY DO VOTERS turn down school needs? Bond issues are proposed by unpaid trustees who share the same tax burdens as everyone else. They seek no benefit for themselves, except perhaps an intangible one.

And that benefit is for all. It is the warmly pleasant feeling knowing that the next generation has the best facilities available to help itself. Through education, today's children will grow up equipped to benefit their community and loved ones.

Even in the jet age, it's a nice feeling.

Life Would Be Much Simpler For Men If Women Wore Badges

I don't mean a badge that says, "I am a woman."

What I mean is a badge that would tell what kind of a woman she was—so a man would know on sight just how to treat her.

IN THE WAR between the sexes, women, for all practical purposes, can be divided into three types. Most of man's bewilderment, confusion or absolute dismay in his contacts with a member of the opposing sex is caused by the fact he isn't sure just what type she is.

These are the three types of women:

1. The superwoman who thinks she is better than any man.

2. The shrewd conniver. She demands equal rights with men, but also expects all the special privileges historically accorded ladies.

3. The clinging vine woman. All she wants from a man is everything he has—plus whatever he can borrow at the bank.

IT WOULD MAKE for a more ordered world, I submit, if each of these feminine types would wear identifying badges—at least in public.

For the superwoman, I suggest a lapel pin showing a spiked heel crushing a worm. The worm, of course, symbolizes man.

When a fellow saw that badge he would realize instantly:

"Here is a gal who knows more about any topic in the world than I could ever possibly learn.

"Here is a gal who could pin me in a wrestling match, outride me on horseback, or beat me in a gun duel.

"No matter what she says, I will reply, 'Yes, ma'am.'"

FOR THE SECOND type, the shrewd conniver, a proper symbol might be a feminine Janus head, with its two faces looking in opposite directions.

When a fellow saw that badge, he would say to himself:

"She's the dependent independent type.

"She wants to compete with me for my job, which she thinks she can do better.

"But if we go out together for a business lunch, she will be too weak to pick up the check. She will also expect me to pay for the cab there and back.

"If it rains, she will expect me to hold my umbrella over her head while my head gets wet."

FOR THE THIRD feminine type, the clinging vine, an excellent symbol might be a startled fawn standing in a cradle.

When a fellow saw that badge, he would think:

"It would be fun to cuddle this little baby, but if I marry her I'll have to spoon-feed her, do the dishes, and spend the rest of my life wiping her tears away."

Yes, it would be a far, far better world for men if women wore identifying badges. But they never will. That's the trouble with the unfair sex. They never give fair warning.

American Eagle Statues Stolen

Two three-foot statues of the American eagle were stolen from a Kentfield woman's driveway Saturday, she told sheriff's officers.

Mrs. Edith Jimenez of 8 Cypress Avenue told deputies it was the second time one of the statues had been stolen. After its recovery the first time, both eagles were cemented to the posts.

She placed a value of $500 on the stolen statues.

Tiburon Still Split On Planning Sessions

Tiburon city councilmen again were split last night on whether they should attend city planning commission meetings.

Councilman Anne L. Ellyin-wood said she did not want the council to adjourn to tonight because she planned to attend a planning commission meeting at which planning firm representatives were to be interviewed. She urged other councilmen to attend.

Councilman Leo Souza answered that he believed the consensus of council opinion was that councilmen should stay away from planning commission meetings. Councilman John S. Hoffmire agreed.

Hoffmire and Miss Ellinwood were still arguing the point when the meeting adjourned, and continued their discussion for minutes later.

Four councilmen on Aug. 27 seemed in general agreement, but took no official action, that councilmen should stay away from planning commission meetings, since the planning commission is a distinct deliberative body and council comments at meetings seemingly rattled commissioners. Miss Ellinwood did not agree.

Board Accepts $6,000 For Rancho School Property

The Novato Unified School District Board last night accepted a $6,000 bid from the heirs of Edith Connell for a portion of the Rancho School property on South Novato Boulevard. It was the only bid received.

The Connells sold the school district land behind their house and south of Arroyo Vichi Creek to square out the Rancho School site and in turn bought the strip from the district. The district will pay Connells $29,000 for their property.

Paul Mobley, assistant superintendent in charge of instruction, reported the district had an increase of 578 in enrollment, or 12.4 per cent, over last year. Total enrollment in the district is 5,220.

Trustees authorized adding a first grade teacher at Olive School and a sixth grade teacher at Rancho School to take care of the overload in these two classes. There is one empty classroom in each school. It also authorized increasing kindergarten class size from 30 to 32 per class or 64 per day to take 41 kindergarten children who are on the waiting list.

The Novato School Board Also:

1. Dedicated 15 feet to Marin County for street widening on Sutro Avenue in front of Pleasant Valley School. This is the first school in the district which is outside the Novato city limits. Board president William Kirk suggested that in the future, the district annex the school site to the city.

2. Hired Robert E. Condon to teach electronics at the high school; Arthur Dennett as head custodian at the high school on a temporary basis; Bobbie Rhodes as Dennett's replacement, and Michael Doyle as custodian at Rancho School; Virginia Nelson as school secretary; Margaret Curtis as assistant cook, and Mae Haught and Audrey Cowen as noon recreation aides. The board also approved step increases for 32 teachers.

3. Authorized purchase of $2,000 worth of musical instruments for Novato High School.

4. Approved paying $5 per hour for adult and house instructors and $22 per day for temporary substitutes.

5. Approved "Human Physiology" by T. F. Morrison, "Modern Earth Science" by W. L. Ramsey, and "High School Journalism" by Harold Spears for high school texts.

McCarthy Will Open Quarters

State Sen. John F. McCarthy's campaign headquarters will open Saturday noon in San Rafael with a public reception, campaign chairman Raymond H. Shone announced today.

The headquarters of the Committee to Re-elect Senator McCarthy is located at 922 Irwin Street, San Rafael.

"Everyone is invited to the reception from noon to 3 p.m. at the headquarters," said Shone. "The headquarters opening will begin an intensive six weeks of campaigning."

McCarthy, Senate minority leader, won his Senate seat in 1950 and has served continuously since then. He will be opposed in Novembr by Democrat Vera Schultz of Mill Valley.

Girl Is In Coma After Car Crash

Pat Lewis, 21, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Ruane of 42 Azalia Avenue, Fairfax, is in a coma from injuries suffered in an automobile accident in San Mateo County Saturday morning.

She was a passenger in a car, which crashed with another on Alemany Boulevard in San Mateo County. Miss Lewis suffered severe head injuries and was taken to Peninsula Hospital in Burlingame.

Kay Pritchard, who attended Drake High School with Miss Lewis, was also in the car. The extent of her injuries was not known.

Mrs. Kennedy Goes Boating

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy, who moved to New York City to get the privacy she couldn't find in Washington, went boating in the middle of town and caused hardly a ripple.

Mrs. Kennedy handled the oars. John sat in the stern and shouted encouragement. Caroline spent the cruise bouncing from bow to midships.

World Peace Day

A former Marin artist, Thomas Burke of Daly City, will address members of the San Rafael Baha'i Assembly when the group observes World Peace Day at 8:30 p.m. Thursday at the Jewish Community Center, 1618 Mission Avenue, San Rafael.

Nuclear Sub Plan

THE HAGUE (UPI)—Holland's new budget, published today, includes funds earmarked for cooperation with the United States in the construction of at least two nuclear submarines. Details of the plan are secret.

Burglar Outruns Sausalito Officer

Kelly, en route to work on the graveyard shift, said he saw a man at the service station, noticed the window was broken and the man was reaching into it. Kelly said he "took off" after the young man, chasing him toward Caledonia Street, where the man disappeared. He called the police station and other officers responded and searched the area unsuccessfully. The window had been broken with a rock, police said.

Convicts Escape At Prison Camp

San Quentin Prison reported today that two convicts escaped from the Clear Creek Conservation Camp near the Oregon border last night.

Associate Warden Dale B. Frady said both men, wearing blue denim work clothes, left the road crew camp and disappeared into bush country, 75 miles from the nearest large community, Eureka.

The men are Veat D. Neal, 33, serving five years to life for first degree robbery and six months to 15 years for second degree burglary, and Wallace C. Hakes, 47, serving five years to life for second degree murder.

Trio Sentenced On Novato Theft

Three youths were placed on three years probation and fined $250 each yesterday in Marin Superior Court on their guilty pleas to the March 15 burglary of a Novato shoe store.

Novato School Board Names Coaches, Department Heads

The Novato Unified School District board last night approved assignments of coaches and department chairmen for the new school year, with salary increases from $100 to $360.

Named football coaches were: Niarlin Olsen, head varsity; Harry Moore, assistant varsity; Robert Aune, junior varsity; Albert Scott, assistant junior varsity, Fred Rodack, freshman, and John Panagakis, assistant freshman. Basketball coaches: John Panagakis, varsity; Randh English, B teams; Normile Hannon, freshman, and Marlin Olsen, junior varsity. Baseball: Harry Moore, varsity; Robert Aune, junior varsity, and Lee Hilton, freshman.

Other coaches named were: tennis, Jerry Moore; golf, Normile Hannon; wrestling and swimming, Ralph Cutler, and Girl's Athletic Assn., Jan Huninghaus, Diane Conlin and Virginia Bertolli.

Named department chairmen were: Jerry Barnacle, industrial arts; Robert Berger, mathematics; Ralph Cutler, physical education; Ray Denegri, foreign language; Alton Fountain, business; Ben Hicks, science; Rosemary Barker, social studies, and Don Carr, English.

Don Carr and Bernice Severance were named on drama productions, and John Yardes, band and chorus.

Vera Schultz Dinner Slated

Gov. Edmund G. Brown will come to Marin on Oct. 1 for a personal endorsement of Democratic senatorial candidate Vera Schultz of Mill Valley.

The governor will speak at a dinner sponsored by the Vera Schultz for State Senator Committee at Dominic's Restaurant in San Rafael.

Dinner chairman is Mrs. Jules Becker. Tickets and reservations are available at Vera Schultz headquarters, Keystone Building, Mill Valley; at Democratic Headquarters, Second and Brooks streets, San Rafael, and from campaign executive committee members, Peter Allen Smith, Philip Ehrlich, Hadden Roth, and Mrs. George Culler.

Sea Water May Be Used To Fight Fire In Bolinas

Sea water may be used to fight fires in the Wharf Road area of Bolinas.

Bolinas Fire Protection District commissioners last night named Fire Chief Elias Rempelos as head of a committee to investigate installation of a hydrant to draw sea water for fire fighting.

There are fresh water hydrants in the area but the sea hydrant would be larger and would be an extra water source, said James Dougan, commission chairman.

Commissioners authorized obtaining the district's first radio to be placed on a fire truck. It is to be leased from the County of Marin for about $150 a year. The district has one fire radio, tied in with county communications, at the home of Sherman Smith, county fire warden.

Young Bicyclist Hurt In Accident

A young bicyclist, who admitted not heeding a stop sign before turning onto the eastern frontage road of Highway 101 from Ricardo Road in Strawberry, was treated for multiple bruises yesterday at Marin General Hospital after his bike was hit in the rear by a car.

The boy, Michael Stanford Bergstrom, 13, of 242 Reed Boulevard, Mill Valley, told California highway patrolmen that he did not see the car, driven by Lawrence Lee Young, 34, of 99 Janet Way, Tiburon, before he bicycled onto the frontage road.

2 Planners Named In Swift Action

A man and a woman were appointed to the Fairfax Planning Commission last night in action so swift that one city councilman questioned whether other prospective appointees had been given a fair chance.

Mayor Cornelis Van Vliet introduced the names of Fred Conkie of 88 Wood Lane and Mrs. Harold H. Taft of 104 Crest Road at the outset of last night's meeting.

His nominations were quickly seconded by Councilman George A. Pagni, and City Clerk Alice Leonesio had begun the roll call vote before Councilman Robert R. Sousa could inject his comments.

"Wait a minute!" he said. "Were any other applications submitted? I know some interested citizens, and I wonder if we couldn't wait for another meeting before we fill these vacancies."

"They have been vacant for several weeks now, and I want to fill them up," replied Van Vliet.

"Well, if this is what the council wants, it is all right with me," said Sousa, "But I just wanted to make the point that I thought we should have given consideration to a wider group of interested persons."

"These people are interested, believe me," said Van Vliet.

Commenting that "I respect your judgment, but I just wanted to make my point," Sousa concurred in the unanimous vote which followed.

Mrs. Taft will take the seat vacated by resigning commissioner Jimps Wilcox, while Conkle will fill a newly created position.

Britain Has New Daily Newspaper

LONDON (AP) — The Sun, billing itself as Britain's first popular new daily in 34 years, hit the newsstands today with 3.5 million copies aimed at the nation's affluent postwar generation.

Housing Act, Pay Television Pros, Cons Aired In Marin

About 40 citizens heard arguments for and against Propositions 14 (housing amendment) and 15 (anti-pay television) last night at Gate Theater in Sausalito.

The discussion was sponsored by the Sausalito Democratic Club. James E. Pockrus, Democratic candidate for the Seventh Assembly District (Marin-Sonoma), was moderator.

George Edsel, a real estate broker from Pacifica, spoke in favor of Proposition 14, the amendment which would outlaw the Rumford Act and other "fair housing" legislation.

John Barth, a public relations man for Citizens Committee for Free TV, defended Proposition 15, which would outlaw pay television, opposed Proposition 15.

Tamalpais High Vote Committee Is Named

Stuck Horn Foils Car Clout Try

Margorie D. Bain of 310 Laurel Place, San Rafael, heard her car horn sound and went to investigate. The horn ring had been pried off with a wrench, which lay in the seat.

The would-be thief, however, had left.

Seminary Student

Rev. Joseph Meagor Jr. of San Anselmo was among 120 new students enrolled this weekend at Andover Newton Theological School, Newton Center, Mass. He is a son of Joseph C. Meagor of 5 Laurel Avenue and Mrs. Elsie N. Meagor of 185 Morningside Drive, both San Anselmo.

POLITICAL BRIEFS

Proposition 14 Will Be Debated Sept. 28

A pro and con debate on Proposition 14, the housing amendment, will be held at Lucas Valley Community Center on Sept. 28.

The discussion, sponsored by the Upper Lucas Valley Homeowners Assn., is set for 8 p.m.

Arlene Lind, publicity chairman for the association, said speakers will be announced later.

VICTORY SAIL

"Sailing to Victory" will be the theme of the Marin Republican Ball, which will be held on Oct. 2 at Corinthian Yacht Club in Tiburon.

Rodgers C. Broomhead, chairman of the event for the sponsoring Marin Republican Council, announced this will be the GOP's top fund-raising event in Marin. Refreshments will be served at 7 p.m., with a buffet dinner at 8:30. The Bob Olney group will furnish music for dancing.

Tickets are $20 per couple, and sponsor tickets are $50 per couple.

SCHULTZ TALK

Vera Schultz of Mill Valley, Democratic candidate for State Senate, will address the American Assn. of University Women at the home of Mrs. Marjorie Mowat in Novato Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Schultz will speak on "Saving San Francisco Bay."

McCABE ON 14

"Unlike by Republican opponent, I am willing and anxious to take a stand on one of the most crucial issues of this century," McCabe declared Saturday at the opening of Democratic Headquarters in Novato.

McCabe said he opposed "the anti-Rumford, unfair housing initiative" because it would repeal all legislation dealing with fairness in housing."

Fairfax Council Skips Budget Adoption

If any of the 15 or 20 persons who attended last night's session of the Fairfax City Council went to see councilmen adopt a 1964-65 budget, they were disappointed.

After getting embroiled in long discussions over several other matters, the council skipped over "adpotion budget," the 30th item on the 33-item agenda, and quietly agreed to discuss the proposed $313,000 budget at an adjourned meeting next Monday.

The session, scheduled for 8 p.m., will follow at a 7 p.m. joint meeting with the city planning commission to discuss a proposed ordinance setting up planned unit development procedures.

Councilmen asked City Atty. Wallace S. Myers to check into reports that several properties in town have been subdivided in violation of city or state regulations.

Building Inspector Rolfe M. Ockenden submitted a list of six apparently illegal subdivisions. In one case, the land had started as a single lot, but now has nine lots, even though the owner has never sought city sanction for any division.

State law provides that no more than four lots can be created without official sanction. A Fairfax city ordinance states that an owner must receive permission for any lot split.

By 3-2 vote, later changed to 4-1, the council turned down a request by Glenn Evers of 1780 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard for a permit to build a home on Holly Road near Scenic Road.

The vote change, with Councilman Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. switching from "no" to "yes" came after councilmen agreed to add the words "unless plans are submitted to meet with the approval of the fire chief." Councilman George A. Pagni mulled it over, then let his "no" vote stand.

Fire Chief Charles M. Thornton said the man should pay for installing a six-inch water main and fire hydrant if he planned to face the house toward Holly, but that he would be protected if he changed his plan to face it on Scenic.

Evers, however, contended such a change "would make no sense" and said he would look for a new building site.

The Fairfax City Council Also:

1. Authorized Public Works Director Richard Nelson to spend up to $180 to place seal coat and striping on the privately owned parking lot next to the Fairfax Fine Arts Theater, which the owners have allowed commuters to use under an unwritten agreement. Councilmen considered, but rejected, the thought that the agreement should be put in writing.

2. Decided to ask the planning commission for a progress report on previously discussed plans for setting up an architectural review procedure. This was prompted by receipt of a resolution from the Fairfax Merchants Assn. urging creation of a review commission.

3. Agreed it had no objections to putting metal plates on the city's new litter containers giving the merchants credit for their purchase, if the merchants would have such plates made.

4. Adopted the city's winter recreation schedule, submitted by recreation director Nyal D. Worsham, including "family nights" on Wednesday and a tentative plan for weekly judo lessons, which Worsham and attorney Myers assured the council could be undertaken with no city liability in case of accidental injury.

Red Cross To Hold Dinner Meeting

The Marin County Red Cross will hold its 52nd annual dinner meeting and recognition ceremony at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 23 in the Peacock Gap Country Club, San Rafael.

The main speaker at the meeting will be the director of public relations of the Carnation Company of Los Angeles, Wallace Jamie. Master of ceremonies will be William H. Johnson, a member of the board of governors of the American Red Cross.

Signup Dates Set By San Rafael Chorale

Enrollment for the Winifred Baker Chorale will be held in Angelico Hall of Dominican College, San Rafael, at 7 p.m. Wednesday and Sept. 23 and 30.

The group, open to both men and women, rehearses each Wednesday evening and presents two major concerts each season.

Sausalito Council To Discuss Water Need

A report on the condition of the privately owned water system on Wolfback Ridge will be made to the Sausalito City Council by City Mgr. Charles A. Brown at the council meeting at 8 p.m. today.

Greyhound Bus Line's request for a 20 per cent boost in commuter rates will be reported by a council subcommittee.

CHINESE PORK AND BEANS
1 medium-size Jolly pork shoulder
2 tbsp. flour
2 tbsp. shortening
1 large onion
1 clove garlic
1 fresh tomato
1½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
½ tsp. rosemary
1 lb. fresh green beans
Cut pork shoulder in cubes and coat surfaces with flour. Brown cubes on all sides in melted shortening. Cut onion in thin slices, chop garlic fine and add to pork along with tomato, salt, pepper and rosemary. Bring to a boil, reduce heat, cover and cook slowly for about 45 minutes. Stir occasionally. Add a little water if necessary to prevent sticking. Meanwhile, clean green beans and cut in thin diagonal strips. Add to pork mixture and cook 25 minutes longer. Serves 6. Serve with fluffy rice and pass the soy sauce.

GINGER COOKIES
Cream ¾ cup butter or margarine with 1 cup granulated sugar 'til light. Add 1 egg and 2 tbsp. molasses; beat well. Sift 2 cups flour with 1 tsp. each ginger, cinnamon, and salt, ½ tsp. cloves and 1½ tsp. soda. Blend thoroughly. Shape dough into balls about an inch in diameter. Dip top sides in granulated sugar and place on lightly-greased cook sheet. Bake 350° 12 minutes or until lightly browned. Makes 3 dozen cookies.

Avoid Gambling For Small Gains When Playing Game

"The expert gambles if he stands to profit greatly; he refuses to gamble if he stands to gain little," writes Albert Morehead in his best-selling book, "Morehead on Bidding."

Opening lead — ♠ 4

The casual player might bid three hearts with the South hand, reasoning that North might hold a king and two or three small hearts despite his failure to respond to the opening bid.

THREE HEARTS

If so, South may make three hearts.

The trouble is that South may just as easily go down 500 or 800 points. "The expert will not risk 500 points to make a part score or to prevent his opponents' making a part score," Morehead points out. "But somehow the casual player finds a suit such as South's irresistible."

FIRST TRICK

East won the first trick with the ace of spades and returned with the deuce of diamonds. Three rounds of that suit allowed West to ruff, and West shifted to a club, taken by South's ace.

Declarer desperately took the ace of hearts and continued with the ten, but there was no escape. West stepped up with the king of hearts and led a club to the king.

East returned another diamond, and West got another ruff.

DOWN THREE

South was down three, for a loss of 800 points, and his 100 honors were small consolation. It was even less consolation to learn that the opponents would have stopped at a part score and that they would have gone down if they had bid game.

South gave up 700 points to stop a part score.

"South's three-heart bid gave his opponents a fielder's choice," Morehead sums up.

"If they wished to go on to three or more spades, South's bid could not stop them. If they found it more profitable to double, they could double — as they did."

Answer: Pass.

You cannot afford to bid diamonds or clubs, and you dare not double for a takeout for fear that partner will respond in hearts. Your best course is to await developments.

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, Sept. 15, the 259th day of 1964 with 107 to follow.

The moon is approaching its full phase. The morning stars are Venus, Jupiter and Mars. The evening star is Saturn.

William Howard Taft, 26th president of the United States, was born on this day in 1857.

On this day in history:

In 1789, the U.S. Department of State came into being.

In 1935, the Nazi Third Reich started a program of violent religious persecution against the Jews and established the swastika as the national flag.

In 1963, a bomb was thrown at a Negro church in Birmingham, Ala., killing four Negro girls and setting off racial rioting. Two Negro boys were shot to death on the same day.

A thought for the day—English statesman Benjamin Disraeli once said: "What we anticipate seldom occurs; what we least expected generally happens."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

We do get around! Here's the INDEPENDENT-JOURNAL in the charming company of Copenhagen's famous LITTLE MERMAID . . . at the harbor. Now do you believe in mermaids?

HELP WANTED
LIVE MERMAID
for home pool

Classified's good, but not that good!

You can find just about anything in the Independent-Journal Classified. But Mermaids? Sorry . . . haven't run across one yet.

You CAN find a 1955 Chev or Ford, a Dachshund pup, a bargain in dryers, or a new house. You CAN find a world of values in this wonderful, sparkling sea of Classified ads. But sorry, no Mermaids.

You can get a job, or offer one . . . find a lawnmower or sell one . . . swap a sewing machine for a washer, maybe. But darn it, no Mermaids.

In fact, everyone who KNOWS uses Independent-Journal Classified . . . the busiest marketplace in this part of the world. They swear by these powerful little ads with the tremendous reach and pulling power. And they also KNOW that it costs so little if you're selling, and saves so much if you're buying.

Maybe SOMEDAY a little Mermaid will come swimming by—but you wouldn't want to catch HER . . . not a little Mermaid! Catch a live bargain instead—in Independent-Journal Classified.

YOU ARE THE REASON
I-J CLASSIFIED
BRINGS SUCH RESULTS

You and you and you—all our readers. Because EVERYONE reads I-J Classified . . . where buyers and sellers meet and where everyone gets a bargain.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

San Rafael Shop Gets Publicity From Pretty Far-Flung Places

Coincidence turns up in the strangest places.

The Robert Bohannas (of Marin Neon) were traveling down Baja California way. Stopping off at the historic Las Rositas Beach Hotel south of Ensenada, they made a small purchase in the hotel's gift shop. The merchandise was nicely packaged for them in a new paper bag.

But it wasn't until later that they noticed the advertising and logo printed on it: The Marcus Shop, San Rafael.

Charles Marcus denies that this store has a finger in any such Mexican pie. "The bag company must have made a mistake or run off too many. They had to get rid of them somewhere," is his explanation.

Or it could be that the Marcuses have a good foreign publicity agent. It seems that one of their friends traveling in Switzerland ran into another coincidence. In a little Swiss town he came across another Marcus Shop. And it was almost an exact replica of the San Rafael store. He sent home a photograph to prove it.

A FREE COURSE in the buying and selling of stocks has been scheduled for Novato, starting Tuesday, Sept. 29. It will meet for six Tuesdays from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the Marion School, Building 5, Room 16.

Instructor will be Donald F. White of Sausalito, a registered representative with Harris, Upham and Co. of San Francisco. White said the entire program will be devoted to exploring methods and techniques of selection and timing for both the general market and individual securities.

JOHN H. HOEFER of Belvedere has been appointed moderator of the Panel of Presidents for the annual western region meeting of the American Assn. of Advertising Agencies Oct. 29 in Beverly Hills. He is president of Hoefer, Dieterich and Brown, Inc., San Francisco advertising agency.

RONALD F. FEIN of San Rafael has joined the staff of John J. Hourihan and Robert C. McGowan at Marin Mortgage Co. as loan accountant. He was formerly a partner of the A. R. Roumiguiere Mortgage Loan office.

ROBERT E. BURKE of San Rafael has been appointed manager of Woodson Mortgage Co., San Rafael. Prior to his last five years in the real estate field he was an insurance broker for six years in Novato.

JACK K. SMITH of Mill Valley has been promoted to assistant vice president of San Francisco Federal Savings and Loan Assn. He has been with the company for the last 10 years. Earlier he was with the U. S. Revenue Service and the Bank of America. He is a former governor of the American Savings and Loan Institute.

IF YOU'VE NOTICED the ads lately, the period from Sept. 1 to Oct. 15 is "National Frozen Food Buying Time." A promotion campaign in newspapers, food supplements and over radio and TV is under way to encourage the housewife to check over the frozen food shelves every time she visits the market.

Marin Products Co., Inc., of Ignacio and other major frozen food distributors are working with retailers to emphasize the magnitude of the frozen food industry.

So far this year, the industry has offered nearly 250 new items—including such things as frozen avocados, tomato slices, fried clams, sea squab and deviled crab in the shell. They bring to a total of 2,800 the frozen foods now available to the housewife.

FOR THE NEXT two weeks it's vacation time for this writer—and I'll be away attending to my own business instead of "Other People's Business." Back again by the end of the month.

Mozambique has not yet felt the unrest sweeping so much of Africa.

RAMBLER'S CONVERTIBLE THREESOME FOR 1965

For the first time in American Motors' history, model changes include convertibles in all three Rambler series. The 1965 Ambassador (lower left) features dual vertical headlights and tail lights. Intermediate Classic (right) has dual horizontal headlights and wrap-around tail lights. Economy American has large single headlights. These and other models will go on sale Sept. 23 at Larry Brink Motors, Mill Valley and Dexter Rambler, San Rafael.

Boating Display

Kimball-Schmidt, Inc., of San Rafael will display its line of boating products at the 1964 Marine Trades Exhibit and Conference in Chicago from Thursday through Sunday. Kimball-Schmidt will be among some 425 boating firms to be exhibiting in the show.

Gets Service Pin

George L. Sirard, a native of San Rafael, has received a service pin with four diamonds in recognition of his 40 years with the Shell Oil Co. Sirard is district sales representative in Shell's Sacramento district.

Cassius, Sonny Sign, Suspended; 'So What?'

BOSTON (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay, pardon, Muhammad Ali, was strangely subdued. Challenger Sonny Liston actually smiled. Gov. Endicott Peabody announced they'd meet in a Nov. 16 title fight at Boston Garden — to the surprise of no one.

The World Boxing Assn. quickly replied that everyone in the room was quarantined, as it were, by a sweeping suspension. Clay's title was lifted.

Clay, deep in thoughts of the Black Muslims and a 30 per cent slice of a predicted $5 million purse, looked as concerned as an elephant bitten by a gnat.

"Who are the WBA, they oughta be investigated," Liston said in scorn.

The WBA had threatened in advance to refuse to recognize a rematch.

The Massachusetts Boxing Commission, which has bounced in and out of that fistic forum faster than a man on a trampoline, as has Michigan, said it felt the safeguards it had undertaken would satisfy the WBA.

"This isn't really a return bout," said commissioner Ed Urbec. "We've arranged a fight between the champion and the top contender.

"We shouldn't have been allowed to vote in the last WBA meeting anyway. We didn't pay our dues last year or this year because of our financial condition.

"I can't visualize the public not accepting Clay as the champion. Titles are won or lost in the ring. This is the fight the public wants."

'GREAT FIGHT'

Gov. Peabody wasn't too concerned, either. "I look forward to a great fight," said the chief executive who did not win his party's renomination in the state primary.

The State Commission, in its statement, outlined stipulations for the 15-round bout. Chief among them is that the winner must post a $50,000 cash guarantee he'll meet one of the top four rated contenders as listed by the WBA within six months after the fight.

The commission expressed the opinion it had set up safeguards "against all the evils which have bedevilled the heavyweight division in recent years."

"We will," intoned commission chairman Herman Greenberg, "be avoiding the confusion which would attend the stripping of a title from a champion and institution of a tournament which could lead only to confusion."

The next step the WBA is expected to take, having now declared "no recognition" of the fight and "no champion" is to set up a tournament to settle the title.

Merv McKenzie, newly elected president of the World Boxing Assn., said from Toronto the mass suspensions became automatic when the fight was signed.

"Nothing can override the WBA resolution (denouncing a rematch)," said McKenzie.

Liston suggested the body stick to its resolutions and he'd stick to Clay's body long enough for a knockout and recapture of the crown recognized here and there — but certainly not everywhere.

Bostonians seemed calm in the face of a ban issued by outsiders but then it's old hat here. Parliament and the crown tried that jazz in the 1960s.

At any rate, the fight is on at the Garden where 13,909 is the legal capacity and where tickets will be scaled from $50 to $10. Sam Silverman, partial promoter along with Intercontinen-

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

By JIM GILMARTIN

It's Going To Be A Long, Cold Grid Season, So Be Prepared

It's going to be a long, cold football season, folks, so haul out your longies, top coats, parkas, ear muffs, etc., early this year.

Usually, we Marvelous Marin football buffs don't need the cold weather gear until middle or late October. But fans at the Pop Warner Football Festival in Kentfield Saturday night were given a warning that winter's in a hurry this year. A cold wind swept through the grandstands that turned noses red and fingers blue. I saluted three times before I learned those flags were people. When they returned the salute I realized I, too, was colorfully cold.

BILL MC DEVITT

So take this worning: When it's that cold in Marin on Sept. 12, there'll be frost on the pumpkins early this year. Yea, t-t-t-t-eam.

JACK B. CRAWFORD, vice-president of the Marin Boys Club, felt poetic in submitting the following report to the I-J: "Hysterics, hustle and hoodwinks highlighted the 11th annual Pop Warner Football Festival last Saturday evening as the Marin Boys Club launched its 1964 season at College of Marin before a record crowd of provocative and perennial parents and patriarchs of pigskin performance."

Jack, ol' boy, you said a mouthful.

I STOPPED by the Marin Semi-Pro Baseball League's barbecue dinner-dance at San Anselmo's Star Hall Saturday night. Big success with more than 350 dinners served: Pete "Little Flower" Maggi proved champion spaghetti vendor while there was a tie for best appetite of the night between Frank "Ninny" Quinn, Al Tognoli, Babe DeMaestri, Ed Hutchison (the builder), and Joe Anselmo.

Anselmo and Hutchison were talking about their big bash coming up Sept. 26 when the Billings-Hutchison Builders celebrate their league championship while at a nearby table Manager Bob Selna of the Mill Valley Merchants said his team will celebrate its best season in years at a dinner-dance at the Mill Valley Golf Club, also on Sept. 26.

WILL THE committee working on Sunday's Marin Invitational Tournament of Stars golf shindig please stand up and take a bow? The group that has done a remarkable organizational job lining up the Hollywood stars and top-flight amateurs and countless other details is headed by contractor Bill McDevitt who has spent six months on the project. Others on the committee are Ed Vest, (tourney chairman), Doug Cowan (ticket sales), Art Dettner Jr. (advertising), Herbert A. Crocker (finances), Fred F. Enemark (golf club relations), Mozart Kaufman (awards), Alfred Marty (printing and program design), San Rafael Elks Club (program sales), J. William and Margaret Zimmerman (host and hospitality committee), Nelson Cullenward (sponsort pages).

Meanwhile, run, do not walk to your nearest golf pro shop and buy a gallery ticket to the golfing fun-fest. The price is right ($2) and the crippled and retarded children who will benefit can use the help.

Drake Big, Fast, Tough—L-O-A-D-E-D

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Drake is loaded.

That simple sentence has been floating around Marin Athletic League football circles these days, and it's easy to see why.

The Drake Pirates, a predominantly junior team last year that shared championship honors with San Rafael High School, has 18 members of that team back this season. But this year they are bigger and faster than in 1963.

Many of the returnees played first string last year. They must have done a lot of eating because they are really beefed up now. Head coach Bob Franceschini, an extremely happy man these days, says the middle of his offensive line has picked up about 40 pounds per man.

Reports from those who have watched the Pirates scrimmage all add up to one thing: "Wow!" Every varsity coach in the Marin Athletic League picks Drake as the team to beat this year, and with good reason.

Leading the Drake running attack will be fullback Joe DeMasi and halfback Dean Lazzarini, both starters on the '63 team. DeMasi, used for power plays up the middle, weighed 200 pounds last year. He now weighs 218 pounds "and seems to be faster," says Franceschini.

Lazzarini, a dazzling runner as a sophomore, picked up five pounds and two-tenths of a second that he'll use as a junior this season. The 165-pounder ran the 100-yard dash in 10.1 as a sophomore, but equalled the MAL record last track season with a 9.9 clocking.

Al Simontacchi started for Drake in the latter part of the 1963 season at the quarterback spot. He'll lead the Drake passing attack this year, and like all youngsters, has grown. He's now 6 foot 1½ inches tall and weighs 195 pounds. "His height makes him faster at picking out the receivers this year," says Franceschini. "Our passing attack should be much improved."

The only backfield position that was a question mark for Drake this year was at the flankerback spot. The two flankers from last year, Mike Crabtree and Dave Cericola, both were graduated. Trying for that open spot were senior Tom Manahan (175), a letterman, and juniors John Boothby (170) and Greg McCarty (168), two boys up from junior varsity.

After a full-scale scrimmage Saturday, Franceschini picked Boothby, crediting him with a fine job. Drake came out of that scrimmage without any injuries.

The Pirates' head coach said DeMasi showed power and Lazz displayed improved form in his running. "The entire team showed its experience in the scrimmage," Franceschini commented.

SPLIT END

Larry Stein, No. 4 pass receiver in the league last year, will be the split end for Drake, switching to both the left and right sides. He picked up 20

Marichal, Giants Oppose The Mets

The San Francisco Giants, just about stripped of any chance for the National League pennant, face the New York Mets tonight with Juan Marichal on the mound.

The Mets are Marichal's favorite team. He hasn't dropped a game to them yet. Such a victory would have to be classed as dubious for the locals, nevertheless.

The Giants must all but sweep their remaining 17 games to give them even a healthy sniff of the coveted flag. And the league - leading Phillies aren't going to ease off at this stage.

The cellar - dwelling Mets, which haven't been much competition in the league, quixotically have been quite a nuisance to the more talented Giants. The Mets have collected six victories over San Francisco, and three times have taken them into extra innings.

In his team's final appearance at Candlestick Park, the ancient Casey Stengel will pitch former Big Ten fullback Galen Cisco, 5-16. Three times he has lost in extra innings to the Giants—All to Jimmy Davenport.

Giants Manager Al Dark, who does have his troubles, repeated his announcement of last week on hurlers:

"It'll be Marichal, Perry and Estelle in that order throughout the remaining games, barring injuries or illness."

Dark hasn't hung up his knickers, either, in his hopes for the pennant.

Modernized Meadows Opens Long Season

SAN MATEO (AP)—Modernized at a cost of $425,000, the Bay Meadows race track opens a thoroughbred meeting tomorrow which will extend through 83 racing days.

Innovations include an electric timer closed circuit television to various parts of the plant, and a sauna bath for jockeys.

The first 34 days of racing will be the Tanforan meeting over the Bay Meadows track. Then the Bay Meadows portion takes over to make the 83 days.

Lou Elkin, racing secretary for the Tanforan portion of the meeting and holder of the same post at Golden Gate Fields, says Northern California racing now has continuity.

While Tanforan operated at the Tanforan track, now sold for a real estate development, the three Northern tracks had rotating dates. Now there will be set times each year, the same as in Southern California.

Elkin explained that with the long meeting at one track, it has been possible to attract a better class of horses for this meeting.

"In succeeding years with the dates coming at the same time each year, we'll gain more stability and hence better horses," the official said.

Bow Champ

He won the title and the perpetual trophy with a gross score of 506 for 42 targets.

St. Clair Admits It Looks Like Career Is Finished

An unusual injury that sidelined San Francisco 49ers' lineman Bob St. Clair Sunday may well put an end to his 12-year career in the National Football League.

"It's probable I'll quit," St. Clair said yesterday. "Things happened so fast I'm mixed up. I expected to quit this year but I didn't think I'd go out without firing a gun."

The 6 - foot, 9 - inch offensive tackle pulled fibers loose from the Achilles tendon on his right heel while running to catch a punt in the pre-game drill before Sunday's San Francisco-Detroit season-opening game.

St. Clair, 33, will undergo surgery within the next few days.

The 265-pounder was a member of the undefeated University of San Francisco team in 1951, an All Pro selection three times and selected five times to play in the Pro Bowl. Last year he was voted the Len Eshmont Award as the 49ers' most inspirational player.

St. Clair owns a chain of liquor stores. He is a former councilman and mayor of the San Francisco suburb of Daly City.

Walt Rock, a second - year man from Maryland, has been working at St. Clair's spot in the line and is expected to start Sunday against the Eagles in Philadelphia.

Davis Cup Lineups Listed

NEW YORK (AP) — Chuck McKinley, Dennis Ralston, Arthur Ashe and Martin Riessen were chosen today by the Davis Cup committee as the defending United States tennis team in the Challenge Round against Australia at Cleveland this weekend.

At the same time, Harry Hopman, the veteran non-playing captain of the challenging Australian team, said his team would be composed by Roy Emerson, Fred Stolle, John Newcombe and Tony Roche.

The matches will be played Friday, Saturday and Sunday on the composition courts of the newly built Harry T. Clark Stadium in Cleveland Heights. The draw will be made Thursday. It is the first time that cup matches in the United States will be played on a surface other than grass.

Ashe is the first Negro ever to be named to a U.S. Davis Cup team for the challenge round.

The U.S. won the cup from Australia last December with McKinley and Ralston playing in all five matches. The defenders are underdogs in the coming competition following play in last week's National Tennis Championships at Forest Hills, where Emerson won the men's singles title by beating Stolle in the final.

Warriors Keep Five, Drop Five

SAN JOSE (AP)—Bud Koper, long shooting guard from Oklahoma City and the San Francisco Warriers' No. 2 draft choice, is one of five rookies to survive a roster cut.

The Warriors let five other first-year men go yesterday including Gene Elmore of Southern Methodist, the club's fourth draft choice.

Coach Alex Hannum had high praise for Koper's shooting skill and hinted that rookie Forward McCoy McLemore of Drake "might move somebody back." McLemore was the team's No. 3 choice.

Others dropped in yesterday's cut were four who signed as free agents: Sammy Key of Western Michigan, Leonard Guinn of Orange State, Norman Owyoung, former high school star in San Francisco, and James Hill of Kansas City.

The Warriors play the U.S. Olympic squad in San Francisco Monday night. Fourteen players are in camp with Wilt Chamberlain due tomorrow.

PADRES WIN KEG OPENER

San Rafael Padres, led by Phil Wallace, upset the El Cerrito Gators 15-12 Sunday night at Country Club Bowl, San Rafael, in the first round of the Western Professional Bowling League.

Wallace blistered the pins for scores of 210, 188, 237, 233 and 204 for 1,072 pinnage on five lines.

Other Padres' scores in the doubles, singles and team events were Walt Silva, 185, 157, 199, 189; Don Gee, 184, 179, 205; Dick Treadway, 198, 173, 169, 179; and Larry Mar, 180, 146.

The Padres rallied for a five-point edge in the team event to provide the winning margin. They play at Santa Clara next Sunday.

Constellation 'Two TD Favorite' In America's Cup

By SID MOODY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — A long, windy summer comes to a climax today when America's Constellation and Britain's Sovereign set sail in their first race for the America's Cup.

All that men, money and months of practice can do has been done.

"Now we'll go out and race," said 46-year-old Eric Ridder, skipper and co-helmsman of the 68-foot American Cup defender.

"I don't believe in over confidence," said Ridder, "But I'm not going to be like a football coach with a loaded team and go around crying how we don't have a chance."

Constellation is conceded much more than a chance and if sailing were football the American 12-meter yacht probably would rate a two touchdown favorite.

Sovereign, however, can't be written off. She is a much improved boat over Sceptre, Britain's sluggish challenger in 1958. Ridder feels she is probably faster than Gretel, the Australian yacht that gave the Americans a scare against Weatherly in 1962.

Sovereign and Constellation were up on ways yesterday, both to give their bottoms a final polishing and to keep them safe from the fringes of ex-hurricane Dona that swept over this old seaport with rain and 45-knot gusts.

They set out in mid-morning for the starting buoy about 12 miles southeast of here. Starting time is set for 1:10 EST. The first yacht to win four races takes the cup.

The race will be over a 24.3-mile triangular course. If neither boat completes the course in six hours, the race does not count.

There should be no trouble with that today. Southwesterly winds of 10 to 20 knots are forecast with an afternoon shift into the northwest.

David Boyd, Sovereign's designer, spent Monday fretting over his progeny like a mother sending her child off to his first day of school. He climbed about her, checking this and that. Is she ready?

"I hope so," said the laconic Scot. "I started working on her in 1960."

Ridder and Robert Bavier, 46, his co-helmsman, feel Constellation is as highly tuned as can be after a summer of experimenting and campaigning.

There has been talk that Sovereign's sails look more like a laundry line than the trimly cut sails necessary to get the most out of a 12-meter yacht.

But Peter Scott, Sovereign's 54-year-old skipper, said they were getting better after trying out different suits.

Success in yacht racing is dependent on three factors: The hull, the sails and the crew. The hull is like marriage. You are stuck with it for better or worse. Sovereign and Constellation both seem to be representative hulls. Sails can be changed from race to race in a continuing effort to find the right combination. But Sovereign's sail switching seems to indicate she doesn't have the perfect solution yet.

As for the crew, all three helmsmen have international reputations as sailors and tacticians, largely in smaller boats. The rest of the crews have been working together all summer so that they are as finely meshed as a set of gears.

As a gesture of the sportsmanship that has often marked this gentlemanly sport, Ridder has loaned Sovereign a spinaker strut, a metal brace to give more purchase on the big parachute's afterguy and keep strain off the mast.

"We gave it to them to keep any one from being hurt if something should break," said Ridder. "We're out to race, not to kill any one," he said with a grin.

By JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Two pleasant surprises for California's new football coach Ray Willsey this fall have been halfback Jim Blakeney and tackle John Rusev.

Both are lettermen but elected to compete with the track team in the spring rather than drill with the gridders. So Willsey didn't get to see them in the spring and those who didn't practice in the spring had to prove themselves quickly this fall.

Blakeney and Rusev did just that and both will see extensive duty against Missouri when Cal opens the 1964 season at Memorial Stadium on Saturday.

"Blakeney showed me plenty," Willsey told the Northern California Football Writers yesterday. "He has real speed, is quick with good moves. When he goes up to block a tackle or end, he's as tough a back as we have."

From Hanford, Blakeney lettered two years in football and two in track where he was a sprinter.

Rusev, a 232-pound junior from San Jose, has enough speed to be a triple jumper on the track team. He suffered a knee injury last fall after playing 117 minutes but appears fully recovered.

"Rusev was a big surprise," said Willsey. "He's fast, big and moves well. He and Ron Calegari will be the starting tackles on offense."

Knee injuries continue to plague the Bears. Willsey does not think Jim Phillips will return this year and Dave Urrea also had to undergo surgery. A third letterman lineman, Jim Pinson, has a cast on his knee but might see action at the end of the year.

KEY LINEMAN

Stanford also may have losta key lineman, at least for the opener Saturday against Washington State in Spokane. Bob Nichols, a 242-pound tackle, hurt a knee in a scrimmage Saturday.

Assistant coach Leon McLaughlin told the newsmen that head coach John Ralston was "satisfied but not elated" with the scrimmage.

He said tackle Dick Leeuwenburg, wingback Dick Ragsdale and halfback Ray Handley have looked good in the workouts.

San Jose State opens against Idaho on Saturday night at San Jose and Coach Bob Titchenel says the visiting Vandals have their best team in years. Yet he doesn't grab for the crying towel.

"We feel we'll have a good football team," he said.

Return of letterman Jim Ross, a 250-pound guard who missed last season, will help the line. Newcomers include halfback John Travis, a 205-pounder from Foothill Junior College, and Eddie Titus, a flanker from Oakland JC. Both probably will have starting roles.

Don (Tiny) Campora, starting his first season as head coach at University of the Pacific, sends his club against Montana University on Saturday night.

UOP will use a two platoon system with the veterans primarily on the defensive platoon. Exceptions are quarterbacks Tom Strain and Ernie Zermeno who'll share duties directing the offense.

"We'll be playing the first one by ear," said Campora as he reflected the thinking of the other coaches.

The writers named Dan Hruby of the San Jose Mercury as president of the organization to succeed Bill Leiser of the San Francisco Chronicle. Sid Hoos of the Hayward Review was named vice president and Tom Hansen of the Athletic Association of Western Universities secretary-treasurer. Jack McDonald of the San Francisco News-Call Bulletin was named sergeant-at-arms.

The writers named Jack Stephenson of Associated Press, Don Selby of the San Francisco Examiner and Dave Beronio of Vallejo as a committee to select the Northern California back and lineman of the week during the season.

The writers also voted to support the initials "PAC" as a nickname for the AAWU, to be used in such combinations as "PAC-8" or Pacific "8".

Marin Winners In Fishing Contest

Three Marin County anglers were among 52 weekly winners in the Schenley Sportsmen's Club salmon contest for the week ending last Monday, it was announced today.

Ed Brandt of 199 Valley View, San Rafael, caught a 42-pound, 12-ounce beauty near Slide Ranch Sept. 5; Joe Neal of 1 Inman, Kentfield, caught a 39-8 whopper at Stinson Beach Sept. 7, and Ralph McGrath of 1796 Indian Valley Road, Novato, caught a salmon weighing 37-9 near Slide Ranch on Sept. 6.

The season total so far in the Schenley contest is 416 winners, compared to 266 last year on this date.

Novato Trap Club Adds 21 Members

Novato Trap Club has welcomed 21 new members to its roster, Secretary Everett R. Whitney has announced.

A GALAXY FOR TOURNAMENT OF STARS

These well-known sportsmen will be in the lineup Sunday at San Rafael's Peacock Gap Club in the Marin Invitational Tournament of Stars golf tournament for the benefit of crippled and retarded children. They'll join scores of well-known amateur golfers and some 30 television and movies personalities from Hollywood in the day-long golfing fun-fest. Gallery tickets are $2 each and may be obtained at local pro golf shops. Above, looking over a tournament poster, are Lefty O'Doul, Harvie Ward, James French Jr. and Joe DiMaggio.

NOTES FROM PRO GRIDIRONS

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Let's hang out the pro football wash for the first time this season, but when it dries, don't be surprised at all the stiffness.

It was a long summer between tackles for some and the results should be evident about now. The worst injury of the opening weekend was suffered by San Francisco 49er tackle Bob St. Clair, whose 12-year career may have been ended by a freak pre-game accident.

St. Clair, a 6-foot-9 offensive tackle, pulled fibers loose from the achilles tendon of his right heel while running to catch a punt in a pre-game drill. He'll undergo surgery within eight to 10 days and, at 33, he could be finished.

BEAR STAR OUT

Linebacker Larry Morris, hero of the Chicago Bears' 1963 National League championship victory over the New York Giants, was operated on yesterday after injuring his right knee in Sunday's opener at Green Bay. There was no word on how long Morris would be out.

STEELERS HURTING

The Pittsburgh Steelers lost defensive end Dan LaRose, who hurt a knee against Los Angeles. Three other injured Steelers, halfback Dick Hoak (injured back) defensive back Willie Daniel (injured hip) and right end Jim Kelly (arm injury) are expected to be ready for the New York Giants next Sunday.

HORROR MOVIES

Players weren't the only ones hurting. Giant Coach Allie Sherman was nursing a severe case of strained eyes after watching films of the Giant-Eagles game with the press yesterday. The 38-7 Philadelphia victory was still there at the end.

"Poor execution and poor pursuit," the coach said.

The players will see the films Friday and the ending isn't expected to change then, either.

DON'T PROCRASTINATE

For three periods Sunday, the American League Kansas City Chiefs looked great against the Buffalo Bills. But the Chiefs got started 15 minutes too late.

Kansas City outscored the Bills 17-3 over the final 45 minutes but for the first 15 it was Buffalo 31-0. Result: Buffalo 34, Kansas City 17.

Moral: Don't procrastinate.

CROWD PLEASER

The New York Jets unveiled Shea Stadium's football layout and also presented a linebacker who could inherit Sam Huff's fans.

He's Wahoo McDaniel, part Indian and part-time wrestler, who was picked up from Denver in an off-season trade.

The fans seemed to pick up Wahoo's tempo after he was in on the first few tackles and cheered his every move. Eventually the public address announcer got into the swing of things, too.

After starting with the rather conventional "New York tackle by McDaniel," the PA man later shifted to "tackle by guess who — Wahoo."

'RAIDERS GREAT'

The Boston Patriots have never won an exhibition game and Coach Mike Holovak couldn't care less. His club wins when it counts.

The Pats, Eastern AFL titlists last year, whipped Oakland in Sunday's opener, but Holovak had some encouragement for the Raiders.

"They are a great football team," he said. "I don't think they'll lose again . . . until they meet us in Boston Oct. 16.

A GUIDE TO HELP YOU LANDLUBBERS

Spinaker staysail—a small, fully cut jib used with the spinaker. Also called a cheater.

Tack—the position the boat takes to the wind. A boat is on the port tack when the wind is over its port, or left, side. It is on the starboard tack when the wind is over the right side.

Reaching—sailing with the wind coming from the side of the boat.

Running—sailing with the wind from astern.

Beating—sailing into the wind. A boat is pointing when it sails as close to the wind as possible.

Leeward—away from the wind. Opposite from windward. A boat is to leeward of another if it is farther away from the wind.

Safe leeward position—to leeward of a rival boat but far enough ahead so as not to be bothered by its backwind.

Blanket—a verb. To maneuver your boat to come between your rival and the wind, taking the wind from his sails.

Come about—to steer a boat from one tack into the wind and onto the opposite tack.

Tacking duel—to tack frequently hoping to force the other boat into a mistake in sail handling.

Cover—a verb. A yacht covers another when it follows every tack its rival makes. A yacht splits tacks when it does not cover a rival's move.

Jibe—to move the sails from one side of the ship to another when sailing before the wind.

12-meter yacht—a boat of about 70 feet built to an intricate formula involving sail area, hull displacement and length. All three can be varied within limits of the rule.

5 Foreign Stars In Coast Tennis

BERKELEY (AP)—Five foreign entries were added today for the 75th annual Pacific Coast International Tennis Championships Sept. 20-28 at the Berkeley Tennis Club.

The three-woman Japanese Federation Cup Team, headed by Reiko Miyagi, 10-time Japanese national champion, joined Scotland's Harry Matheson and England's Carole Rosser in filing for the tourney.

Other members of the Japanese team are Kazuko Kuromatsu, No. 4 ranked woman and intercollegiate champion, and Yoko Obata, ranked No. 5 in Japan.

Phils Play Intra-Mural Game Of 'Follow Leader'

' . . . AND MAY THE BEST MAN WIN'

Aces Take Turns In Spotlight

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

While the Philadelphia Phillies virtually are running away with the National League pennant, they are enjoying an intramurual game of follow the leader.

Their latest game came last night as they defeated Houston 4-1 and increased their lead to 6½ games over the second-place St. Louis Cards, whose game at Milwaukee was rained out.

Chris Short posted his 17th victory against seven defeats with a four-hitter while Johnny Callison rapped three hits, drove in two and scored two.

Bunning won his 14th game Aug. 23, and Short followed suit three days later. Their 15th victories came Sept. 1 and 2, respectively, while the 16th plateau was reached Sept. 5 and 10.

Although Short, who will be 27 Saturday, has lost three more games than Bunning, his earned run average is lower — 1.85 to 2.23. In fact, only Sandy Koufax has a better ERA in the league, 1.74, and he's finished for the season.

Incidentally, if Short and Bunning each win 20 games, it will mark the first time since 1916 that the Phillies have had two winners in that category. Grover Cleveland Alexander won 33 games and Eppa Rixey won 22 for the second-place Phillies that year.

JOIN FUN

But back to follow the leader. Allen and Callison have joined the fun the past two games. Allen, the second batter in the line-up last night, singled in the first inning before Callison, batting third, lofted his 27th homer, a season high for him.

The day before, Callison, third in the line-up, belted a run-scoring single in the 10th inning before Allen, hitting fourth, slammed his 2t6h homer. Callison's hit snapped a 1-1 tie, and Allen's blow clinched the victory.

Besides his home run Monday, Callison singled in the third and doubled and scored in the fifth.

Short lost his shutout bid in the eighth inning when Bob Lillis doubled and came around on two infield outs.

In the only other NL game, Pittsburgh whipped Los Angeles 7-2 as Bob Veale fired a five-hitter for his 17th victory against 10 losses. Dick Schofield drove in four of the Pirates' runs. His three-run double in the fourth broke a 2-2 deadlock.

In the only American League games, Baltimore nipped Minnesota 4-3 and Kansas City edged Boston 7-6.

MARIN JUNIOR FOOTBALL POWERHOUSE

Everybody Predicts Drake Is Team To Beat In Marin

pounds and now weighs 185 pounds. The other starting end for Drake will be Stan Carter, a 165-pounder who is another returning first stringer.

Stein was named to the all-Marin Athletic League team last year as a junior. Lazzarini and DeMasi were selected to the second team all-league squad by the coaches of the MAL.

In fact, Drake offensive first stringers are returning to every position but flankerback and the two guard spots. When you say experience is a big thing for the Pirates, it must be the year's biggest understatement.

40-POUND GAIN

The returning center is Loren Swaney who was listed at 145 pounds last year. This season the programs will show him at 185 pounds. Charles Hahn was a first string linebacker last year and will be one of the starting guards for 1964. He gained some 35 pounds and now weighs 195. The other guard for the starting unit is Bob Barnicut who weighs 185 pounds. He played second string varsity last year.

Some quick arithmetic shows that the Drake offensive line, from end to end, will average 190 pounds, and from tackle to tackle, 196 pounds.

For experience, there are seven other returnees who will be getting into a lot of games for Drake. Namely, they are halfback Tony Rivara (170 pound), guard Ray Menjou (175), guard Jerry Feickert (178), tackle Alan Hadley (195), end Bruce Trimble (170), tackle Brian Palmer (205) and end Steve Davis (165).

TWO-PLATOON

Drake will be two-platooning again this season and will be strong at the end positions on defense. Palmer, with his 205 pounds, and junior Doug Manuel, a 195-pounder who is also a tremendous shot putter, will be holding down the end spots defensively. And of course there's Jamison at tackle, the top defensive lineman last year for Drake. A middle guard possibility for defensive work is sophomore Bill Hickerson, who tips the scales at 235 pounds.

Franceschini thinks it will be a close race this year. "I think it will be between us, Terra Linda and Novato," he said.

Drake opens its season Saturday afternoon against strong Petaluma High School. The 2 p.m. game will be at College of Marin Stadium in Kentfield. First Marin Athletic League game for Drake will be Oct. 3 against Redwood, 8 p.m. in Kentfield.

tal Promotions, Inc., estimated it would produce a $450,000 gate with the rest of the money coming from closed-circuit TV, radio, and foreign rights, including movies.

Both contestants will get 30 per cent of the whole pot.

Both say they'll win without much elaboration.

"I had to talk big at first to bring attention," he replied. "I was campaigning before. Now I'm in office and don't need to talk as much."

Liston said the shoulder ailment which caused him to throw in the towel at the last fight is fine now and that "it's going to be entirely different this time."

Asked why he was smiling and Clay was frowning, Liston replied:

"He knows what he's in for and you don't."

Petersens Win Golfing Honor

Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Petersen took Class A honors Sunday at the Mr. and Mrs. Invitational tourney at the Marin Golf Club.

Second flight—Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Dickover, 65; Mrs. Katy Goldman and Jack Blaine, 65; Hal White and Mrs. Marguerite Arfsten, 67.

REPORTS ON MARIN'S PROS

Good Week For Boccabella, Cimoli

John Boccabella of San Anselmo and Gino Cimoli of Tiburon had good weeks in the pro baseball circuit, according to Player Periscope of Novato.

Boccabella, finishing out the season for Salt Lake City, had 9 hits in 28 at bats for the week for a week's mark of .321. It boosted his season average to .225. Included in his hits were a home run and two doubles, plus two runs batted in.

For the Pacific Coast League team, Boccabella now has a total of 23 homers, 9 triples and 21 doubles, and has rapped in 76 runs while scoring 62 himself.

Cimoli had 4 hits in 12 at bats for the week with Rochester, N.Y., of the International League. Included in the outfielder's hits were a homer and a double. On the season, Cimoli now is at a .302 clip and has knocked in 21 runs. He has 4 homers and 6 doubles included in his 42 hits.

Gerry Ard of Fairfax, shortstop for Modesto of the California League which concluded play, was hitting at a .231 clip at last report. In the last reported week, Ard had 7 hits in 28 at bats, including his first homer of the season. He also has 2 triples, 11 doubles, and has 36 RBI.

Ard's teammate with Modesto, Ron Cole of Mill Valley, finished his season with the Houston Colts farm club with a 13-12 record. In his last week's work, he pitched in three games and came out with one loss. In those three games he went eight innings, allowing only six hits and 3 walks while striking out seven.

On the season, Cole had registered 144 strike outs. He gave up 203 hits and 65 walks in 192 innings on the mound. His earned run average was at 4.03 at last report from Player Periscope.

Tiburon Backs Dock For Ferry

To the applause of commuters, the Tiburon City Council last night gave the go-ahead signal for construction of a permanent dock for the Tiburon-San Francisco ferry.

A majority of councilmen finally agreed that Harbor Carriers, Inc., which operates the ferry, would not have to provide any parking for commuter cars.

All councilmen said they heartily favored the ferry, beloved of some 120 commuters who ride across the bay each morning with coffee and return each evening with cocktails. But a council committee recommended that the line provide 30 parking spaces for the average of 30 cars which commuters now leave in Tiburon each weekday morning.

This proposal was looked on as "rather a drastic imposition" by Lester C. Bedient, general manager of Harbor Carriers. "It's a well recognized fact that this is a losing proposition," he said.

Commuters arose from the audience to say that parking was their problem, and they would solve it individually.

"The restrictions you are trying to place on Harbor Carriers would do a great deal toward scuttling the line," said John G. McChesney.

"I don't think there is a parking problem weekdays; there may be in the future," Rampton W. Harvey said.

Commuters heard that all-day parking on city streets probably would be curtailed with tighter enforcement of time limits, and that all-day parking in a merchant-operated lot meant for shoppers was not being looked on kindly by businessmen.

Councilman John S. Hoffmire Jr. moved that a use permit be granted the ferry line without requiring it to provide parking.

The motion was voted down 3-2, with Councilmen Anne L. Ellinwood, Fred C. Hannahs and Mayor Gordon W. Strawbridge voting against and Leo Souza and Hoffmire in favor.

Hannahs then moved that the use permit be approved with provision of 10 parking spaces.

"Raise it to 20 and I'll second it," said Mayor Strawbridge. The motion died for lack of a second.

"Why don't we get on the ball and form a parking district and solve all our problems and not penalize one (business)?" suggested Hoffmire. This brought rousing audience applause.

Councilman Souza then moved that the decision on Harbor Carriers be postponed for two weeks for further research on parking. This motion also died for lack of a second.

Councilman Ellinwood moved that not less than 25 spaces be provided by the company. She and Strawbridge proved the only councilmen in favor of this motion.

Councilman Souza retreaded Hoffmire's motion and again moved that no parking be required. This time the motion passed, to the sound of audience applause, with Hoffmire, Souza and Hannahs voting in favor; Strawbridge and Ellinwood opposing. The Tiburon City Council also:

1. Affirmed planning commission approval of splitting into two parcels a lot at 1741 Mar West—1728 Centro West, owned by Nick D. Ferzacca. The vote was 3-2, with Strawbridge and Souza opposed.

2. Adjourned to 8 p.m. Friday when at midnight the council had covered five of the 20 items on its agenda.

'Orchid Species' Is To Be Topic

A. J. Bingham of Sacramento will tell members of the Marin Orchid Society about "Orchid Species" when they meet at 7:45 p.m. Thursday at the Fairfax branch of Crocker-Citizens Bank.

The society will join with similar groups from Santa Rosa and Napa in a three-day display Oct. 16-18 at the Flamingo Hotel in Santa Rosa.

Five entries submitted by members of the Marin society won blue ribbons at the San Francisco Flower Show in August. These members were Mr. and Mrs. Enrico Introini of San Rafael, Mr. and Mrs. Mrs. Joseph G. Soldavini of San Anselmo, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Chapin of San Anselmo, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Lyons of San Anselmo and Mrs. Leslie Tindall of San Rafael.

Mrs. Owen's Election Suit Tossed Out

Marsha Owen's challenge of last April's Sausalito city election was thrown out of court yesterday.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court granted a defense motion for dismissal of the suit, which had charged misconduct by precinct boards, illegal voting, bribery, errors in vote count, and ineligibility of the three successful candidates to serve on the Sausalito City Council. Reason for dismissal was that Mrs. Owen (better known as Sally Stanford) had failed to answer a second demurrer to the charges.

Mrs. Owen ran fourth in the city council election April 14, with three positions to be filled. The successful candidates, Carl W. Gabrielson, Melvin S. Wax and Mrs. Eleanor O'Hara Chapin, were named defendants in the suit, filed after the election.

The defendants filed a demurrer to the charges on May 26, claiming the complaint was not specific. An amended complaint was filed July 10, and on July 16 a second demurrer was filed in behalf of the defendants by attorney Roger P. Garety. Mrs. Owen was given 10 days to answer the second demurrer. She failed to do so.

Saturday Evening Post For LBJ

NEW YORK (UPI)—The traditionally Republican Saturday Evening Post today urged American voters to elect President Lyndon B. Johnson. It was assumed to be the first time the magazine has endorsed a Democratic presidential candidate since it was founded by Benjamin Franklin in 1728.

In a full-page editoral, most of which was devoted to a blistering attack on the Republican nominee, Sen. Barry Goldwater, the national magazine said "a crushing defeat for Goldwater will drive the fanatic saboteurs of the Republican Party back into the woodwork whence they came."

The editorial expressed confidence that "Johnson will make a good president because he already is a good president.

LISTENING TO tapes which she has borrowed from the library for the blind is Gisela Contreras. The 22-year-old San Francisco State College student is trying to finish her college education and training in rehabilitation for counseling the blind before she herself is blind. A small group of Sausalito women have made a project of helping her to achieve her ambitions.

(Independent-Journal photos)

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

It all came about when the San Francisco Chilean Consul, who knew of Sausalito's interest in Chile through its sister city relations with Vina Del Mar, asked the Loren Jays for help. Jay is chairman of Sausalito's People-to-People Program.

GISELA HAD come to this country in January, 1963, for eye tests at the University of California. She lost the sight of one eye in an accident at the age of two, and she has peripheral vision in the other, which is going with practically no possibility of saving it.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl G. Thompson, and Mr. and Mrs. M. Justin Herman signed for her visa and became her legal guardians in this country. She lived with the Jays last summer, and she now lives with the Thompsons.

In her own country Gisela had studied two years at the University of Chile when the sight in her remaining eye began to fail. She was not permitted to take the examinations because she could not read the texts.

ON COMING to this country she bought a portable Braille writer, started the study of Braille and worked hard to learn English.

For one year, through individual and organizational help, she was able to attend the University of the Pacific at Stockton, where instruction is given in Spanish as well as English.

This week Gisela entered San Francisco State College as a junior. She has been told by the Stanford School of Medicine that on completion of her A.B. degree and a postgraduate professional education, she will be welcomed as a trainee in the Stanford Medical Center's division of rehabilitation medicine.

Meanwhile it is a touch and go struggle to obtain funds to continue her education.

One of her main needs is for full size tape recorder on which she can play the texts which are recorded by an organization called "Recording for the Blind" in New York and by volunteer work of prisoners at the California Medical Facilities of the State Department of Corrections at Vacaville, where there is a center for the blind.

In classes she uses her portable recorder instead of taking notes, and she dictates her examinations. Soon she hopes to be able to type them.

IN ADDITION to Mrs. Jay, Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Herman, the main group of Sausalito women who have "adopted" Gisela includes Mrs. Brookner Brady, Mrs. William B. Lynch and Mrs. Byron Hurd. And others have helped in various ways, such as providing clothes, transportation and money for incidental expenses.

THOUGH SHE is nearly blind, Gisela is far from helpless and can do things a sighted person might envy. These include painting pictures in watercolor that her sponsors consider good enough to have framed and hung in their homes. She also sews a little, but her major talent is cooking.

She has been doing this since she was 5 years old, she says, not only because she loves it, but because she was trained to do so by her mother, who has had to support the family consisting of Gisela and a younger brother and sister since the father was killed fighting a fire when Gisela was 9.

Today the attractive young woman is so expert that she never measures or times anything and finds it impossible to give anyone the recipes for some of her Chilean dishes.

On completing her education and training in this country Gisela hopes to return to her country and found a center for the blind, since in Chile no blind person can enter the university.

Her Sausalito sponsors would be glad to have anyone join their project who would care to do so.

IN THE KITCHEN of the Earl G. Thompsons' home in Sausalito, Gisela Contreras prepares to serve the Empanadas, a Chilean dish, which she has prepared. She has been cooking since she was five years old and is so expert she never measures or times anything—to the regret of those who would like to have some of her recipes.

Banquet To Precede Tourney

By MOLLY MARIN

The largest number of movie, television, nightclub and sports celebrities at one time in Marin will be at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant Saturday night for the Celebrity Banquet preceding Sunday's first annual Marin Invitational Tournament of Stars at Peacock Gap.

The banquet will be patterned after a similar affair preceding the Bing Crosby Tournament at Pebble Beach, with the Marin invitations at a premium since few others besides the golfers and their wives, committee chairmen, members of the hospitality committee and members of the press, radio and television invited.

Besides the celebrity golfers from Southern California, the best amateurs from the Bay Area are also invited along with some of the better golfers from every private club in the Bay Area. These number well over 200.

Starting at 6:30 p.m., cocktails will be served on the Galleria overlooking the yacht harbor at Dominic's and dinner will be served at 8 p.m., in the Musee d'Art International.

The entertainment will be the highlight of the affair, with the celebrities putting on impromptu acts at the invitation of honorary chairman Maurie Luxford of North Hollywood, tournament director of the Bing Crosby classic and advisor of the Marin event. Assisting Luxford as master of ceremonies Saturday night will be Jim "Mr. Magoo" Backus and Richard Arlen.

MARIN COUNTRY CLUB members will celebrate the sixth anniversary of the club with a full day of events on Sunday. The day will begin with mixed couples golf for members from 9:15 a.m. to 12:30. A patio lunch is planned at noon.

In the evening cocktails will be served from 5:30 to 7 p.m. in the main lounge and at the pool, with a barbecue steak dinner at the pool from 6 to 8 p.m. for members and their families.

Nearly 200 guests are expected to participate in the day's celebration. A Dixieland group will provide music for dancing around the pool in the evening.

The Kenneth Lamotts and their son John of Tiburon are home from Seattle, where they spent a week while Ken gathered material on the city on an article assignment for Holiday magazine.

BRIDE-ELECT Sandra Hodgson of Kentfield, who will wed Jay Rodrigo on Dec. 22 at St. Paul's Church in San Rafael, was honored at a shower given by Mrs. Charles F. White of Ross. Sandy and Jay have been assisting Ann Curtis Cuneo with her swim classes during the summer vacation from University of California, where Jay is studying medicine and Sandy's major is nursing. The guest list included Mesdames Ralston Hodgson, Sandy's mother; Wallace Hickman, Jordan Martinelli, Leon Smith, Scott Polland, Arthur Latno Jr., Gordon Cuneo, Paul McArdle, Fred Enemark, LeRoy Page, Edward Ruff and Joseph Rodrigo, Jay's mother, as well as other friends and neighbors of Sandy's. Mrs. George Volk (Diana White), who is here from her home in Maryland with her two small children, assisted her mother as hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Marincich of the Belvedere Lagoon, entertained recently with a Polynesian luau in honor of their daughter, Bonnie, who was celebrating her 21st birthday. Bonnie attends the University of California, where she is a senior majoring in biological science. Twenty-four guests attended the luau.

NANCY MIRATA of Belvedere will fly East today to visit with friends in Iowa and New York before her Oct. 1 departure on board the S.S. Hope for Conakry, Guinea. Nancy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Mirata of Belvedere, has accepted a position as radiological technologist aboard the S.S. Hope to be based in Conakry. She was graduated from Mt. Zion Hospital and Medical Center, School of Radiological Technology, where she is chief technologist and instructor of medical terminology. The ship will arrive in Conakry on Oct. 16 to begin its people to people teaching program.

Mrs. S. W. Kramar of The Meadows, Terra Linda, entertained a party of eight guests with dinner Saturday evening at the Oakview Club. Honored guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Rubin of Greenbrae, who were celebrating their twenty-first anniversary.

THE ROBERT GOLDENS of Larkspur are proud parents of a son, Bret Robert. They also have another son, Todd, six, and daughter, Kristina, two. Mrs. Ragna Kidder of Larkspur and Mrs. Claire Thompson of Los Altos are the grandmothers.

THE COVERED-UP LOOK FOR EVENING

Laroche designs for the elegant lady in line and fabric and plays it with the covered-up look, immense hooded capes and long sleeved dinner dresses like this sand-tone crepe gown trimmed with mink, left, selected for the Celanese Paris Collection. The collar, high in front, dips slightly lower in the back. Long narrow sleeves are also mink trimmed. Laroche still likes the lost waistline, here, flowing into a long skirt with wide front panel that reveals an underskirt in the same fabric. Yves Saint-Laurent also shows a covered up look for evening, This stately gown in pale turquoise satin of Arnel triacetate, right, has high cut neckline, barely defined princess silhouette. The simple understated look is dramatized by the sumptuous short collarless jacket embroidered overall with sequins to evoke the richness of Rennaissance brocades.

TIGHT LID

Whys Of Schizoids

By CHARLES SCHAEFFER
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — Some schizophrenics are apparently creations of parents who clamp a tight lid on childhood self-expression.

The parents of schizophrenic youngsters also tend to manipulate family life to meet their own needs, rather than their children's.

The same parents employ guilt to control the children.

These are some of the unhealthy traits found by federal government scientists in a study of a number of families with schizophrenic children. In the same study, psychologists also measured the behavior of families with delinquents.

THE EMOTIONAL turmoil that helps induce schizophrenia is different from the upsets leading to delinquency, the researchers reported. But "disordered thoughts" helped pave the way for both abnormalities.

Scientists with the National Institute of Mental Health surveyed three families of at least four members each. In the first group each family had a schizophrenic child, a normal child and the parents. The second family group included a delinquent child, a normal child and parents; and in the third group all family members were normal. The researchers—Drs. James R. Stabeau, Joe Tupin and William Pollin and Martha Werner—based their findings on intensive psychological tests taken by the families, which had similar ages, income and social standings.

The researchers used the Thematic Apperception Test in which subjects glanced at 10 cards one at a time. Each bore an ambiguous image.

Those tested were asked to tell a story about the picture. When the story revealed a clue to the parent-child relationship, the psychologists used it in their evaluations.

IN ANOTHER test, designed to reveal differences, the subjects were asked 16 questions on attitudes and opinions. Sample: "Marriage is more important than the work one does"; or "There is nothing a person cannot do if he really wants to." When family members disagreed they were asked to talk it over and reach a common agreement. An unseen researcher observed how they tried to work out the differences.

The TAT scores indicated that the parent-child interaction in "schizophrenic" families was intense but aimed at satisfying the parents' needs rather than the child's. The children were seen as extensions of the parents and curbed in their self-expression.

THE REVEALED difference test showed that "schizophrenic" families created overcontrolled and inappropriate emotional tones; instilled guilt feelings and showed undue concern about conforming; communicated fuzzily with each other and developed rigid family organization.

In the families with a delinquent child, the involvement of parents with the children appeared superficial and impersonal. However, parents were portrayed as demanding and punishment-minded.

When the child fell short of parental "standards," he was impulsively rejected rather than helped. And, the researchers added, the child seemed to manipulate rather than cope with his environment. Parents displayed little basic trust in the child's ability.

The emotional tone of the delinquent families was uncontrolled and intense. At times it appeared artificial and self-destructive. Family interactions sometimes produced shame and doubt.

Housewives Under Forty Are Typical Candy Buyers

CHICAGO (UPI) — The average candy buyer is usually a housewife under 40 who is influenced by her child to select a particular brand name in a plastic bag at the closest store to her house, according to one national survey.

The survey, made for American Viscose, indicated that candy was purchased by 76 per cent of 1016 women answering the questioners. Seventy-seven per cent said someone in the family bought candy, but only 70 per cent of 106 male respondents said they had made any family candy purchases.

The majority of families who did not buy candy said they refrained from indulging because they simply did not care for it. The next major reason was that candy was too fattening. Many old people felt they were "too old for candy" or said candy was "for kids." Other reasons related to health.

Most respondents said housewives did most of the candy purchasing, but 24 per cent said their children did the buying. As many as 70 per cent of the parents interviewed said at least some portion of their purchases were made at their children's request.

In 45.1 per cent of the families which bought candy, parents were under 40 years old. Of the non-candy buying families interviewed, 76.8 contained adults over 40 years old.

Swinging Angels To Hold Dance For Beginners

The Swinging Angels square dance club of Novato will sponsor a beginners square dance class for boys and girls between the ages of eight and 12 years, beginning tomorrow. Registration will be open tomorrow, Sept. 23 and Sept. 30.

The dances, under the instruction of Mrs. Wanda Willey of Novato, will be held from 7 to 8 p.m. every Wednesday at the Rancho School multipurpose room.

The Lil Angels, also under the direction of Mrs. Willey, will meet with the Swinging Angels for a Christmas party and the annual family picnic in July.

Women Authors Prove Versatile

NEW YORK (UPI) — Women write all kinds of books — on subjects ranging from atomic power to Zuni tribal customs.

A survey of Library of Congress listings for Barnard College graduates shows that nearly 2,000 books have been written by 540 Barnard authors in the last 75 years. The college made the survey in connection with observance of its 75th anniversary.

Subjects included treatises on industrial problems, guidebooks to almost everywhere, "how to" publications in a myriad of fields, as well as the expected novels and juveniles.

Rebekahs To Hear Talk On Pilgrimage

Norma Neal, a senior at San Rafael High School, has returned from attending a United Pilgrimage for Youth. She will give a talk on her trip to Washington, D.C. and New York, viewing Congress and the United Nations in action, at the 8 p.m. Thursday meeting of Golden Star Rebekah Lodge, Odd Fellows Temple in San Rafael.

Alumnae President Enjoys Traveling

MRS. JOHN BASSETT

Travel, books and sketching are favorite pastimes of the new president of the Marin Alumnae Club of Alpha Gamma Delta, Mrs. John Bassett of Mill Valley. She reveals that plans for the club's money-making projects include a wine-tasting party and a ball game this year.

Joanna Bassett and her husband are four-year residents of Marin and are the parents of a 16-month-old daughter, Elizabeth Anne.

The sorority proposes to support charitable projects such as the Crippled Children's Society, the new president said.

Novelist Will Be The Speaker At Sausalito Lunch

Herbert Gold, San Francisco novelist, will be the speaker at the annual luncheon of the Wellesley alumnae of northern California on Saturday, at the Alta Mira Hotel in Sausalito at noon.

Mr. Gold, who has just returned from a summer of teaching at Harvard University, is the author of six novels, and he is a prominent essayist and short story writer.

A recent judge of the National Book Award for fiction, Gold came to San Francisco a few years ago on a Ford Foundation Theatre Fellowship to work at the Actor's Workshop and decided to live here.

Group To Mark 'Hospital Day'

"Hospital Day North" will be celebrated on Sunday when the Donald V. Westlund Auxiliary, No. 7816, of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of Novato hold a picnic luncheon at the Yountsville Veterans' Home.

Members will invite one or two veterans to share their lunch. Gifts will also be presented to the veterans at the annual affair.

A membership drive is being conducted this month for women whose husband, father, brother or son served overseas during combat. Mrs. Louis Cavallero said that anyone interested in youth activities, relief work, Americanism work or community service are welcome to become members.

Luggage Not Key To Its Owner

NEW YORK (UPI) — Once, it was by their luggage the hotel people usually knew them. But no longer.

Victor Giles of New York's Governor Clinton Hotel says luggage no longer is a key to the affluence of its owner.

Now, just about everyone has good-looking matched luggage, said Giles. He figures it's because of "ready availability of luggage at moderate prices" and the increase in travel in general.

But, said Giles, there's always the exception — the eccentric who is well endowed but doesn't believe anything more durable than a cardboard box is necessary for his travels.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM COLLIN

Beverly Saunders Weds W. K. Collin

The wedding of Beverly Grace Saunders and William Kent Collin, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Collin of Sleepy Hollow, San Anselmo, took place on Aug. 29 at Brae Road Chapel in Duncan, British Columbia.

Beverly was given in marriage by her father, Stephen Saunders, as the Rev. Huron C. Sheppard officiated. She wore a full length French brocade gown with a train.

Marcie Collin, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor and Marilyn and Patti Miller, nieces of the bride, were bridesmaid and flower-girl. They were dressed in full length gowns of turquoise crystal charm.

Matt Drake of Wilmington, Ohio, was best man and Peter Young of Ashland, Ore., and William and Henry Saunders, brothers of the bride, ushered. Three-year-old Stephen Saunders was ring bearer.

Beverly was graduated from Royal Jubilee Hospital in Victoria, B.C. She served as a volunteer nurse in a bush hospital clinic in Nigeria where the couple met. William served as a Peace Corps volunteer teaching science in a secondary school in Nigeria.

The bridegroom was graduated from the University of California at Davis.

After a wedding trip "up island," the couple drove to San Anselmo and Los Angeles where the bridegroom will continue graduate work at the University of California in Los Angeles.

Cancer Board Meeting Set On Thursday

The annual meeting of the Board oof Directors of the Marin County Branch of the American Cancer Society will be held Thursday night at the Meadow Club. The affair will be no host with cocktails starting at 7 p.m. followed by dinner at 8 p.m.

Besides directors, any volunteer who has worked for the Cancer Society during the past year may attend, although reservations must be made through the local Cancer Society office in San Rafael.

Mrs. Harvey M. Hand, chairman of the nominating committee, has announced the nomination of Mrs. John Horton as president, Mrs. Clarence Lesko as vice president and A. W. Rolfe as secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Carrie Smith, president of the Napa Branch of the Cancer Society will be guest speaker. Her topic will be "The Tapestry and the Weavers."

Suds Off Cleaner

Copper cleaners can't do their work well on greasy surfaces. That's why a copper pan — or stainless steel with a copper bottom — must be sudsed and rinsed with hot water both before and after applying copper cleaner to remove discoloration.

Dip Cotton In Ink

Guild Sets Date Of Belvedere Ball

Mrs. Henry S. Sanderson and Mrs. Bennett Wren are co-chairmen of the Belvedere Ball to be held Sept. 26. Other committee members are Mesdames James Crittenden, Bennett Wren, Christopher Rivers, John Hoefer and Thomas Corn, invitations; Edwin Weed and daughters Margot and Cynthia, mailing; John Flint, reservations; Ernie Van Asperen, John Hoffman and William J. Ferguson, decorations.

Stanford Freshmen Feted At Barbecue

Participating in the swimming and barbeque were Richard Baum of San Anselmo, Kathleen Dufficy of San Rafael, Thomas Farber of Larkspur, Laurence Hearst of Ross, John Kaufman of Kentfield, Donald Levison of Belvedere, Barbara Johnson Marshall of San Rafael, Alice Merrill of Sausalito, James Murphy of San Anselmo, Gordon Nelson of San Anselmo, John Pasqualetti of Kentfield, Rodderick Ponath of San Rafael, Michele Slavich of Tiburon and Diane Swingle of San Rafael.

Hosts and hostesses were Barrett Lion, Sharon Johnson, Marie Bertoli and Carl Schmidt.

Carbon Steel Edge

Many professional chefs feel that carbon steel gives the best cutting edge for kitchen and carving knives. But remember —carbon steel stains easily and must be washed and dried immediately after use in hot soap or detergent suds and rinses.

Help Suede Shoes

Elaine Lenci Bride Of Wayne Neubauer In Reno

The marriage of Elaine Lenci, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Lenci of San Rafael, to Wayne S. Neubauer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Neubauer of San Anselmo took place Saturday at the Golden Wedding Chapel in Reno.

The bridegroom is the brother of Mrs. James Detels of Soda Springs and Alan Neubauer, who is serving with the U.S. Navy in Japan. He is the grandson of Mrs. Amelia Neubauer of San Francisco and Mrs. Kay Marker of Oakland.

Grandparents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lenci of San Francisco and Mrs. Sara McKinney of Fairfax.

The bride and bridegroom were graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School. Wayne attended College of Marin and served on the U.S.S. Glacier in the Antarctica Deep Freeze Operation.

The couple will reside in San Diego wheret he bridegroom is attending U.S. Navy pre-commission school.

Sauce Goes Over Squares Of Cake

2 tsp corn starch
⅓ cup cold water
1 pkg. (10 oz.) frozen raspberries
1 tblsp lemon juice

In a small saucepan gradually stir the cold water into the corn starch, keeping smooth. Stir in thawed raspberries with their juice. Cook and stir constantly over low heat until slightly thickened and clear. Remove from heat; stir in lemon juice. Makes 1⅓ cups.

Bringing Up Baby®

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Most baby-care experts advise against propping the bottle for baby's feedings. Apart from the warmth, comfort and security you give your baby when you hold him, there are rather nice benefits for you. Feeding time gives your on-the-go body a chance to relax, your feet a fine rest. Above all, you achieve a special "oneness" with your baby, reward enough for any mother.

Warming thought. If baby's a dawdler, one of those knitted coasters will help keep the bottle warm longer.

Solid comfort. As soon as your doctor gives you the green light on cereal, Gerber Cereal Sixes are just right for a bird-size appetite ...and the perfect way to introduce baby to different flavors. This handy, six-in-1 package contains small-size boxes of Rice Cereal, High Protein Cereal, Barley, Mixed Cereal and two Oatmeal. After baby samples all five, and indicates his favorites, you can get Gerber Cereals in the regular, large-size boxes.

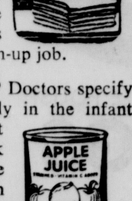
All Gerber Cereals have the delicate flavors and super-smooth texture that encourage baby to take to this important basic food. And they're enriched with iron, calcium and B-vitamins to get him off to a good nutritional start.

Saving plans. (1) If you've a two-story house, you'll save many a step by keeping a supply of diapers both upstairs and down. (2) Folding a day's supply of diapers at one time simplifies and speeds the pin-up job.



Why vitamin C? Doctors specify this vitamin early in the infant diet because breast milk or cow's milk have very little vitamin C, which baby needs every day. Gerber Juices —all nine of them —are rich in this important vitamin, needed for sound gums and other body tissues. While Orange Juice has been the traditional "starter," doctors often recommend Gerber Apple Juice because it's especially mild and well-tolerated by babies. Is a woman ever too young...

or too old for Revlon's 'ETERNA 27'?

The truth is, if you're under 30, you don't need this astonishing skin cream. But if you're beyond that...you should know that women all the way up to the age of 88 have seen dramatic changes in their skin after using it! Famous skin specialists proved that 'Eterna 27' works. Their reports show that it brought dramatic changes to the skin in more than 6 out of every 10 cases they tested! And there are no hormones in 'Eterna 27.' This special offer makes it easy for you to at least try it.

PETITION FOR ORDER TO LEASE REAL ESTATE
No. 15336

In the Matter of the Estate of DORA M. MEHERIN, Deceased.

To the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the County of Marin:

The petition of PATRICIA ENGSTROM and KATHERINE MEHERIN respectfully shows:

1. That petitioners are the duly appointed, qualified and acting Executrices of the estate of DORA M. MEHERIN, deceased.

2. That there is included among the property of said estate, as shown by the inventory on file herein, a certain parcel of real estate with improvements thereon, situated in the City and County of San Francisco, State of California, and particularly described as follows, to-wit:

Those certain five rooms on the south and west side of the second floor of the office building at 2444 San Bruno Avenue, San Francisco, California.

3. That it will be for the advantage of said estate to lease said property, inasmuch as there is a suite of offices consisting of five rooms thereon, suitable for use as a patient's waiting room and doctor's offices (same having formerly been so used and occupied for this purpose). The rental of which is necessary and desirable in order to produce income for said estate; that the same can be leased, and it is proposed, therefore, to lease said premises for the term of five years, at a rental of Two Hundred Twenty Five Dollars ($225.00) per month, upon the conditions set forth in the lease, a copy of which is hereto annexed, marked Exhibit "A", and made a part hereof.

WHEREFORE, petitioners pray that an order be made and entered herein authorizing them as Executrices of the last will and testament of said DORA M. MEHERIN, deceased, to lease said property in accordance with the terms and conditions of said proposed lease.

Dated: September 1st, 1964.

'Buck Rogers' Test Set For Astronauts

By GENE BYLINSKY
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON—Space agency astronauts will test a Buck Rogerish "jet-propelled back pack" for the Air Force while floating in space more than a hundred miles above earth.

First flight tests of the unit will be made by Gemini astronauts in mid-1966 and may lead to first-hand inspection of hostile satellites. The propulsion unit is also designed to allow spacemen to assemble and repair orbiting space stations and satellites, assist in rendezvous operations, and transport materials.

On-the-spot satellite inspection, and possibly destruction, is expected to be the major goal of the Air Force project, however.

It is one of a number of approaches to interception of hostile satellites. The Air Force also is investigating ways of shooting down enemy satellites with ballistic missiles and doing research on an unmanned satellite inspector.

Another reason for the Air Force's interest in satellite inspection could be the desire to find out how easy or difficult it will turn out to be, and to devise proper defenses against destruction of U.S. spy satellites by Russian spacemen.

Until recently in the realm of science fiction, the scheme will enable an astronaut tethered to his mother ship to "fly" up to an hour and travel as far as 1,000 feet in any direction.

The "flight" in space will be accomplished in the following manner:

One of the two Gemini astronauts will don the chest part of the chest-and-back pack Modular Maneuvering Unit while inside the Gemini capsule and connect it to a tether and communications cable. He will then depressurize the Gemini capsule, open the hatch and step out into the void of space.

He will see a velvety, pitch-black sky where the sun shines without glare and stars appear as sharp, unblinking pinpoints of red, blue, white, and yellow. Below him the earth will spread in a majestic panorama. All the while the spaceman will be travelling with the same speed as the mother ship — 17,500 miles an hour.

The spaceman's first goal will be to reach the back pack stored outside the capsule in a special container, because the 160-pound outfit is too big for in-capsule storage. The astronaut will don the back pack, check out its life support, communications and propulsion systems, and attach the tether line.

Propulsion is provided by a 12-nozzle hydrogen peroxide system. Four jets propel the astronaut forward, four backwards, two up and two down. An attitude control system automatically stabilizes the spacemen to prevent uncontrolled tumbling. Each control handle is large enough to permit easy operation while wearing a pressure suit and gloves.

The tethered astronaut will have a two-way voice communication with the Gemini capsule. An alarm system, with a beeping audio tone, is provided both astronauts to warn of a malfunction in the system. Should anything go wrong, the astronaut will be pulled back to the capsule.

Scientists already are presenting papers with titles like. "The Dynamics of Retrieval of Tethered Astronauts." The retrieval will be somewhat akin to reeling in a placid fish. But it must be done carefully to avoid wrapping a spaceman around the capsule and killing him.

Doctor Links Intake Of Sugar To Having Heart Attacks

VAN DELLEN

Is it too much fat or too much sugar in the diet that causes hardening of the arteries? Dr. John Yudkin, professor of nutrition and dietetics at the University of London, says those who have heart attacks consume more sugar than do the control subjects. His conclusion: "People who take more sugar in tea or coffee are far more likely to have heart attack than those who take little."

He asserts that is the first time the diet of heart patients has been shown to differ in any way from that of normal people. Much research points to an association between the development of coronary arteriosclerosis and the level of blood cholesterol, the blood pressure, body weight, and cigarette consumption.

ON THE OTHER hand, he claims no specific dietary constituent, including calories, minerals, vitamins, proteins, total carbohydrates, fat, animal fat, and saturated and unsaturated fatty acid has been proved to be the specific cause of hardening of the arteries.

Dr. Yudkin's project was done with the help of a state registered dietitian, Janet Roddy, on ben between 45 and 66 years of age. All had a recent first attack of coronary thrombosis or proved hardening of the leg arteries. Their diets were compared with a group of healthy men who entered the hospital because of accidents.

HALF THE SUGAR intake was measured by finding out how many lumps or spoonfuls were taken daily. The rest was estimated from the amounts available in readily identified items, such as canned foods. The group with hardening of the arteries used nearly twice as much sugar as the control group. A detailed analysis determined that the degree of atherosclerosis was in proportion to the amount of dietary sugar.

Dr. Yudkin may have difficulty selling his ideas to researchers who believe fat and cholesterol play an important part in the problem and they have the advantage of considerable animal research in their favor. Many authorities believe there is more to hardening of the arteries than cholesterol. And herein lies the fallacy of using one substance such as sugar in a statistical analysis. The least the physician could have done was to include cholesterol, weight, blood pressure, and tobacco in the survey.

(Dr. Van Dllen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

SWOLLEN JOINTS

E. R. writes: Why do the joints swell—and then go down—at regular intervals in a person with arthritis?

REPLY

This may follow exercise in which the joints are irritated to such an extent that the tissues swell.

BUTTERMILK FOR OLDSTER

M. E. L. writes: Would the intake of one quart of cultured buttermilk a day induce harmful effects in a person 82 years of age?

REPLY

No. Keep it up if the bowel does not object.

YEAST AND ACNE

E. B. writes: Is yeast good for clearing acne?

REPLY

This was a popular remedy years ago. It proved to be unsatisfactory and seldom is used today.

IRRITATED STOMACH

J. N. F. writes: Does gastritis usually last one year?

REPLY

There is no time limit. Some people are bothered for a day; others suffer intermittently for years.

President Remaining Aloof From Attacks

By EDWARD W. O'BRIEN
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — Republicans are failing in their efforts to draw President Lyndon B. Johnson away from the lofty posture he has assumed and into the slugging give-and-take of a traditional election campaign.

Both Sen. Barry Goldwater and Rep. William E. Miller have been baiting Mr. Johnson ever since the Republican convention, often on high policy issues and sometimes on more personal matters, such as the Johnson family's television-radio fortune. But the president has chosen to hold to his strategy of giving the impression of being above the battle.

Thus the campaign has been relatively tranquil until now, and it may remain so.

In politics, you can't have a fight unless the other fellow is willing. Despite the new prominence of the vice presidential candidates, public attention still centers on the presidential candidates, and Johnson, to the disgruntlement of Republicans, is still saying nice things about them.

At a recent press conference, for example, Johnson was asked to respond to former Vice President Richard Nixon's claim that the GOP is now the party of the common man while the Democrats have become the party of big business.

Any battle-scarred pro is tempted by such a challenge. But Johnson meekly restrained his instincts and answered: "I think the Democratic party and the Republican party both are trying to do what they think is best for all the country, without regard to any specialized segment of the country."

"I think the whole question is the approach to it, and which course is more likely to attain the best results,' 'he continued. "I don't think that the Democratic party wants any business government, any labor government, any big government. It is just interested in the best government for all the people."

On Wednesday the president was asked how he felt about the endorsement of Sen. Goldwater by Mississippi Democratic governor. Again the president was all sweetness and moderation. "I think that every person in this country ought to support the candidate of his choice and the candidate that he feels will best serve," Johnson said.

Even when Johnson has an obviously political engagement, he is skittish about saying so. His Labor Day speech in Detroit, the customary campaign-opener for Democratic candidates, was somehow transformed by the president into nothing more than a talk to "a group of working men who invited me three or four months ago to come out there."

Pennsylvania Democrats understood for weeks that he would go to Harrisburg Thursday evening and address their $100 fund-raising dinner. But only five days earlier he was insisting "I have no plans to do it" and urging newsmen not to "speculate." It was not until the day before the dinner that the date was officially confirmed at the White House.

Congress, controlled by the Democrats, is dragging out its session and probably won't go home until early October. This fits in with the Johnson strategy of cool detachment because the routine news generated by Congress dulls public interest in such other affairs as the presidential campaign.

In all this, however, there is an over-riding caveat, as the Republicans well know. President Johnson is not taking the campaign casually. On the contrary, it seems to be his consuming interest.

Though few of his activities are visible, he is running the campaign as fully as he ran the Atlantic City convention, and he has mobilized almost every available resource within and outside the government to the end that he may win a tremendous reelection victory.

CANBERRA — The Australian Tariff Board is scheduled to hold a special hearing this month into duties on motor vehicles that are imported completely assembled.

The fears of Australian manufacturers, over the growing popularity of low-priced Japanese cars, are believed to have forced the federal government to order the special hearing.

Japanese auto makers are bidding to win six per cent of the Australian car market this year. Only General Motors Holden, Ford Australia, British Motor Corporation Australia (BMC), Chrysler and Volkswagen now make more sales.

The first three of this "big five" are known to have been holding conferences recently on combatting the Japanese challenge.

PRESENT POLICY

Existing tariff rates are lower on auto parts than on cars already assembled—so as to encourage the development of local industry.

The domestic costs of Japanese car makers are so much lower than of companies manufacturing here that the Japanese have been able to absorb the higher duties on completed cars and still compete with cars assembled here.

Of 55 models of Japanese cars, station wagons and trucks, now winning a place in the Australian market, only three are presently assembled here. But Japanese car manufacturers have announced that they soon intend to begin production of autos here.

JAPANESE FEARS

Japanese car agents here make no effort to hide their fears that the Australian Tariff Board may recommend duties so high as to block the import of finished cars, and keep the Japanese autos out until they have built assembly plants in this country.

At present, many Australian sheep and cattle ranchers are buying Japanese cars on a reciprocal basis. They say: "You buy our wool and we'll buy your cars."

Government trade officials are concerned that the imposition of higher duties on Japanese autos might spill over the threaten the highly profitable over-all trade now conducted by Australia with Japan. Last year Japan was Australia's second-best customer, with Britain first by only a narrow margin.

In the financial year ending June 30, 1964, Australia sold Japan 549 million dollars worth and bought in return only 182 million dollars worth of goods.

1970 GOALS

Whether by local assembly or imports, the Japanese motor industry plans for an annual sale of 200,000 vehicles in Australia by 1970. This would amount to a third of the estimated 1970 market—equal to the present huge slice held by Holden.

Society Will Spotlight Early Belvedere Days

How Belvedere Island became an island will be the subject of Helen Van Cleave Park when she addresses the annual meeting of Marin County Historical Society tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the San Rafael Improvement Club.

Mrs. Park has done extensive research on the subject, in which she has been assisted by James L. Heynemann of Belvedere, who will be an honored guest at the meeting. His grandfather came to California during the Gold Rush and he has lived in Belvedere since 1900.

Mrs. Richard Keating, Marin County librarian, will exhibit new books which recount Marin County history.

Principal speaker will be John C. Oglesby, who served as Marin County surveyor for several terms, and was city engineer for seven cities in the county. He will tell of the first land grants in Marin, and how the boundaries were determined. To illustrate his talk, Dr. W. Scott Polland, a director of the society, will show an illustrated map of the first land grants.

Another speaker will be Waddell F. Smith, great-grandson of one of the founders of the Pony Express. The speakers will be introduced by Florence Donnelly, founder-director of the society and program chairman.

Members may take guests and golden wedding couples will be presented.

The evening will be concluded with refreshments. Mrs. Elie Dalmon, chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. V. J. Bloom. Both are directors of the society.

Pool, More Tennis Courts Planned By Peninsula Club

Directors of the Tiburon Peninsula Club hope by next summer to expand the facilities by addition of a swimming pool, four tennis courts, and larger parking area.

"Working drawings" are being prepared for construction of a second pool, 25 by 60 feet, to be located on a portion of what is now the parking lot.

The tennis courts will be in a corner of Judge Field, J. Donald McCune, club president, reported, still leaving room for the two Little League baseball diamonds. The club now has four tennis courts.

A 50-car parking area will be installed on what now is the "old basketball court," McCune said.

Study Center Sounds Call For Tutors

Tutors are being sought for the Marin Study Center which begins its second year Oct. 5 and 6 at Sausalito's Richardson Bay School.

Those interested, according to Mrs. Jacqueline M. Smith, program coordinator, may appear at 8 p.m., next Monday, at the school's home economics room for orientation and to learn about the program.

The center offers students an after-school opportunity to study and receive individual help from older students and adults, many of whom are teachers and all of whom are volunteers. In addition to tutors, the center seeks persons interested in serving the center in other capacities, said Mrs. Smith.

The center schedule is: grades 7 to 8, 3:30 to 4:30 p.m., Tuesdays, beginning Oct. 6; grades 9 to 12, 7 to 8 p.m., Mondays, beginning Oct. 5.

Prowler Enters Woman's Room

Someone entered a San Rafael home early Sunday, leaving an obscene note and an item of underclothing next to the bed where a 22-year-old Sacramento baby-sitter was sleeping.

Ruth C. Henninger of 92 Belvedere Street, Apt. 13, said the house was entered between 2 a.m., when she retired, and 4:30 a.m., when members of the family returned and found the front door open.

The note was found later in the morning by Mary H. Facio of Sacramento, who had been staying at the home as a baby-sitter.

More Jazz Planned

The Stinson Beach Arts Foundation will hold a second "Jazz on the Mountain" concert next August in the Cushing Memorial Theater on Mount Tamalpais with Gerry Olds as director. Proceeds from the benefit series held last month, including a jazz concert, are expected to be known by the end of September, according to Louise Childs, publicity chairman.

Children's Fete At Jewish Center

A festival launching the fall children's program of the Marin Jewish Community Center is scheduled from 2 to 5 p.m. Sept. 26 at the center, 1618 Mission Avenue, San Rafael.

Called the Succot-Simcha Torah Festival, the affair will be open to youngsters from kindergarten through sixth grade and will feature games, drama, crafts and singing.

Name of the festival comes in part from the traditional Jewish holiday of Succot, which recalls wanderings of the children of Israel in the wilderness after they were delivered from Egyptian bondage.

Car Owner Reports Gas Siphon Attempt

John R. Dolan of 25 Windsor Avenue, San Rafael, went into his front yard at 9 a.m. Sunday and spotted a nine-foot length of garden hose protruding from the gasoline tank of his car in the driveway.

Donlan told San Rafael police that six to eight gallons of gasoline had been siphoned from the tank.

County Seeks To Coordinate On Languages

The Marin County schools office is about to embark on a $2,900 program to bring order to elementary schools' foreign language programs.

Asst. Supt. of Schools Stanley Friese, claims that, although many school districts this year are starting foreign language programs, there has been virtually no coordination among districts and no standards set.

In one district, language instruction might start at the kindergarten level and use persons fluent in a foreign language.

In the district next door, no teacher may speak the language being taught, and the school system is merely using elaborate tape recordings and movies, along with educational television programs.

The next district may have no program at all this year, although all schools will have to teach foreign language in sixth grade next year.

What happens when children from these diverse districts enter high school? That is the question the county seeks to answer.

Friese said the work will be done mainly with small school districts under jurisdiction of the county office, but the hope is to come up with standards which can be applied to all schools in the county.

Dixie Trustee Meeting Off To Tomorrow

The Dixie School District board meeting, originally set for tonight, has been rescheduled for 8 p.m. tomorrow at the district office at 35 Trellis Way, San Rafael.

Major item will be decision on the foreign language program this year. The district's language consultant, Manuel Guerra of University of Southern California, will propose use of the Encyclopedia Britannica film series and two weekly session with Spanish-teaching teachers.

A proposal for an increase in psychological staff time will also be considered. Supt. Dennie B. Willis will recommend sale of $240,000 worth of bonds to qualify the district for a state loan for construtcion of a new school in upper Lucas Valley.

New School Site Leads Agenda Of Lagunitas Board

Lagunitas School District trustees will continue discussion on proposed sites for a new school in Woodacre at 8 p.m. today in the school's multipurpose room.

The board at its last meeting asked for more figures, particularly on development cost, for the two possible locations recommended by a site selection committee.

One location adjacent to the Woodacre Improvement Club is an improved site, appraised at $165,000. The other site is undeveloped, south of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, near the Idlewild rest home, and appraised at $47,000.

Also on tonight's agenda are an enrollment report and consideration of problems resulting from increased enrollment.

Wallet Disappears From Club's Locker

Thomas C. Perkins said the wallet was in the pocket of a suit left in the locker at 2:30 p.m. He told police an attendant had promised to be certain the locker was locked, but when he returned later, the locker door was open and the money was gone.

Art On Exhibition

Pay-TV Firm Is Forced To Cut Employees

SANTA MONICA (UPI) — Subscription Television Inc., first major pay-TV attempt in the West, yesterday announced a sharp cutback in personnel in its battle to combat free television.

The company said the Reuben H. Donelley Corp., which provides it with sales, billing and business personnel, had lopped of 90 workers in Los Angeles and another 53 in San Francisco.

A company spokesman said the cutback was made necessary by expenditures to defeat an initiative on the California ballot to outlaw pay television.

Tennessee walking horses are second only to thoroughbreds in annual registration in this country.

Wholesale Food Strike Simmers Amid Hot Words

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A two-day-old strike-lockout in Southern California's wholesale food industry simmered on today amid hot words from both sides.

After renewed negotiations collapsed in less than an hour last night, President Robert K. Fox of the Food Employers Council said:

"The union is still insisting on the same exhorbinant, inflationary demands which caused the negotiations to fail before."

A Teamster Union spokesman said management is "stubbornly refusing to consider legitimate needs of their employees on such issues as protection against the effects of automation and job security."

Dean Appointed

Dr. Ellsworth R. Briggs, dean of adult education at College of Marin, has been re-appointed to the state-wide junior college committee on moral and spiritual values for the 1964-65 school year. He has been chairman a similar committee at the college.

Goldwater Sweeps Into Deep South; Union Hears LBJ

Johnson Gets Endorsement

MIAMI BEACH (AP)—President Lyndon B. Johnson told a whooping audience of labor union members today that prosperity must not be sacrificed to partisanship.

Addressing the annual convention of the Interantional Assn. of Machinists, which has endorsed his candidacy, Johnson got a foot-stomping, chanting welcome from 4,000 delegates crammed into smoky hotel ballroom.

The president's second Florida appearance in five days coincided with a visit to the state by his Republican rival, Sen. Barry Goldwater.

Scattered crowds that welcomed Johnson's motorcade through the city obviously were on his side. They waved hundreds of "LBJ" banners and Goldwater placards were scarce.

Johnson got the biggest hand in the speech when he plugged hard for medicare for the elderly under Social Security.

"And I say to you now and I say to Americans everywhere," the president said, "if you believe in medicare under Social Security, now is the time to stand up and be counted."

Barry: 'I'm For States' Rights'

ATLANTA (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater swept into the Deep South today declaring himself a champion of states' rights and openly bidding for the votes of dissident Democrats.

The Arizona senator was warmly received in speeches here and in Winston-Salem, N.C., where he began his second week-long campaign trek.

100,000 PEOPLE

Atlanta police estimated that 100,000 people lined the streets to cheer Goldwater as he passed and into and around Hurt Park in the downtown area to hear him speak.

Goldwater criticized the president and the Supreme Court for invading the legislative fields, charging that this amounted to "bypassing the people."

He pledged "every effort" to maintain the peace.

"Peace is for those strong enough to keep it," he said.

In his comments on the court, Goldwater referred specifically to the Supreme Court's reapportionment decision and said "this power was never given to the federal government, in spite of what the Supreme Court says.

IN OPEN CAR

Goldwater, smiling and waving, rode in an open car through large crowds gathered in the downtown area.

Confetti showered down as his motorcade turned onto famed Peachtree Street. At one point, the crowd surged from the curb and engulfed the limousine. A group of picketing girls from a business school wore their right arms in slings and carried banners reading, "We'd Give Our Right Arms For Barry."

Goldwater was sharply critical of the administration's policy on Vietnam in his prepared remarks but he spent most of his time in Winston-Salem and here criticizing the Supreme Court and bidding for the support of Democrats dissatisfied with their party.

He told a breakfast rally in Winston-Salem, N.C., "I happen to believe in state's rights," and said some Democrats "don't believe the South is a part of the United States." He named Democratic vice presidential candidate Hubert H. Humphrey as one of them.

Goldwater then flew to Atlanta.

Medicare Bill Faces Dead End

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Suporters of the administration's program of health care for the aged today abandoned their attempt to push it through the house this week.

They conceded they did not have enough votes to win.

Rep. Cecil King (D-Calif.), cosponsor with Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-N.M.), of the controversial hospital care proposal, had hoped to get a vote on the issue in the House this Thursday.

But he told the House Rules Committee he was dropping this plan because he and other supporters knew they did not have the necessary votes.

The House then voted to let a Senate-House conference committee take up the proposal. It

Bond Vote Is Steady

Steady voter turnout throughout the morning was reported today in Ross and Larkspur School Districts, both conducting special elections to authorize bond issues.

Twelve per cent of the approximately 5,400 registered voters in the Larkspur district had voted by noon on the district's request for approval of issuing $476,000 in bonds to finance more classrooms.

In Ross, 262 of approximately 1,700 eligible to vote had cast ballots at Ross School by 12:30 p.m. An election official report-

Tomales Seeking Unification Again

A proposal to unify the Tomales Joint Union High School District—twice turned down by the State Board of Education—will go before the board for a third time.

The Marin County Committee on School District Organization last night approved the plan by an 8 to 2 vote. Members voted after a public hearing at Tomales High School. Mrs. John W. Binckley and Mrs. A. E. Larson opposed the plan, and Dr. John Hamren was absent.

The unification proposal, in area and trustee arrangement, is identical to those previously turned down by the state board.

It covers all the elementary districts now part of the Tomales High School District: Tomales Bay, West Marin and Point Reyes in Marin County, and Bloomfield, American Valley, Watson and Bodega Bay in Sonoma County.

The proposal calls for seven trustees elected at large, but serving from trustee areas. It also includes a provision for a maximum tax rate which will produce the same revenue as would result if each of the component districts levied its maximum general purpose rate this year prior to unification.

A bond leveling election—to allow the new district to take over the bonded indebtedness of the separate districts — would be called at the same time as the unification election.

The Sonoma County Committee on School District Organization must officially approve the unification proposal before the state board will act. Eight members of that committee expressed approval Aug. 24 at a joint meeting with the Marin County committee.

Tomales unification was last submitted to the state board as part of the county's master plan.

The law provides that if a unification proposal is part of a master plan, and the state does not approve it, the county committee must return a plan to the state board. Last night's action will fulfill this requirement.

Among those expressing opposition to the unification proposal were Mr. and Mrs. R. Bruckman and Cecil R. Asman of Inverness.

Asman said his major objection was based on the small size of the proposed unified district. This would make it impossible to present an adequate educational program, he said.

He also objected to the high cost per student to maintain even "minimal standards."

Shoreline Warning Sounded

By WAT TAKESHITA

SAN FRANCISCO—The need to save the scenic shoreline, especially of Marin County, was voiced today at the first meeting of the San Francisco Bay Conservation Study Commission.

Mel Scott, research city planner in the Institute of Governmental Study of University of California, was the principal speaker before the nine-man commission appointed by the governor. The meeting was held in the State Building here.

Showing slides of various filling operations, Scott pointed to the San Rafael Canal along Third Street and declared, "This illustrates in miniature what could happen to the bay as a whole" if filling is allowed without control.

The picture showed a small strip of the canal with both sides filled.

Sausalito also came in for considerable comment.

Said Scott, "Filling along the

Driver Goes Off Turn On Highway

A 20-year-old San Francisco driver's car went off a turn on Highway 101 about one-half of a mile south of the Waldo Tunnel at 11:20 p.m. yesterday, struck a "no parking" sign, damaged 30 feet of guardrail and plowed into a light pole.

California highway patrolmen reported the driver, Richard Anthony Pedelaborde, was taken to a hospital for treatment of injuries, but no hospital had a record of receiving him.

PET STORE OWNER CAN SMELL A RAT

Jules L. Gall knew there was something fishy going on when he opened the front door of his pet shop yesterday morning.

The back window had been pried open and sure enough Gall, who owns the Fur, Feathers and Fins shop at 508 Fourth Street, San Rafael discovered someone had been into his fish tanks, and his turtle and pigeon cages as well.

Altoether the thief, or thieves, made off with 45 red ears (those are fish), three sliders (those are turtles), and two pigeons. Total loss to Gall, who lives at 920 Lovell Street, Mill Valley, was $48.61, he told police.

Victims Sift Pictures In Robber Hunt

Victims of yesterday's $4000 robbery at the Food Villa market in Fairfax were to look at police photos of possible suspects today, said Fairfax Police Chief James Orr.

The calm, well-dressed robber, who held eight people at gunpoint while he took $4,000 cash and $3,000 in checks, was still at large.

The robber's method of operation has been sent to the California Investigation Bureau at Sacramento and the San Francisco police, which were both to send photos of criminals with similar methods of operation to the Fairfax police for viewing by the eight victims.

The co-owners of the Food Villa, Curtis Smith and Melvin LaFranchi, both among the eight held at gunpoint and bound and tied, said the loss is covered by insurance.

Rep. Miller Charges LBJ Discrimination

The Republican vice presidential nominee said he had copies of two deeds that showed Johnson and his wife bought about 20 lots in Austin in 1938 without any restrictive covenant and resold them in 1945, this time with a clause prohibiting forever the transfer of the land to "persons of African descent."

Gas Fire Guts Service Station

$50,000 Damage In Hub

A gasoline fire burned out of control and gutted a service station in San Anselmo today, destroying one car and damaging another car and a police motorcycle.

San Anselmo Fire Chief Frank Sousa estimated damage in the blaze at the Mobil Service Station, corner of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Red Hill Avenue, at $50,000.

The gasoline ignited as it was being drained from a car by a co-owner of the service station, Joseph Glauser, and a mechanic, Henry Croker. The gasoline continued to drain out, feeding the flames in the drainage tank. The two men tried to put it out with fire extinguishers at the station, but the drainage tank, containing solvent and other waste as well, overflowed.

FORCED OUT

The spilling gasoline and waste quickly spread across the station floor, forcing Glauser and Croker out of the station. The lift the car was on suddenly gave and the car crashed to the floor. Next to catch fire were tires, about 50 in all, most of them suspended from the ceiling of the combination lubrication room and repair shop.

By the time the fire department arrived, the whole station was blazing.

The fire had burned through a partition into the station office. Afterwards the two owners, Glauser and Melvin MacDougall, opened the cash box to find paper money had been reduced to ashes.

UNDER CONTROL

Chief Sousa said his men had the flames under control about 10 minutes after they arrived. They received the call at 9:52 a.m.

Altogether, 14 firemen, including four volunteers and sev-

Dead Skunk Found Rabid

Robinette shot the skunk after it charged at a Pacific Gas and Electric Co. worker on Atherton Avenue east of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad. The health department made tests on its brain and determined it was infected with rabies.

This was the 18th rabid animal found this year in Marin County—a record number since 1928, when 43 rabid animals were killed during the year. The previous high in recent years had been 11 rabid animals in 1955.

No report was yet available on whether a skunk shot Sunday by San Rafael Police Officer John A. Loane on Dellwood Court was rabid.

Radio Phone Service Firms Join Forces

Two firms seeking permission to start auto radio telephone service launched a California Public Utilities Commission hearing at the Marin Civic Center today by saying they plan to join forces.

At request of the firms' attorneys, PUC examiner John R. Gillanders postponed the hearing until 9:30 a.m. tomorrow, but first allowed an executive of another company to read a statement of protest against both applications.

San Francisco attorney Bruce R. Geernaert, representing Redwood Radio Telephone Corp., told Gillanders at the outset that his client had reached an agreement with the other applicant, United Ambulance Co. of San Rafael, to form a new company called Redwood Radio Telephone Corp. of Marin.

Half the stock in this new company, he said, will be owned by Daniel W. Cochran of Redwood and the other half by Angelo Turrini, owner of United Ambulance.

Uniter's attorney, Lester W. Spillane, said both original applications would be withdrawn. He asked that the hearing be recessed until tomorrow to work out details of the new arrangement.

Gillanders said he would accept the revised application, and would agree to the recess. To speed the proceedings, however, he instructed Jack G. Hofeld, vice president in charge of operations of ITT Mobile Telephones Inc., to read the statement he said his company wished to submit.

Stating that his company is equipped to extend its present San Francisco and East Bay service to Marin, and is working on an agreement with Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. to do so, Hofeld urged that the applications of Redwood and United be denied.

A motion by Spillane to strike the entire statement from the record, on grounds it contained unfounded speculation and opinion rather than facts, was denied.

Asked if they wished to cross-examine Hofeld, the two attorneys declined. But Ermet J. Macario, representing the PUC staff, said he would cross-examine Hofeld tomorrow.

The county planning commission's chambers have been reserved through Thursday for the hearing.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The California Supreme Court today ordered Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan to designate Pierre Salinger's occupation on the November ballot as U.S. Senator.

'Monstrous New Terrible Weapon,' Nikita Boasts

MOSCOW (UPI) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev today announced the Soviet Union has developed a "montrous new terrible weapon." He did not describe it.

Khrushchev made the announcement while addressing visiting Japanese lawmakers.

He also said any Peking attempt to change the Sino-Soviet border would lead to war.

Khrushchev told the Japanese that Soviet scientists showed him the new weapon yesterday.

"We do not want to use such terrible weapons and wee shall continue to press for peaceful coexistence and economic development which are the sole hope for mankind," he said.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Ford Offers Chrysler-Type Pact

DETROIT (AP)—The Ford Motor Co. has offered an economic package to the United Auto Workers union similar to an historic agreement worked out last week between the UAW and Chrysler.

The offer appeared to have cleared the path toward settlement on a new contract covering some 125,000 Ford workers without the pressure of a strike deadline.

Still to be discussed however, are the union's so-called non-economic demands, such as for improved working conditions—including additional relief time for workers on assembly lines.

Negroes Arrested On Riot Charges

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Philadelphia police arrested two Negro men and sought a woman on charges of inciting the rioting and looting that burst on north Philadelphia's Negro area just over two weeks ago.

Arrested last night were Abbyssinia Hayes, 34, who is known as Shaykh Muhammad, and Raymond Hall, 25, also known as Yussuf Abdullah. Police described them as members of an extreme Negro separatist movement. They were charged with conspiracy to riot, inciting to riot, and rioting.

Also sought, on similar charges, was a woman identified as Florence Mobley.

Cuban Revolution Seen In Year

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A revolution for Fidel Castro's overthrow "could happen within a year," says a former president of Cuba.

Dr. Manual Urrutia, who said he was designated president "by all the groups that fought Batista" but resigned because of Castro's "betrayal of his country to the Communists," told a news conference yesterday:

"At least 10 organizations in this country and in Latin America are beginning to work together to plan such an overthrow."

Husbands May Watch Delivery

The State Health Department's Hospital Advisory Board, meeting in Berkeley yesterday, approved a public health regulation change that would admit fathers.

Board members are hopeful the recommendation will be approved by the State Department of Health at its next meeting, Oct. 23.

Husbands have never been allowed in the delivery room except a few who got special permission from the hospital, doctor and the mother.

Pope Names New Bishops; Cardinal Fate Is Unsettled

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican and Communist Hungary signed an accord today giving the Vatican at least partial administrative authority over the Church in that country for the first time in 15 years. It paved the way also for the eventual transfer of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty to Rome.

Within minutes after the announcement, the Vatican Press Office said Pope Paul VI had named five new bishops and confirmed one selection by Pope John XXIII but never approved by Hungary.

NEW BISHOPS

Vatican officials said the timing indicated the appointment of the new bishops was part of the accord, and that Budapest had approved their nomination.

The Vatican has had no administrative direction over the Church in Hungary since the conviction of Cardinal Mindszenty on charges of treason 15 years ago.

But the status of the cardinal was left unsettled in the new accord, and Vatican sources stressed that he remained in refuge in the U.S. Legation in Budapest.

He took refuge there during the abortive Hungarian revolt of 1956.

The partial accord was regarded as a major step forward in relations between the church of Hungary, and could effect relations between the Church and other Communist countries, as well as between Washington and Budapest.

MADE 'CONFESSION'

The fate of the 72-year-old cardinal has figured in negotiations between the Church and the Communist regime, and also in talks between Washington and Budapest.

The trial of the cardinal in 1949 was a sensational one. He made a confession, but during his few days of freedom in 1956 he told an interviewer he had been tortured before the trial.

A firecely proud man, the cardinal has shown no intention of obtaining freedom at the expense of either his dignity, or that of the Roman Catholic Church.

A communique in the Vatican's L'Osservatore Romano announced the accord. The statement said envoys of the Vatican and Hungary had discussed the entire question of Church-state relations.

It added that both sides agreed to a binding document spelling out results achieved thus far.

Two Trainmen Die In Blaze

CLIFTON, Tex. (AP) — Flames engulfed the locomotive and two trainmen died as a passenger train hit a tank truck carrying 8,000 gallons of gasoline yesterday.

Kirby R. Vaughn, 71, of Temple, Tex., the engineer, and Leslie B. Himmelreich, 38, Cleburne, Tex., were killed. The truck driver, Aubrey Butler, 41, of Hubbard City, Tex., suffered burns.

None of the train's 81 passengers was hurt. The Santa Fe's Chief No. 16, was en route from Galveston to Chicago.

Draft Study Sampling Records To Get Status Of Inductee Pool

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government plans to analyze Selective Service histories of possibly 290,000 men as part of a massive study that could lead to a halt in the military draft.

Officials told The Associated Press today that Pentagon experts conducting the draft studies for President Lyndon B. Johnson have asked the Selective Service System to take a 1 per cent sample of the records of all men in the draft pool.

This involves men between 18 and one-half and 35. Selective Service headquarters said there are about 29 million men in that pool.

The purpose of the sample, authorities explained, will be to "get a more definitive view of the status of people within the pool," from which men are called for induction.

Among other things, the sample will seek to find out to what extent men have moved from one deferred classification to another, thus avoiding induction.

Men being drafted these days average about 22 years old. Roughly 100,000 men a year are inducted, all of them going into the Army.

A little-noticed request to Congress calls for $375,000 to finance the sampling job this fiscal year.

In another phase of the Johnson-ordered study, it was learned, the Census Bureau will make a special effort in its monthly survey of households to determinte the attitude of young men toward military service.

This, too, is to be done at the request of authorities conducting the draft study.

The draft study was ordered by Johnson last April. He said at the time it would consider alternatives, including "the possibility of meeting our requirements on an entirely voluntary basis in the next decade."

Storms Wipe Out Manned Space Flights This Year

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Lightning and hurricanes have dashed U.S. hopes for a manned space flight this year, Dr. George E. Mueller, National Aeronautics and Space Administration associate administrator, has announced.

The manned Gemini mission has been postponed from December to sometime in the first three months of 1965, Mueller said.

Astronauts Virgil I. Grissom and John W. Young have been selected to fly the two-man spacecraft in three orbits of the earth.

Mueller said lightning which struck the Gemini pad Aug. 17, damaging scores of electronic diodes in the Titan 2 rocket, and the dismantling of the rocket to protect it from hurricanes Cleo and Dora forced the delay.

The Titan 2 is to launch an unmanned Gemini spacecraft on a ballistic flight down the Atlantic. Data from this firing is required before a manned mission is attempted.

Mueller said the launch now is scheduled for the last three months in 1964. Most observers say November will be the soonest the rocket can be ready. It was re-erected yesterday.

Tito Stresses Red Bloc Unity

BUDAPEST, Hungary (UPI) — President Tito of Yugoslavia wound up a six-day visit to Hungary today, stressing unity with the Soviet block nations that once shunned him.

Tito and Hungarian Premier Janos Kadar prepared a final communique expected to announce increased trade and a common front against Communist China's militant policies.

The Yugoslav leader returns to Belgrade tomorrow and then move on to Sofia, Bulgaria, for talks with East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht, now visiting there, and Bulgarian leaders.

Bishops Work On Definition Of Sharing Papal Powers

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Given strong impetus by Pope Paul VI, tahe 2,500 Roman Catholic bishops of the Vatican Ecumenical Council started work today on a schema to define sharing of some Papal powers with the bishops.

The pontiff at the ceremonial opening of the council's third session Monday virtually commanded the prelates to clarify "the doctrine of the papacy which will place in its spendid light the role and mandate of the episcopate."

The schema, or topic, before the council at its working session today was titled "De Ecclesia" — on the nature of the church.

It has been considerably changed from the version that the council debated, through its first four chapters, at its second session last fall.

The council now must discuss the fifth and sixth chapters. It also will decide whether to accept or reject amendments offered for the first four chapters. Chapter five is on eschatology—the theology of death, judgment, heaven and hell — and chapter six on the place of the Virgin Mary in the Church.

The first four chapters are concerned chiefly with those who make up the Church — hierarchy and laymen.

Sources familiar with the schema say it puts collegiality — the sharing by all bishops with the Pope in governing the entire church — into precise terminology.

"De Ecclesia" goes into collegiality as a broad principle, almost a doctrinal basis, for further action in implementing new powers of the bishops. The 1869-70 Vatican Council had planned to make definitions on both papal primary and episcopal power as corollary themes. It ended, because the Italian nationalists seized the last papal states in Italy before the episcopal document was discussed.

The collegial concept is based on the idea that Christ founded the Church on St. Peter with the other apostles, not on St. Peter alone.

Morse Attacks Vietnam Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) renewed his attack on the Johnson administration's Vietnam policies in a Senate speech yesterday.

He accused the administration of withholding from the people "the facts about the war" and said "if we don't stop this flagrant violation of international law, I am convinced we are heading straight for a third international war."

Morse called Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Khanh a "military tyrant dictator, kept in power by the United States" and described the weekend coup against Khanh and its quick collapse "a tragic comedy."

Bracero Driver Murder Feared

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The driver of a bus involved in a crash with a train in which 32 Mexican farm workers died near Salinas a year ago may have been killed by vengeful relatives in Mexico, a Department of Motor Vehicles spokesman disclosed yesterday.

The spokesman, responding to charges that the department was negligent in issuing a license to the driver, Francisco Espinosa, 34, because he had tunnel vision, said investigators were told by the man's sister-in-law that he had fled to Mexico after being hounded by relatives of the dead braceros.

Espinosa was acquitted by a Salinas jury of manslaughter charges in the bus-train collision.

The sister-in-law, said Espinosa had gone to Mexico last January to escape threats, but was murdered by other relatives there.

Other Salinas residents testified they had not seen Espinosa in months.

The negligence charges were brought by Assemblyman Edward M. Gaffney, chairman of the Assembly Interim Committee on Industrial Safety. He said Espinosa was able to see straight ahead, but not on either side.

Gaffney said this made the department indirectly "partially responsible" for the accident.

"What the committee found out is that the State of California itself was lax in granting an operator's permit to a man who could not see a train approaching from the side, and who could not even speak English and give an accident report to the highway patrol," Gaffney said.

The state has already allowed $750,000 in workmen's compensation for families of the 32 braceros killed in the accident last Sept. 17. Widows wtih children received $20,500 while childless widows received $17,500 each.

BULLDOZERS BARE WALL WITHIN WALL

Demolition crew from Ira Corbun Co., contractor, knocks south end off San Rafael's E Street School building, exposing new wall which was built inside the former one before demolition. The building, now headquarters for San Rafael schools, continued in use as the bulldozers completed their work. Demolition and rebuilding were under a $24,700 contract, of which the City of San Rafael paid $6,300, and resulted from school district-city property exchange to make way for extending Third Street. City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen said the street extension work is expected to start soon after Jan. 1. (Independent-Journal photo)

Bagley Drubs Tax Proposal

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A Republican assemblyman said yesterday that a Brown administration proposal to consolidate state tax collections under one agency was an attempt to set up "an unholy triumverate."

Assemblyman William T. Bagley of San Rafael made the charge at a hearing before an almost empty committee room.

The subject being heard by a skeleton version of the Assembly Elections and Reapportionment Committee was a proposal that candidates for public office be required to report their campaign expenditures.

But Bagley and Committee Chairman Don A. Allen Sr. (D-Los Angeles) who could muster only one other member of his 11-man committee, got off the subject.

"We're making some progress," Allen said, referring to the state's inheritance tax appraisers who are appointed by the state controller — a system charged with giving a state controller a political machine. "It used to be a sort of joint venture between the governor and the controller."

Bagley fired back: "The governor wants to make it one again. He wants to set up an unholy triumverate of the controller, treasurer and governor so they can divvy up the patronage."

Bagley was referring to a proposal by Gov. Edmund G. Brown to create a state revenue agency to administer collection of state taxes and also appoint inheritance tax appraisers.

The inheritance tax appraisers were a key issue in the primary election race for the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate. The winner, Sen. Pierre Salinger, charged that his opponent, Controller Alan Cranston, created a machine out of the tax appraisers by pressuring contributions from them.

Cranston has denied it and filed a libel suit against Salinger.

The reporting bill being heard by the committee was authored by Bagley, and was identical to one supported by Brown but defeated by Allen's committee during the 1963 legislature. Bagley asked the governor to testify yesterday but no representatives for Brown appeared.

West Marin Enrollment Increases

Enrollment was up in three western Marin school districts on the opening day of classes yesterday.

But tiny Point Reyes School District had only seven pupils enrolled—half the attendance on the first day of school last year.

At one time last year Point Reyes had 18 pupils. Mrs. Ila M. Donovan, principal and only teacher in the school, said she is looking forward to working with a small number this year. Those enrolled are in grades 1-6.

West Marin School District enrolled 280—an increase of 16 over last year. Largest increase was in West Marin School, which has 215 pupils, 15 more than last year. Inverness School has 65.

A total of 205 attended first day classes at Tomales High School, up 25 over last year.

The Tomales Bay Union School District showed an increase of 15, all at Tomales Bay Elementary School, which enrolled 136. Marshall School enrollemnt remained the same, 19.

Redwood Dance Set

Redwood High School freshmen will attend the first dance of the 1964-65 freshman dance series Friday night in the school gymnasium. Dancing will be from 8 to 10 p.m. with music by a high school combo. Tickets will be sold at the door.

Train Hits Car; Driver Isn't Hurt

A Greenbrae man driving a 1962 model compact car escaped injury today when his vehicle tangled with a slow-moving diesel locomotive on Paradise Drive near Harbor Drive in Corte Madera.

J. Donovan Jacobs, 42, of 84 Almenar Drive told police he heard no whistle or bell from the locomotive before it hit the front of his eastbound car at 7 a.m.

He said his vision of the tracks was impaired by a pile of lumber, and the glare of the sun on his windshield prevented his seeing the railroad crossing signal.

Tam News Bureau

Marilyn Tracy and Richard Morrison, both of Mill Valley, have been appointed heads of the Tamalpais High School News Bureau. Miss Tracy is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted N. Tracy of 217 Richardson Drive and young Morrison is a son of Mrs. Patricia Morrison, 115 Corenlia Avenue.

Fairfax Withholding Payments To Pound

Still undecided about how to deal with the countywide uniform animal control ordinance, which its city attorney holds is illegal, the Fairfax City Council last night informally agreed to withhold payments to the county dog pound for the time being.

But at least one councilman appeared to have some doubts about holding back the money.

The city was about to adopt the ordinance some months ago when City Atty. Wallace S. Myers said he felt the stated $4 yearly dog license fee was a violation of state law, which sets limits of $3 for male or spayed dogs and $5 for females.

Last night, City Clerk Alice Leonesio said the city has been using county-supplied forms when it sells licenses "but we cross out the $4 and write in $3."

And Myers said he is "waiting for someone in San Anseimo, who has a dog, to challenge their ordinance through the courts."

Noting that the county has been paid some of the fees collected in Fairfax since the controversy arose, someone suggested that the county is "taking money under false pretenses" if it fails to provide services. Others, however, pointed out that the city has not yet signed an agreement with the pound. And councilmen differed as to whether the county has, indeed, failed to provide services.

Councilman Robert R. Souza urged that the city continue its payments. When the council paid its bills at the end of the meeting, however, a warrant made out to the pound was set aside.

Pesticide Talk

Marin County Agricultural Commissioner Richard T. Straw will discuss pesticides and their usage at the first fall meeting of the Marinwood Garden Club, scheduled for 8 p.m. tomorrow at the community center building on Miller Creek Road. The session was erroneously listed a week early in last Wednesday's Independent-Journal.

Bus Service Operator Is Hopeful

The operator of a trial bus service between Canal Street and downtown San Rafael said today the run is doing as well as can be expected — but that isn't very well.

Cecil J. Allen, owner of San Rafael-Richmond Bus Lines said, "It'll be six months before the line is self supporting and a year before it makes any money." Apartment owners in the Canal Street district are subsidizing the line, to cut the loss during the initial period of service.

"I consider that if we get two customers per trip we're doing all right," Allen said.

The bus being used on the run, which makes several stops on Canal Street and then goes direct to Third Street and Tamalpais Avenue, has a capacity of 12. Allen doesn't think he'll need more, even after a year.

The bus line operator said business should pick up after the apartment owners, who have formed a group called the East San Rafael Property Owners Assn., mail bus schedules to every apartment dweller in the area.

An official of the association, George Kaenel, said mailing of the schedules should be completed shortly.

The bus makes five trips daily from Canal Street to downtown San Rafael, leaving at 8:30, 10:15 and 11:15 a.m. and 1:30 and 3:45 p.m. It leaves downtown for Canal Street 15 minutes before it makes each trip from Canal Street downtown.

Opera Workshop Audition Tomorrow

A second audition for the College of Marin Opera Workshop will be held from 7 to 8 p.m. tomorrow in room 67 of the college art building, Peggy Donovan, director, announced today.

Singers should take a prepared work, preferably an operatic selection for the audition, she said. An accompanist will be present.

City Takes Control Of Building Proposals

Tiburon City Council last night approved an "urgency" zoning ordinance which means any contemplated commercial construction or change of use must first have city approval.

The ordinance, effective immediately, states that "no new use of land, buildings or structures" shall be established without their developers first getting a use permit which must be approved by the city planning commission and council, except for R-1 and A-2 zones. These zones cover single family residential and agricultural areas.

"I don't think in an R-2 zone right now anyone could build a dog house without the permission of the city council, said Councilman Fred C. Hannahs after passage of the ordinance.

The ordinance is a "temporary" one until "adequate and comprehensive zoning ordinance laws, regulations and a general plan" can be drawn up, its wording states.

The city, incorporated in June, took over county zoning regulations and has generally been following the county's general plan for the area.

The planning commission is interviewing representatives of planning firms, one of which will be hired by the city to review the general plan and zoning laws. Councilmen last week hired a zoning administrator-building inspector.

"An interim zoning ordinance does not freeze development . . . not a moratorium," said City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose.

Councilmen approved the ordinance unanimously, then went on to approve a use permit for construction of a building to house a restaurant, bar, travel agency and yacht brokerage office by Fred G. Zelinsky.

But the council linked its approval to Zelinsky's providing a detailed development plan which would include provision for customer parking. The building is planned for 1 Main Street in downtown Tiburon.

Two Hurricanes Still Around

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricanes Gladys and Ethel still flicked on Weather Bureau screens today, but their older sister Dora, killer of at least seven persons, no longer exists. Gladys stirred northeast of Porto Rico.

Forecasters predicted Gladys would continue to move west-northwest at 16 MPH for the next 24 hours and probably would gradually increase in intenisty.

Ethel, centered about 325 miles east-southeast of Cape Race, Newfoundland, spun at 30 MPH toward the northeast packing winds of 85 MPH.

TRIBUTE TO THE BOY SCOUTS

Action . . . that's what boys like. And Scouting in Marin has plenty of action, not mere activity. Personal fitness, for instance, has always been a basic in Scouting, a sound body developed by vigorous action.

The Marin Council, Boy Scouts of America, serves nearly 5000 boys a year under the leadership and guidance of 1700 volunteers in the Cub Scout, Boy Scout and Explorer programs. Thanks to the generous contributions of the citizens of this area, the Boy Scouts of Marin have two fine camps with a wide range of programs available. Camp Tamarancho and Marinsierra are among the finest camps anywhere in the country.

TV Antenna Service Called State Problem

Marin residents need protection when they subscribe to a master television antenna service, but the state should provide it, County Communications Supervisor J. Mansfield Lewis told the board of supervisors today.

The supervisors agreed, and voted to refer the problem to Assemblyman William T. Bagley and State Senator John F. McCarthy.

Lewis said the policy of granting encroachment permits for television cables does not give the county any control over the quality of service or engineering standards. In fact, he said, no engineering or quality standards have ever been set up.

The county probably could exercise control if it issued franchises, but policing the operations would be an expensive operation, and the county would probably have to handle all complaints about poor television, he continued.

Lewis said the problem is statewide, and state standards should be set. Jurisdiction should lie with the State Public Utilities Commission, but a change in the law is needed first, he said.

The board quickly voted to have the county counsel's office draw up a resolution to send to the legislators.

LYNDON

"I believe, and I think you believe," he said, "in a test-ban treaty that will save us from contaminating the milk of our children. I believe and I think you believe in the policy of good neighbor that will help those who want freedom to help themselves.

"I believe, and I think you believe, that one of the proudest moments of our history was when we wrote a Social Security bill on the law books of our nation."

Johnson apparently was attempting, without exactly saying so, to contrast his views in these fields with those of Goldwater. He never mentioned the Republican nominee by name.

He went on to say that "we must always be prepared to defend ourselves from any attack" and also to reason out our problems with any area of the world.

Pohnson's address to the machinists featured a plea for national unity in the face of a potentially divisive campaign. He said:

"Unity is our challenge. The prosperity of the many must not be sacrificed to the partainship of the few. The progress of all the people must not be victimized by the prejudices of any of the people."

The president was to tour Cape Kennedy for 90 minutes this afternoon before returning to the White House.

SHORELINE

Marin shore line, which is particularly scenic, could do a lot of damage." He said the damage may not be quite so severe in areas which are not so scenic.

Sen. J. Eugene McAteer (D-San Francisco), chairman, announced these two major goals for the commission:

1 .Ascertain public interest in San Francisco Bay and recommend appropriate legislation.

2. Determine the effect of further filling on navigation, fish and other water life, air and water pollution, and general public welfare.

Scott said mud flats may be ugly, but some are absolutely necessary to sustain wild life. He urged the commission to charter a plane and see for themselves the results of bay filling.

Senator McAteer asked Scott to give the commission a written definition of what he considers to be the public interest and the effects of bay filling.

The commission hired Joseph Bodovitz of Mill Valley as study director, and Robert H. Mendelsohn of San Francisco as assistant. Its next meeting will be at 9 a.m. next Tuesday in the same place. The commission must wind up its work and submit a recommendation to the legislature in January.

faces certain burial when the conferees meet.

The House last July 28 passed a bill to increase Social Security benefits. The Senate, on Sept. 3, passed this same bill and tacked on the long-stalled health care proposal which never has gotten through the House Ways and Means Committee.

This action meant that the Senate and the House had to reconcile differences on the Social Security bill. Normal procedure is to send such a measure to a House-Senate conference committee which seeks a version acceptable to both chambers.

Knowing that most of the conferees involved in the Social Security bill are opposed to medicare, Democratic backers of the health bill sought to bypass the conference and get a direct vote in the House on the Senate amendment.

King went before the House Rules Committee today to seek approval of this course, but gave up after admitting he was beginning to see "the facts of life."

Kings' announcement apparently closed the door on any possibility that Congress would take any real action on health care this year.

eral men on their day off, fought the blaze. Two pumpers were used to feed streams of water onto the burning service station.

Chief Sousa said his men worked under a serious hazard for several moments, when the flames engulfed a large drum of white gas on the station floor.

"Fortunately, it didn't go," said the chief ."If it had, burning gas would have gone everywhere."

The cement block walls and wooden roof of the building were still standing, but badly damaged—about $20,000 worth, the chief estimated. Inside the building, repair equipment, about $1,500 worth of tires, most of the supplies and furnishings were detsroyed.

Outside the building near the door were an automobile and a motorcycle belonging to the San Anselmo Police Department. Both were badly damaged.

Only part of the building not touched by fire was that containing the two rest rooms.

Chief Sousa said he did not know the origin of the spark which ignited the gasoline.

The Ross district seeks approval for a $350,000 bond issue to finance additions to the school.

Voters in both districts have turned down similar proposals previously — once in Ross and three times in the Larkspur district, which includes most of Corte Madera.

Polls will remain open in both districts until 8 p.m.

Ross School is the only polling place in the Ross district. In Larkspur district, polls are at San Clemente, Neil Cummins, Larkspur-Corte Madera and Henry C. Hall schools, and at the Corte Madera Recreation Center.

Rosary services will be recited at 8 p.m. at the Keaton Chapel, Wednesday Sept. 16. (9/15-16)

Summer Youth Park Work Pay Protested

Youngsters in the City of Mill Valley's summer youth work program believe they should receive more than $1 per hour for their work in cleaning parks, creeks and pathways, Park Supt. Joseph F. Penders told the city parks and recreation commission last night.

He said some cited that the minimum wage law is $1.25 per hour.

Another discouraging aspect of the program, Penders said, is that some of the boys think that "if you work for the city, you can take your time in doing your work."

It was agreed by the commission that these "problem areas" ing the program should be worked out with the Mayor's Youth Committee and Penders, reported Dean Meyer, chairman.

The commission discused the use of city tennis courts by residents outside Mill Valley and agreed to try to work out an arrangement whereby use might be policed by a blackboard for signups and possibly through hiring a weekend attendant.

A motion by Commissioner Thomas B. Lathrop to restrict use, to Mill Valleyans only died for lack of a second. There is now a sign posted at the courts saying Mill Valleyans have preference for use.

The commission agreed it will appoint a member to a county-wide council on recreation for the handicapped, after hearing a presentation on the subject by Kelvin J. Nelson, Marin County parks and recreation director.

Eldon Beck of Royston, Hanamoto, Mayes and Beck, landscape architects, told the commission his firm will have an exhibit on display at the Fall Arts Festival Oct. 10 and 11 on the proposed Old Mill Park development.

FAMILY BIKE

Looks Like Tot Can Get Ride

A Fairfax couple appeared to have won their campaign to get the city to change an ordinance so they can legally take their daughter for rides in the "passenger compartment" of the family bicycle.

City councilmen told Police Chief James Orr and City Atty. Wallace S. Meyer to work on a revision in the bicycle ordinance which would let an adult bicycle rider carry a passenger in a permanently attached, commercially sold tandem seat.

The request was submitted about three months ago by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Price of 131 Bothin Road, who said Mrs. Price took their small daughter for rides in such a seat for years until they realized she had been violating the ordinance. At that time, councilmen took a dim view of making any change.

After studying other cities' ordinances, Mr. and Mrs. Price returned last night. They cited a revision made in San Bruno't ordinance, in which commercial attachments were made legal while juvenile double-riding was still banned.

Told Fairfax not comparable to San Bruno because of the hilly terrain, Price retorted both San Francisco and Berkeley allow adults to carry youngsters in approved tandem seats.

"Well, safety is another matter. There are far more kids hurt riding loosely in the front seats of automobiles. It seems to me if people have the right to carry children in cars without strapping them in, we should have the right to take our child around on a bicycle, which is actually safer."

County Nurse To Continue Private School Services

A public health nurse will continue to give services to children in Marin's private and parochial schools, if the schools ask for it.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors today voted to appropriate $4,662 to hire another nurse after the county's chief nurse, Margaret Hoff, announced the service had been cut back because more time had to be spent on tuberculosis control.

Effect of the action was to give the County Health Department essentially what it asked for at budget time. At that time funds were appropriated to hire two additional clerks, but the supervisors said a nurse could be hired instead.

The clerks were hired, however, after health officer Carolyn B. Albrecht claimed paper work had piled up so much that efficiency was cut. Now the department will have both the nurse and the clerks.

Miss Hoff said there has been a 33 per cent increase in tuberculosis cases discovered in the county this year, and therefore the tuberculosis problem took top priority.

Main complaint on the cut in service to schools came from St. Rita's School in Fairfax.

Supervisor William D. Fusselman asked for the extra money. He was backed by Supervisor W. Leydecker, who said he had not realized at budget time there would be such a cut in services. Miss Hoff said she had mentioned the parochial school nurse would be "curtailed."

"That's not the same thing as a termination," objected Leydecker. Chairman William A. Gnoss said he, too, had not realized the effect of the budget action.

The health department was also instructed to report on the status of well baby clinics in the county, after Fairfax residents complained these had been reduced also.

County Administrator Alan Bruce said no budget cut had been made there, but Asst. Health Director Mary Tonelli said increased population has forced a reallocation of time.

State Districting Compromise Defeated

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate today defeated a compromise amendment on state legislative reapportionment aimed at clearing away the major stumbling block to adjournment of Congress. The vote was 42 to 40.

The compromise drafted by a group of so-called liberals was a mildly-worded statement to express the "sense of Congress" that the states be given "reasonable time" to comply with the Supreme Court ruling that their legislatures be apportioned on an equal population basis. It was not binding but merely reflected the sentiment of Congress in formal form.

Copter Crash Kills

TOKYO (AP)—Five members of Japan's defense force were killed today and one was seriously injured when an H-19 helicopter crashed into a rice field 40 miles west of Tokyo.

Improvement Clubs Set Charter Session

The Marin Federation of Improvement Clubs last night set Nov. 9 for the organizational meeting of groups interested in discussing formation of charter government for Marin County. The session will begin at 8 p.m. in the county courthouse.

The federation sponsored at meeting on the subject last spring, when it was agreed that nothing could be done until after the November elections.

School Meet Off

Because of the meeting on unification last night in Tomales, the regular meeting of the Tomales Bay School District board was postponed until Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Tomales Elementary School.

Child Center May Be Turned Over To County

The Marin City Child Care Center may be turned over to county supervision, Sausalito School District trustees agreed last night, provided stipulations in the agreement are carried out.

The center, now operated by the Sausalito district, is proposed to be handled by the County Welfare Department and county superintendent of schools office. Final decision on such a transfer must be approved by the board of supervisors.

Trustees received the annual report last night and it was announced that persons wishing copies may pick them up at the district office.

Regular meeting of the board on Sept. 28 had been canceled, said Supt. Marcus F. Davis, so trustees may meet that date at 8 p.m. with Mill Valley School District trustees at Old Mill School, Mill Valley, to discuss inter-district efforts to do something about racial imbalance at Manzanita School, Marin City.

Swimming Hole Water Cleaned

Nature's helper is a water flow inducer called the Aqua-Guard. Its function — to decontaminate the lake—is performed by stepping up the natural circulation of water when hot weather and heavy usage combine to form a breeding place for bacteria.

Utilizing a 10-horsepower submersible motor, the device has a displacement capacity of two million gallons per hour.

Vandals Hit Cars

Evy Winter reported to Mill Valley police last night that someone broke radio antennas and cracked the windshields of her 1958 Impala and 1961 Chevrolet while they were parked over the weekend at her home at 65 Ethel Avenue.

Arabian oryxes have adapted well to life in Arizona, under a project sponsored by the World Windlife Fund to safeguard species of animals and birds that face extermination.

Sausalito To Meet On 'Segregation'

Sausalito School District trustees agreed last night to meet Monday at 8 p.m. at the district office to set up a citizen advisory committee to study "de facto segregation" in the district.

The board discussed names for the committee last night but said they need more time to review the names before making a decision. Thirty-three names have been submitted.

Lake 'Monster' Sighted Again

KELOWNA, B.C. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Kerry of Kelowna reported they watched Ogopogo, the mysterious and unidentified "monster" of Okanagan Lake, swimming and diving for a mile down the lake till he disappeared near the Kelowna bridge.

Kerry said Ogo "looked very much like a seal head, although I thought I could make out two horns."

Juvenile Aide Gets Promotion

County Juvenile Hall Director David Fogel's promotion to the new position of director of institutions, with an immediate salary hike to $1,000 a month, was approved formally today by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Supervisor William D. Fusselman abstained, saying he was in favor of the program but was not convinced the salary should be so high. Approval was unanimous by the other four board members.

Hot, Cold In U.S.

NEW YORK (UPI)—The highest temperature reported yesterday to the U.S. Weather Bureau, excluding Alaska and Hawaii, was 104 at Imperial, Calif. The lowest reported this morning was 23 at Ironwood, Mich.

WHERE'S THE CENTER LINE? — This is what street striping on Fifth Avenue at Irwin Street looked like today. Some driver played a game across the wet paint of the center stripe immediately after it was painted by A and M Striping Co., with this result. The street striping is in similar condition on many of San Rafael's streets. (Independent-Journal photo)

Commercial Zoning For Store Denied

Commercial zoning at the southeast corner of Paradise and El Camino drives in Corte Madera to allow a grocery store was denied by the Corte Madera Planning Commission last night.

Many residents of the area appeared before the commission to express opposition to the plan presented by D. Hugh Gregory Coleman, according to Mrs. Betty Long, commission secretary.

Opposition was based on the availability of other property in the area which is zoned for commercial uses, and the danger to children of increased traffic which would be created by the store.

The commission also denied Mrs. Jeannie West a use permit for a 14-child nursery school at 529 Manzanita Avenue. Several neighbors opposed the plan on the basis of narrowness of the street adjacent to the school.

Use permit for a day care center for eight children at 10 Granada Drive, requested by Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Schneider, was approved. No protest to the application was presented, Mrs. Long said.

Public hearing on amendments to the town's ordinances on slope conservation was continued until 7:30 p.m. Oct. 7 at the town hall.

The commission directed the town's planning consultants, Livingston and Blayney, to include requirements for maximum one-acre lots for slope development, with maximum clearing for construction of 8,000 square feet, in the proposed amendments.

The consultants werer asked to include also a requirement for 22-foot wide streets in future hillside developments, with sidewalks where protection of the public safety demanded them.

Scheduled study of sign regulations and proposed revision of an ordinance regulating design review were postponed until the Oct. 7 meeting.

San Rafael Man Kills Rattler

A San Rafael man killed a 15-inch rattlesnake in his front yard yesterday.

Mrs. Alfred Olson of 2143 Fifth Avenue said she spotted the snake near her fireplace chimney, where she had earlier been pulling weeds.

Her son-in-law, Ned McFaddin of the same address, killed it with a shovel. It turned out to be a rattler with one rattle, she said.

Japanese Royal Wedding Slated

TOKYO (AP) — The royal wedding of Prince Yoshi and Hanake Tsugaru, 23, is officially scheduled for Sept. 30.

The deupty chamberlain of the imperial household notified the bride's parents of the date, set by Emperor Hirohito, today.

Firemen's Delegate

Aldo Paladini last night was chosen as delegate from the Novato Volunteer Firemen's Assn. to the California State Firemen's Assn. convention at San Luis Obispo, Sept. 27-Oct. 1. Paladini is president of the Novato volunteers.

Tomales High School Plans Due In Spring

Architect George Quesada last night told the Tomales High School District board that plans for rehabilitation of the high school buildings would be completed in time to call for bids next April or May, with the work to be done during the 1965 summer vacation.

Voters of the district last January approved a $175,000 bond issue to bring the buildings up to state earthquake proof standards.

Meeting Postponed

The Novato Sanitary District board did not meet as scheduled last night, but will meet Thursday night.

PUP GETS TO SOLE OF MATTER

Mrs. Kathleen Pabst asked Mill Valley police yesterday to do something about her neighbor's dog's diet.

Mrs. Pabst, who lives at 167 West Blithedale Avenue, complained that a dog belonging to S. C. Putney of 153 West Blithedale enters her home and chews up her soles.

Top Students Being Studied

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The California state colleges system has begun a study to find the best way of screening out the top third of the state's high school graduates — the maximum eligible for admission to its 18 campuses next year.

The top 40 per cent was eligible last year.

Computers will be used to determine tightened entrance requirements. The analysis will continue for perhaps 10 years to establish a more detailed profile of potentially successful students.

Notary Commissioned

Kentfield School Job Bids Sought

Kentfiel School District trustees last night authorized Supt. Howard D. Harmon to advertise for bids, to be opened Oct. 8, on the third addition to Wolfe Grade School.

Plans for alignment of the Wolfe Grade Road extension, presented by Donald R. Frost, county director of public works, were deemed acceptable by the board, although trustees would prefer not to have the extension, Harmon said today.

Payroll deductions for district employees participating in the Marin County Credit Union were approved. Installation of locked doors on fire extinguisher cabinets at the Greenbrae School and call for bids on tables for the new building at Wolfe Grade School were authorized.

The board approved hiring Mrs. Frank as secretary-receptionist at A. E. Kent School, and Leonard Clark, William Nishimura, Richard Trimble and Dale Strong as half-time custodians.

Senator Kennedy 'Home In December'

CHESHIRE, Mass. (AP)—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's doctors have promised that "he will be home in December in time to play Santa Claus," says his wife, Jean.

Mrs. Kennedy passed the word to 600 of the Democratic senator's supporters last night at a meeting in Cheshire, to open Kennedy's campaign for re-election.

City Sees Red On Striping Of Streets

San Rafael has the strangest street striping ever seen, and Walter Mick, supervisor of street maintenance for the city, is more than a little unhappy about it.

Not exactly happy, either, are Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles, Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa, City Mgr. Dan E. Anderson, members of the city council, and the A and M striping Co. of Petaluma, which has the $19,000 annual contract to paint stripes and lettering on San Rafael's streets, along with crosswalks and curb markings.

The street stripes run every which-way. But it's not the fault of A and M Striping Co. They no sooner get the stripes painted, Mick complained today, than along comes a car driver with a perverted sense of humor to drive back and forth in zig-zags across the fresh paint. Result: what should be center stripes are yellow treadprints that no driver could follow if he tried.

Up to now, nothing much has been done about it.

Police Chief Chiesa reported today his officers have turned one juvenile driver over to the probation department and two adults over to the district attorney for prosecution, and cited three others.

One of the adults, William J. Newman, 18, of 390 Peachstone Terrace, Marinwood, was fined $17 in Marin Municipal Court on Sept. 2 after pleading guilty to interfering with traffic devices. This charge was leveled because he picked up some traffic cones —not for driving across the wet-paint stripes.

The second adult formally charged, Clyde W. Tynes, 34, of Scenic Avenue, San Rafael, obtained a delay until Sept. 18 for setting date to enter a plea. He also is charged with interfering with traffic devices — again for allegedly picking up the cones.

Nobody has been charged with defacing public property.

Over a month ago, Rawles complained to the city council about lack of police cooperation with the street striping crew, which works nights. The council told Chiesa to take care of it.

City Manager Andersen said today the additional cost to the city of repainting the stripes after they have been defaced by the motoring vandals has not yet been computed. The $19,000 contract calls for the job to be done once. Doing it over comes extra.

Most of the painting has been completed. A and M Striping Co. hopes soon to be finished—if it can get any stripes down long enough for the paint to dry.

Edna Maguire School Bus Service Is Urged

Mill Valley School District trustees last night heard a request that bus service be provided Edna Maguire School students who live east of Elm Street and the county road.

Norman W. Dau of 84 Surrey Avenue, who made the request, stressed that it is dangerous for the children to walk to schoool since there are no sidewalks in the lowest East Blithedale Avenue-Camino Alto area.

Trustees said they have discussed the subject before with city councilmen and will continue to urge that sidewalks and stop lights be installed. Bus service is not provided students who live less than one and one-half miles from school.

The board agreed to dedicate a small, triangular piece of Hillside land for road purposes at Tamalpais Valley School. In return, Goheen enterprises has agreed to deed 4,000 square feet of flat ground to the district and to give about 20,000 cubic yards of fill to be placed on the marshy portion of the school site.

School Site Suggested For Library

The proposal that the City of Novato buy the former Grant School property from the State Division of Highways was revived last night.

Mrs. John Machado of 1424 Dawes Street suggested to the Novato Parks and Recreation Commission that the property, which has gone begging at three state auctions, be acquired as site for a city library.

The commission named Edmund Mahany, parks and recreation director, a one-man committee to look into the idea, and also to find out what the Novato Junior Chamber of Commerce has done toward its proposal for a library district. The Jaycees proposed such a district be formed to build a library in Harry Heifetz's Scottsdale development.

Novato carried on intermittent negotiations with the state to buy the Grant School property after it was declared surplus because of re-routing of the Highway 101 freeway. The negotiations fell through, however.

Mrs. Machado suggested they be renewed since the state has dropped the minimum price for the parcel of slightly over two acres, to $175,000.

Novato Planners Approve Nine Single Family Zones

The Novato Planning Commission last night approved single family zoning for nine subdivisions previously unzoned.

The commission instituted on its own initiative the rezoning for Benton Manor, Hillside Units 1 and 2, Kristin Hill Acres, Novato Pines, Rancho Marin, Tropicana Estates, Trumbul Unit 3, and Villa Maria. Its recommendation will now go to the city council.

The commission granted lot split permits to Emil Renati at Simmons Lane and San Marin Drive, K. D. N. Corp. in Kaden Court, Jack Caristi at Railroad Avenue and Hancock Street.

It approved rezoning from single to multiple family for a lot at 1025 Second Street, requested by Dunya Chernenko.

Orville E. Peterson was granted a permit to keep two horses on 28,000 square feet of land at 719 Lamont Avenue.

Five Windows Broken At Optimist Ball Park

Five windows were broken and several bleacher scaffoldings were scattered about last night at the Mill Valley Optimist Club ball park on city-owned project 17. Police estimated damage at $100.

Vandals removed the bleachers, breaking one, and used them to climb on top of the locker rooms. They broke two skylight windows, about three by six feet, plus three smaller windows. The damage was done between 3 p.m. yesterday and 8 a.m. today.

Man Is Arrested For Grand Theft

Morgan, who said he is in the electronics business, was taken to county jail, where he posted $2,750 bail. He was booked en route to San Jose. Police Chief Dan Terzich said that Morgan had also been arrested Sunday in Mill Valley on a bad check charge.

$45 Stolen From Unlocked Safe

Theft of $45 from the unlocked safe of Togs and Toys store in the Town and Country Shopping Center, Bel Aire, was reported yesterday to Marin County sheriff's officers by Mrs. Esther A. Cammann, a clerk.

Mrs. Cammann told sheriff's deputies that a woman in gold stretch pants entered the store with three men about 1:45 p.m. and attracted her attention by shopping in the children's department while her companions apparently took the money from the safe's cash box.

Lack Of Quorum

Regular meeting of the Kentfield Civic League board was canceled last night because of the lack of a quorum to conduct business, according to Allen G. Wright, president. Next meeting will be at 8 p.m. Oct. 12 at Gillis Realty, 818 College Avenue, Kentfield.

The Gals Get On The Phone For Lyndon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In addition to telephone, telegraph and television the Democrats now have enlisted one of the oldest forms of communication in their election campaign — tell-a-woman.

Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson and Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey launched a nationwide telephone campaign yesterday to help their husbands win. They spoke over a simultaneous conference call, supposed to be directed to one woman in each state and the District of Columbia. The purpose was to promote the "tell-a-friend" campaign.

Separate calls were made to Hawaii, Alaska and Biloxi, Miss.

Mrs. Johnson told her listeners, "It's been a very busy, action-filled nine months (in the White House). He's doing his best and he wants to thank you all for all you are doing."

Mrs. Humphrey told the women she knew they could "work miracles" with a telephone. She said that by calling 10 friends, who in turn would call 10 more, it could be pyramided to 1,000.

The initial teaching alphabet was first introduced in the United States in 1963.

Young Mill Valley Man Headed For Iran And Peace Corps Work

A 22-year-old Mill Valley man will leave San Francisco Sept. 23 on his way to a two-year assignment with the Peace Corps in Iran.

He is Timothy R. Thomas of 933 East Blithedale Avenue, who was graduated from University of California in Berkeley this June with a bachelor's degree in phychology.

He recently completed 10 weeks of the corps' "basic training" at Utah State University in Logan, Utah.

The training, he said, was "not extremely hard," but demanded much of the 63 volunteers' time. They worked 14 hours a day, five days a week, plus a half-day Saturdays. Training emphasized class-room instruction and physical education, as well as five hours daily instruction in Farsi, Iran's national language.

TIMOTHY R. THOMAS
With Peace Corps

As for the classroom work, it was impossible for the corps to give them anything which could apply too directly to their work, since no one knows exactly what each volunteer will be called upon to do until he or she gets there.

Thomas will be among a group whose specialty is termed "community development." This means he will be assigned to a village and will work with an employee of the Iranian government, doing "just about whatever is necessary in the village."

"The Iranian term for our job translates into something like 'all-purpose worker'," he said. "We might be doing any number of things, but most likely will help build a school or organize a clinic.

"Our main goal will be to get people started; after that, they can go ahead on their own. The tradition of being in the same place over 6,000 years is somewhat overbearing.

"We will be in a position to show them they can change their lives for the better."

But if Iran's ancient history makes it hard for its people to change, it also played a big part in Thomas's decision to go there instead of, say, Africa or Latin America.

"I wanted to go to a country with an extensive history, and I also wanted to pick one which had a chance for economic development—where civilization is established and there is a chance for rapid improvement," he said.

With one other Bay Area volunteer and one from Hawaii, he will fly to New York, where the entire group of 63 will board another plane to Tehran by way of Frankfurt, Germany.

Legion Post Plans Annual Fete Sunday

Annual barbecue-picnic of Wilkins Post 37, American Legion, is scheduled for Sunday at 37 Union Street, San Rafael.

Games will start at 1 p.m., and a chicken barbecue will be served at 4 p.m. Tickets are available from post commander William J. Wider of San Rafael.

Murphy Says Demos Troubled, On The Run

ANAHEIM (AP) — Republican senatorial candidate George Murphy says the Democrats are in trouble "and we have them on the run."

Democrats are having factional trouble on both national and state levels, he said yesterday, adding, "Watch the polls change."

Murphy told newsmen that public opinion polls showing President Lyndon B. Johnson ahead of Republican presidential candidate Barry Goldwater don't impress him.

"I think these polls are just a reflection of the opinion of the people talked to at a particular moment," he said.

Tape Player, Camera Reported Stolen

A Tiburon man told sheriff's deputies someone stole a stereo tape player, a camera and 21 tape recordings, valued at a total of $426, from his car Thursday night or early Friday.

James Koenig of 5 Circle Drive said the tape device designed for auto use, was worth $159. The camera, a Japanese make, was valued at $60 and the tapes were valued at $165.

The National Park Service, custodian of Ford's Theater in Washington, hopes to have the theater restored by April, 1966.

We can tell you this about the new automobiles coming to market for 1965:

No other new cars will be more dramatically changed, or better attuned to the new motoring age, than the '65 Ramblers.

These Ramblers are changed, but not for the sake of change.

They are changed to meet today's changing tastes, changing traffic, changing turnpike demands, changing car uses.

To meet the challenge of these changes, we designed three different kinds of Ramblers, in three different sizes, on three different wheelbases, in three different price ranges.

We powered these Ramblers with seven spectacular engines, Sixes and V-8s, including Torque Command, world's most advanced engine. Boosts both power and economy.

We put new brawn and heft into these Ramblers, new space inside, yet kept the famed easy handling, parking, maneuverability.

We added new features to the long list of extra-value features you get at no extra cost—added new sportiness and action—added new glamor models, including dazzling new convertibles in Ambassador and Classic

These new 1965 Ramblers you will see next week are Ramblers through and through—the most sensible Ramblers we have ever built.

But they are also the most spectacular Ramblers in history—spectacular in looks, size, beauty, performance.

Thus, they named themselves. They are The Sensible Spectaculars. No other words describe them better, more honestly.

When you see the new Ramblers on Wednesday, September 23—sit in them, drive them—you will understand the honesty of the name—The Sensible Spectaculars.

We invite you to see the 1965 Ramblers yourself—at your Rambler dealer, next week.

Bagley Carries Fight To End Spoils System

Both Republicans and Democrats generally agree that it's a good idea to consolidate the administration of taxes under a single Revenue Agency.

But just how to go about doing it is another thing. Gov. Edmund G. Brown's proposal, made last month, to set up a single Revenue Agency has already run up against some stumbling blocks.

One of them is Assemblyman William T. Bagley of San Rafael, who has been trying to eliminate the system of political appointments of inheritance tax appraisers by the State Controller.

Under the Department of Revenue, proposed by the governor, a three-member tax commission would head the department. The commission would include the State Controller, the State Treasurer, and a representative of the Governor (probably Finance Director Hale Champion).

This three-man commission, not the State Controller, would then appoint inheritance tax appraisers. State Controller Alan Cranston has come out in favor of that proposal.

In fact, Bagley calls it "a facade if not a fraud to deceive the public into thinking he (the Governor) is proposing a reorganization."

Under the proposed new setup, the three-man commission would merely divide up the job of appointing the inheritance tax appraisers. "Instead of being a single-headed creature, it becomes hydra-headed," Bagley charges.

Bagley appears determined to get rid of the old "spoils system" whereby one man or a three-man commission can hand out inheritance tax appraiser jobs to party faithfuls or men who contributed most to their campaigns.

Bagley's contention is that putting inheritance tax appraisers under civil service or under county assessors' jurisdiction would mean a savings of some $3 million. And he has figures from the state legislative analyst to back up his contention.

It's a pretty safe bet that when the Commission on State Governmental Organization and Economy (Little Hoover Commission) meets again, Assemblyman Bagley is going to be right in there fighting for abolition of appointive inheritance tax appraisers.

The Governor's plan to consolidate tax collection under one agency is good in concept. Bagley agrees. But he's not about to swallow this idea of merely shifting the power of political appointment from one man to a three-man commission.

Looks as if the Governor's new proposal for consolidation is headed for rough sailing.

POOR EXCUSE IS NO EXCUSE

Some motorists think up incredible reasons for justifying accidents in which they have been involved.

Here are some of the more bizarre explanations that have been offered to insurance companies by nimble-witted drivers:

1. "A pedestrian hit me and went under my car."
2. "Coming home, I drove into the wrong house and collided with a tree I haven't got."
3. "I collided with a stationary bus coming the other way."
4. "I consider that neither of us was to blame but if either was to blame the other one."

It is only too natural for any of us to be quick on the trigger when it comes to throwing the blame on others.

Such an approach, when it is not downright foolish, can be inconsiderate and often unjust.

Think before you speak and act. By weighing your actions in the light of what the Lord expects of you, you will be more likely to benefit everybody.

"But I tell you, that of every idle word men speak, they shall give account on the day of judgment."—(Matthew 12:36)

Grant me the wisdom, O Holy Spirit, to be fair and objective in my judgments.

CAMPGROUNDS SQUEEZED OUT

Financial Policies Threaten New Facilities In State Parks

By EDWIN S. CAPPS

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown and his administration are expressing shock at the number of persons turned away from state park camping facilities over the Labor Day weekend, and all summer.

Yet the financial policies of Brown's administration threaten to block the development of any new facilities in the existing park system. Facilities generally are campgrounds and these are the features being squeezed out by the financial pinch with Brown's budget-balancers.

THE GOVERNOR commented, in discussing Proposition 1, the 150-million-dollar bond issue on the November election ballot for beach and park purchase and development, that too many people were turned away from parks this summer.

Before the day was over, Charles A. DeTurk, director of parks and recreation, released a story on turn-away statistics from state parks. DeTurk said 5,340 families were refused admittance because the beach and park facilities were full over Labor Day weekend.

"IN AUGUST, 86,630 families were turned away from camping in state parks," DeTurk said.

The statements of Brown and DeTurk apparently were designed to assure the people that a "yes" vote on the 150-million - dollar bond issue would improve capacities at state parks.

Under the language of the bond issue, none of that 150 million dollars may be used for development on present units of the state park system. The 25 million dollars reserved for development must be spent entirely on new lands acquired with bond funds.

UNDER THE PRESENT set-up, a total of about six million dollars a year is earmarked in the state budget for beach and park development. However, the 1961 Legislature approved a law calling for full development of recreational facilities at state water project reservoirs — development during construction of the project.

But the Legislature did not provide any funds for development around the reservoirs. Brown's department of finance has been raiding the regular beach and park development funds for the separate program of reservoir development.

In other words, there is no chance for an increase in capacities of present parks unless new financing plans are found, whether the bond issue is approved or not.

Bay Moratorium 'Passes The Buck'

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The "conservationists" may think that they have won a battle in Sausalito, but to the average person who looks at the Arques-type fill, or tries to walk along the waterfront between Sausalito Marine's yard and the Associated pier there is nothing to preserve—a lot of junk, rat-ridden shacks and useless mud. Where is Mr. Gilliam's "shining expanse of water"?

It seems to this observer that this moratorium only postpones the decision, "passes the buck", and may lose to Sausalito the opportunity to work out something mutually satisfactory with architect John Lord King whose integrity, unfailing good taste and love of Marin are well known.

In fact to all of us who are deeply concerned with the future development of our county the name John King has always been synonymous with conservation.

Children Deserve Better Schools

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Re: Bond Issue for the Larkspur-Corte Madera Schools.

Many of the parents of this day and age hold to a philosophy that their children should have things better than they themselves did. I do not agree with this entirely, but in the field of education it is true. The whole world will be much more different for our children than it was for us. We cannot back up in time. Numbers themselves will not permit this.

I am of the opinion that this community needs and can afford better schools and more classrooms. It is said that whoever controls the purse strings of any unit of society can also control most actions of that society. Many of us complain that we have given too much economic control to the government already, but let us also consider that we have given more economic control to the children of today than to the government. Juvenile purchasing power actually makes a profound effect on the whole social behavior of this country. Parents have made this possible. Children can turn beatles into gods and millionaires. Yet when parents are asked to give their children something that will have a lasting beneficial effect for not only the children, but the country as well; they often shrug it off and say taxes are too high anyway, or they are too apathetic to bother to vote.

Those who are not parents still have a grave responsibility as citizens to provide better education for the future citizens of the United States. If our educational institutions are ill equipped also.

"In a Republic, ignorance is a crime." The fact is that if we do not provide the children of this community with the best education we can afford, then it is we who shall have committed the crime.

MARC Appreciates Merchants' Help

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Marin Aid to Retarded Children wishes to take this opportunity to publicly thank the merchants and businessmen of San Rafael and Novato who have so generously supported the advance sale of tickets for a benefit circus on Sept. 21 and 22 in Novato.

Through a misunderstanding, Novato merchants were erroneously informed that the event would be sponsored by the Novato Horsemen, Inc. In actuality, the circus will be presented by this group, who have willingly offered the use of their rodeo grounds at Bugeia and H Lane, in Novato, for the event. In addition, their membership has cheerfully given a great deal of time and effort in assuring that the benefit will be successful.

The money raised from this circus will help MARC continue to provide needed services for all retarded in Marin County, from equipment for the new classrooms at the County Hospital to hot lunches for needy students in special education.

Take Pride In American Heritage

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Sept. 17-23 will be Constitution Week according to a proclamation signed by President Johnson in April. This time of recollection of our heritage and the magnificent document our forefathers created is indeed a privilege when we consider that nearly half the world has been told to forget its past and its tradition....

In the last few years many Americans have become increasingly concerned about the United States' loss of prestige throughout the world. It is with this thought that our group is making a special effort to emphasize Constitution Week and the pride we can have in this document and the heritage it stands for.

Some of our activities in this direction will be to ask local officials to announce the week, give a Constitution quiz in one of the grade schools, and to have at least two window displays—one in San Rafael and one in Petaluma.

PAPER MAGNATE Sam Himmell tells about a wealthy financier who became the virtual slave of a reigning musical comedy queen. After squiring her aggressively for months, he decided to propose matrimony, but cautiously hired a private eye to shadow her for a spell to make sure she wasn't two - timing him. A fortnight later, he received this report: "Miss So-and-So enjoys a spotless reputation, and until this year her behavior has been exemplary. In recent months, however, she has wandered sadly from the paths of virtue, and is now being seen constantly with a banker who is said to be the biggest crook on Wall Street."

Khrushchev Has Splitting Headache With Communists

WASHINGTON—Talk about alliances being in disarray, the Communist world is something to behold—and is getting more so.

It's not going right for Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

He is implacably determined to have a summit meeting of Communist parties in Moscow Dec. 15 to dump Red China before Red China dumps the Soviet Union.

BUT SO FAR only seven of the 26 Communist delegations Mr. K. summoned to Moscow have accepted. Even most of the Kremlin's nearest satellites in Eastern Europe are either opposed or reluctant. Albania openly sides with Peking. Poland and Rumania have been telling Khrushchev that his summit project is a grave mistake, that it will only make the split worse.

Why do these Eastern European Communist regimes, which owe their very existence to the Soviet army, argue against and even hold out against the Khrushchev conference? What's a little conference among friends?

There is a reason and it makes some sense. Though they don't admit it openly, the Eastern European satellites do not want the Chinese-Soviet split settled—either way. They are not pro-Chinese, but they don't want to see the split made final and they don't want it repaired. They want it to continue indefinitely just as it is so that Moscow will have to court their favor to some degree and so they can have the maximum leverage with the Soviets.

THIS MANEUVERING by the satellites is only part of Khrushchev's current difficulties. And not the greatest.

On top of them comes the Togliatti bombshell, literally a death-bed explosion. The leader of the Italian Communist Party — widely respected by Communists for his courage and independence — was resting at Yalta and gathering his ideas for his conference with Khrushchev over the projected summit. Unfortunately for the Soviets, he finished writing them down a few hours before he was fatally stricken.

More trouble for Mr. K.

NOT ONLY DO THE Italian Communists oppose the Khrushchev meeting to read the Chinese out of the movement, but even more disconcerting, they want to keep Khrushchev from consolidating his Soviet-controlled Communist International. Here is what the Italians are saying:

"We would be against any proposal to create once again a centralized international organization."

What the Italians want is independence among Communist states and equality between Communist parties. They pay lip service to "the unity of our movement," but what they really want is a kind of third Communist force unaligned with either Peking or Moscow and playing each for anything they can get.

This is the kind of national communism a la Tito which the Kremlin abhors. This is the kind of Communist diversity which undercuts Moscow's ability to use the Communist parties as an instrument of Soviet policy.

THE OUTLOOK FOR the Khrushchev summit is increasingly dim. If he has to call it off, he will lose face and prestige. If he goes through with it, the Communist world will be further divided.

It will be divided three ways. There will be Peking and its followers; there will be Moscow and its satellites; there will be nationalist Communist parties in Italy, Yugoslavia and elsewhere—a worldwide fractionalizing of the Communist movement.

The Togliatti memorandum hits Khrushchev at two other sore points. It blames him for covering up weaknesses in the Communist movement. It criticizes him for not ridding the Soviet Union more rapidly of Stalinist repressions.

The Khrushchev summit, if it is held, will be shot through with Communist disunity.

Tax Money Helps Kennedy Campaign

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The hotly contested New York Senate race could easily become the most costly campaign in congressional history for everyone involved—including the American taxpayers.

While neither GOP Sen. Kenneth Keating nor Robert Kennedy, his Democratic challenger, are talking in public about the high costs, their political strategists are privately saying that the total campaign spending could easily top five million dollars.

The latest campaign plans of Senator Keating call for spending nearly two million dollars, while the confidential estimate of the well-financed Kennedy staff runs to more than three million dollars.

AND THAT'S NOT all of the money being spent to turn out the vote in this crucial election.

While few taxpayers or members of Congress realize it, tens of thousands of dollars in federal funds are being pumped into Harlem in an unprecedented vote registration project, designed to register the more than 50 per cent of persons over 21 who have never voted.

Under the tight supervision of Haryou-Act, a semi-private organization handling millions in federal, state and private funds to fight poverty and juvenile delinquency, taxpayer funds are being used to set up neighborhood centers for voter registration drives.

THIS CONTROVERSIAL project, which already has produced some startling results in increased Democratic registrations in Harlem, is the brain-child of Kennedy and David Hackett, former executive director of the President's Committee on Juvenile Delinquency, which the former attorney general headed before he resigned.

Hackett, who skillfully sold the project to the Harlem organization, is now on Kennedy's New York campaign staff, master-minding the drive to register and get out the New York Negro vote for Bobby.

Before departing from Washington last week, Hackett told a caller that the Haryou-Act project was tailor-made to get out a heavy Negro vote for Kennedy in Harlem.

HE ALSO REVEALED that the Haryou-Act group, which is seeking 118 million dollars in state and federal funds for its three-year project, will soon receive a new million-dollar grant from the federal government.

The amount of this grant that will go into the registration drive is not known. However, there are estimates that nearly $50,000, and maybe more, already has gone into this project.

Senator Keating's campaign aides, who plan to raise some explosive questions about the Kennedy-Hackett project, are now seeking to determine whether the General Accounting Office has ever passed on the legality of spending funds to fight juvenile delinquency in this manner.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By JAMES K. WILLWERTH

Today's Progress Truly Based On What's Learned In School

It's the jet age.

Salk vaccine, space travel, silent submarines, and every imaginable type of progress make America a land of glittering affluence.

IT'S BEAUTIFUL . . . in fact, it's amazing. It is also tragic.

The tragedy is that all this progress serves only to highlight a certain ignorance inherent in people. One simple statistic in Marin County illustrates this fact.

Last year, Marin County voters turned thumbs down on six out of nine school bond elections. Yet to come are three more. Will residents enforce the two-thirds mortality rate again?

The problem is simple. The village idiot knows you can't build a better mousetrap without some mechanical knowledge. The world needs more food, more medicine, and more progress. We need doctors, research scientists, specialists and political leaders.

What we need to start is more education.

Just as you build a rocket from the ground up, education must sprout the same way. It begins in a classroom when a child is delighted to learn that Dick and Jane have a dog named Spot.

BUT WHEN YOU crowd 35 children in there, pay a teacher poor wages to instruct them, and combine two classrooms into one, the process loses something.

How do you build a better rocket if no one cares. And no one does care in the end, if not properly educated in the beginning. The key to progress is thus education.

Unfortunately, the key is padlocked by a certain ignorance, perhaps vindictiveness, of the average voter who refuses to let his school expand. He pays his federal, state, sales, inheritance, excise, and local taxes grudgingly with a grimace that resembles the Chinese coolie hauling bricks to the Great Wall.

Yet he pays them.

NEXT, HE HEARS that the school down the road is about to expand "once again"—this time asking $400,000 for the trouble. The last straw? Perhaps.

The voter equates government taxes with patriotism, order and a host of other things to make paying easier. But "when I was younger," he mutters, "schools weren't so dad-burned fancy." So why pay for more frills?

Such simple logic gives ulcers to school superintendents, who growl the words "second try" and "third time around" during sleepless nights.

Today, Ross Elementary District is making a "second try" — this time for $350,000. Last April, they tried $400,000, but missed. Instead, the district rented two portable classrooms to house the student overflow.

Larkspur School District also is trying today for $476,000 — the third time around. Larkspur-Corte Madera School now uses its shop and library for class space. Even if the bond is passed, admits principal Gilbert Slusher, construction will not be finished in time to avoid double sessions.

Fairfax School District, which has already entered double sessions for low grades at Deer Park and Manor schools, attempts a $500,000 bond Nov. 3. This is their second time this year.

WHY DO VOTERS turn down school needs? Bond issues are proposed by unpaid trustees who share the same tax burdens as everyone else. They seek no benefit for themselves, except perhaps an intangible one.

And that benefit is for all. It is the warmly pleasant feeling knowing that the next generation has the best facilities available to help itself. Through education, today's children will grow up equipped to benefit their community and loved ones.

Even in the jet age, it's a nice feeling.

Life Would Be Much Simpler For Men If Women Wore Badges

I don't mean a badge that says, "I am a woman."

What I mean is a badge that would tell what kind of a woman she was—so a man would know on sight just how to treat her.

IN THE WAR between the sexes, women, for all practical purposes, can be divided into three types. Most of man's bewilderment, confusion or absolute dismay in his contacts with a member of the opposing sex is caused by the fact he isn't sure just what type she is.

These are the three types of women:

1. The superwoman who thinks she is better than any man.

2. The shrewd conniver. She demands equal rights with men, but also expects all the special privileges historically accorded ladies.

3. The clinging vine woman. All she wants from a man is everything he has—plus whatever he can borrow at the bank.

IT WOULD MAKE for a more ordered world, I submit, if each of these feminine types would wear identifying badges—at least in public.

For the superwoman, I suggest a lapel pin showing a spiked heel crushing a worm. The worm, of course, symbolizes man.

When a fellow saw that badge he would realize instantly:

"Here is a gal who knows more about any topic in the world than I could ever possibly learn.

"Here is a gal who could pin me in a wrestling match, outride me on horseback, or beat me in a gun duel.

"No matter what she says, I will reply, 'Yes, ma'am.'"

FOR THE SECOND type, the shrewd conniver, a proper symbol might be a feminine Janus head, with its two faces looking in opposite directions.

When a fellow saw that badge, he would say to himself:

"She's the dependent independent type.

"She wants to compete with me for my job, which she thinks she can do better.

"But if we go out together for a business lunch, she will be too weak to pick up the check. She will also expect me to pay for the cab there and back.

"If it rains, she will expect me to hold my umbrella over her head while my head gets wet."

FOR THE THIRD feminine type, the clinging vine, an excellent symbol might be a startled fawn standing in a cradle.

When a fellow saw that badge, he would think:

"She is as helpless as a bundle of wet wash.

"She expects me to put her on a pedestal.

"It would be fun to cuddle this little baby, but if I marry her I'll have to spoon-feed her, do the dishes, and spend the rest of my life wiping her tears away."

Yes, it would be a far, far better world for men if women wore identifying badges. But they never will. That's the trouble with the unfair sex. They never give fair warning.

American Eagle Statues Stolen

Two three-foot statues of the American eagle were stolen from a Kentfield woman's driveway Saturday, she told sheriff's officers.

Mrs. Edith Jimenez of 8 Cypress Avenue told deputies it was the second time one of the statues had been stolen. After its recovery the first time, both eagles were cemented to the posts.

She placed a value of $500 on the stolen statues.

Tiburon Still Split On Planning Sessions

Tiburon city councilmen again were split last night on whether they should attend city planning commission meetings.

Councilman Anne L. Ellyinwood said she did not want the council to adjourn to tonight because she planned to attend a planning commission meeting at which planning firm representatives were to be interviewed. She urged other councilmen to attend.

Councilman Leo Souza answered that he believed the consensus of council opinion was that councilmen should stay away from planning commission meetings. Councilman John S. Hoffmire agreed.

Hoffmire and Miss Ellinwood were still arguing the point when the meeting adjourned, and continued their discussion for minutes later.

Four councilmen on Aug. 27 seemed in general agreement, but took no official action, that councilmen should stay away from planning commission meetings, since the planning commission is a distinct deliberative body and council comments at meetings seemingly rattled commissioners. Miss Ellinwood did not agree.

Board Accepts $6,000 For Rancho School Property

The Novato Unified School District Board last night accepted a $6,000 bid from the heirs of Edith Connell for a portion of the Rancho School property on South Novato Boulevard. It was the only bid received.

The Connells sold the school district land behind their house and south of Arroyo Vichi Creek to square out the Rancho School site and in turn bought the strip from the district. The district will pay Connells $29,000 for their property.

Paul Mobley, assistant superintendent in charge of instruction, reported the district had an increase of 578 in enrollment, or 12.4 per cent, over last year. Total enrollment in the district is 5,220.

Trustees authorized adding a first grade teacher at Olive School and a sixth grade teacher at Rancho School to take care of the overload in these two classes. There is one empty classroom in each school. It also authorized increasing kindergarten class size from 30 to 32 per class or 64 per day to take 41 kindergarten children who are on the waiting list.

The Novato School Board Also:

1. Dedicated 15 feet to Marin County for street widening on Sutro Avenue in front of Pleasant Valley School. This is the first school in the district which is outside the Novato city limits. Board president William Kirk suggested that in the future, the district annex the school site to the city.

2. Hired Robert E. Condon to teach electronics at the high school; Arthur Dennett as head custodian at the high school on a temporary basis; Bobbie Rhodes as Dennett's replacement, and Michael Doyle as custodian at Rancho School; Virginia Nelson as school secretary; Margaret Curtis as assistant cook, and Mae Haught and Audrey Cowen as noon recreation aides. The board also approved step increases for 32 teachers.

3. Authorized purchase of $2,000 worth of musical instruments for Novato High School.

4. Approved paying $5 per hour for adult and home instructors and $22 per day for temporary substitutes.

5. Approved "Human Physiology" by G. F. Morrison, "Modern Earth Science" by W. L. Ramsey, and "High School Journalism" by Harold Spears for high school texts.

McCarthy Will Open Quarters

State Sen. John F. McCarthy's campaign headquarters will open Saturday noon in San Rafael with a public reception, campaign chairman Raymond H. Shone announced today.

The headquarters of the Committee to Re-elect Senator McCarthy is located at 922 Irwin Street, San Rafael.

"Everyone is invited to the reception from noon to 3 p.m. at the headquarters," said Shone. "The headquarters opening will begin an intensive six weeks of campaigning."

McCarthy, Senate minority leader, won his Senate seat in 1950 and has served continuously since then. He will be opposed in November by Democrat Vera Schultz of Mill Valley.

Girl Is In Coma After Car Crash

Pat Lewis, 21, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Ruane of 42 Azalia Avenue, Fairfax, is in a coma from injuries suffered in an automobile accident in San Mateo County Saturday morning.

She was a passenger in a car, which crashed with another on Alemany Boulevard in San Mateo County. Miss Lewis suffered severe head injuries and was taken to Peninsula Hospital in Burlingame.

Kay Pritchard, who attended Drake High School with Miss Lewis, was also in the car. The extent of her injuries was not known.

Mrs. Kennedy Goes Boating

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy, who moved to New York City to get the privacy she couldn't find in Washington, went boating in the middle of town and caused hardly a ripple.

Mrs. Kennedy handled the oars. John sat in the stern and shouted encouragement. Caroline spent the cruise bouncing from bow to midships.

World Peace Day

A former Marin artist, Thomas Burke of Daly City, will address members of the San Rafael Baha'i Assembly when the group observes World Peace Day at 8:30 p.m. Thursday at the Jewish Community Center, 1618 Mission Avenue, San Rafael.

Nuclear Sub Plan

THE HAGUE (UPI)—Holland's new budget, published today, includes funds earmarked for cooperation with the United States in the construction of at least two nuclear submarines. Details of the plan are secret.

Burglar Outruns Sausalito Officer

Kelly, en route to work on the graveyard shift, said he saw a man at the service station, noticed the window was broken and the man was reaching into it. Kelly said he "took off" after the young man, chasing him toward Caledonia Street, where the man disappeared. He called the police station and other officers responded and searched the area unsuccessfully. The window had been broken with a rock, police said.

Convicts Escape At Prison Camp

San Quentin Prison reported today that two convicts escaped from the Clear Creek Conservation Camp near the Oregon border last night.

Associate Warden Dale B. Frady said both men, wearing blue denim work clothes, left the road crew camp and disappeared into bush country, 75 miles from the nearest large community, Eureka.

The men are Veat D. Neal, 33, serving five years to life for first degree robbery and six months to 15 years for second degree burglary, and Wallace C. Hakes, 47, serving five years to life for second degree murder.

Trio Sentenced On Novato Theft

Three youths were placed on three years probation and fined $250 each yesterday in Marin Superior Court on their guilty pleas to the March 15 burglary of a Novato shoe store.

Novato School Board Names Coaches, Department Heads

The Novato Unified School District board last night approved assignments of coaches and department chairmen for the new school year, with salary increases from $100 to $360.

Named football coaches were: Marlin Olsen, head varsity; Harry Moore, assistant varsity; Robert Aune, junior varsity; Albert Scott, assistant junior varsity, Fred Rodack, freshman, and John Panagakis, assistant freshman. Basketball coaches: John Panagakis, varsity; Randh English, B teams; Normile Hannon, freshman, and Marlin Olsen, junior varsity. Baseball: Harry Moore, varsity; Robert Aune, junior varsity, and Lee Hilton, freshman.

Other coaches named were: tennis, Jerry Moore; golf, Normile Hannon; wrestling and swimming, Ralph Cutler, and Girl's Athletic Assn., Jan Hunninghaus, Diane Conlin and Virginia Bertolli.

Named department chairmen were: Jerry Barnacle, industrial arts; Robert Berger, mathematics; Ralph Cutler, physical education; Ray Denegri, foreign language; Alton Fountain, business; Ben Hicks, science; Rosemary Barker, social studies, and Don Carr, English.

Don Carr and Bernice Severance were named on drama productions, and John Yardes, band and chorus.

Vera Schultz Dinner Slated

Gov. Edmund G. Brown will come to Marin on Oct. 1 for a personal endorsement of Democratic senatorial candidate Vera Schultz of Mill Valley.

The governor will speak at a dinner sponsored by the Vera Schultz for State Senator Committee at Dominic's Restaurant in San Rafael.

Dinner chairman is Mrs. Jules Becker. Tickets and reservations are available at Vera Schultz headquarters, Keystone Building, Mill Valley; at Democratic Headquarters, Second and Brooks streets, San Rafael, and from campaign executive committee members, Peter Allen Smith, Philip Ehrlich, Hadden Roth, and Mrs. George Culler.

Sea Water May Be Used To Fight Fire In Bolinas

Sea water may be used to fight fires in the Wharf Road area of Bolinas.

Bolinas Fire Protection District commissioners last night named Fire Chief Elias Rempelos as head of a committee to investigate installation of a hydrant to draw sea water for fire fighting.

There are fresh water hydrants in the area but the sea hydrant would be larger and would be an extra water source, said James Dougan, commission chairman.

Commissioners authorized obtaining the district's first radio to be placed on a fire truck. It is to be leased from the County of Marin for about $150 a year. The district has one fire radio, tied in with county communications, at the home of Sherman Smith, county fire warden.

Young Bicyclist Hurt In Accident

A young bicyclist, who admitted not heeding a stop sign before turning onto the eastern frontage road of Highway 101 from Ricardo Road in Strawberry, was treated for multiple bruises yesterday at Marin General Hospital after his bike was hit in the rear by a car.

The boy, MiCuael Stanford Bergstrom, 13, of 242 Reed Boulevard, Mill Valley, told California highway patrolmen that he did not see the car, driven by Lawrence Lee Young, 34, of 99 Janet Way, Tiburon, before he bicycled onto the frontage road.

2 Planners Named In Swift Action

A man and a woman were appointed to the Fairfax Planning Commission last night in action so swift that one city councilman questioned whether other prospective appointees had been given a fair chance.

Mayor Cornelis Van Vliet introduced the names of Fred Conkie of 88 Wood Lane and Mrs. Harold H. Taft of 104 Crest Road at the outset of last night's meeting.

His nominations were quickly seconded by Councilman George A. Pagni, and City Clerk Alice Leonesio had begun the roll call vote before Councilman Robert R. Sousa could inject his comments.

"Wait a minute!" he said. "Were any other applications submitted? I know some interested citizens, and I wonder if we couldn't wait for another meeting before we fill these vacancies."

"They have been vacant for several weeks now, and I want to fill them up," replied Van Vliet.

"Well, if this is what the council wants, it is all right with me," said Souza. "But I just wanted to make the point that I thought we should have given consideration to a wider group of interested persons."

"These people are interested, believe me," said Van Vliet.

Commenting that "I respect your judgment, but I just wanted to make my point," Sousa concurred in the unanimous vote which followed.

Mrs. Taft will take the seat vacated by resigning commissioner Jimps Wilcox, while Conkie will fill a newly created position.

Britain Has New Daily Newspaper

LONDON (AP) — The Sun, billing itself as Britain's first popular new daily in 34 years, hit the newsstands today with 3.5 million copies aimed at the nation's affluent postwar generation.

Housing Act, Pay Television Pros, Cons Aired In Marin

About 40 citizens heard arguments for and against Propositions 14 (housing amendment) and 15 (anti-pay television) last night at Gate Theater in Sausalito.

The discussion was sponsored by the Sausalito Democratic Club. James E. Pockrus, Democratic candidate for the Seventh Assembly District (Marin-Sonoma), was moderator.

George Edsel, a real estate broker from Pacifica, spoke in favor of Proposition 14, the amendment which would outlaw the Rumford Act and other "fair housing" legislation.

John Barth, a public relations man for Citizens Committee for Free TV, defended Proposition 15, which would outlaw pay television, opposed Proposition 15.

Tamalpais High Vote Committee Is Named

Stuck Horn Foils Car Clout Try

Margorie D. Bain of 310 Laurel Place, San Rafael, heard her car horn sound and went to investigate. The horn ring had been pried off with a wrench, which lay in the seat.

The would-be thief, however, had left.

Seminary Student

Rev. Joseph Meagor Jr. of San Anselmo was among 129 new students enrolled this week-end at Andover Newton Theological School, Newton Center, Mass. He is a son of Joseph C. Meagor of 5 Laurel Avenue and Mrs. Elsie N. Meagor of 185 Morningside Drive, both San Anselmo.

POLITICAL BRIEFS

Proposition 14 Will Be Debated Sept. 28

A pro and con debate on Proposition 14, the housing amendment, will be held at Lucas Valley Community Center on Sept. 28.

The discussion, sponsored by the Upper Lucas Valley Homeowners Assn., is set for 8 p.m.

Arlene Lind, publicity chairman for the association, said speakers will be announced later.

VICTORY SAIL

"Sailing to Victory" will be the theme of the Marin Republican Ball, which will be held on Oct. 2 at Corinthian Yacht Club in Tiburon.

Rodgers C. Broomhead, chairman of the event for the sponsoring Marin Republican Council, announced this will be the GOP's top fund-raising event in Marin. Refreshments will be served at 7 p.m., with a buffet dinner at 8:30. The Bob Olney group will furnish music for dancing.

Tickets are $20 per couple, and sponsor tickets are $50 per couple.

SCHULTZ TALK

Vera Schultz of Mill Valley, Democratic candidate for State Senate, will address the American Assn. of University Women at the home of Mrs. Marjorie Mowat in Novato Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Schultz will speak on "Saving San Francisco Bay."

McCABE ON 14

"Unlike by Republican opponent, I am willing and anxious to take a stand on one of the most crucial issues of this century," McCabe declared Saturday at the opening of Democratic Headquarters in Novato.

McCabe said he opposed "the anti-Rumford, unfair housing initiative" because it would repeal all legislation dealing with fairness in housing."

Fairfax Council Skips Budget Adoption

If any of the 15 or 20 persons who attended last night's session of the Fairfax City Council went to see councilmen adopt a 1964-65 budget, they were disappointed.

After getting embroiled in long discussions over several other matters, the council turned down a request by Glenn Evers of 1780 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard for a permit to build a home on Holly Road near Scenic Road.

The vote change, with Councilman Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. switching from "no" to "yes" came after councilmen agreed to add the words "unless plans are submitted to meet with the approval of the fire chief." Councilman George A. Pagni mulled it over, then let his "no" vote stand.

Fire Chief Charles M. Thornton said the man should pay for installing a six-inch water main and fire hydrant if he planned to face the house toward Holly, but that he would be protected if he changed his plan to face it on Scenic.

Evers, however, contended such a change "would make no sense" and said he would look for a new building site.

The Fairfax City Council Also:

1. Authorized Public Works Director Richard Nelson to spend up to $180 to place seal coat and striping on the privately owned parking lot next to the Fairfax Fine Arts Theater, which the owners have allowed commuters to use under an unwritten agreement. Councilmen considered, but rejected, the thought that the agreement should be put in writing.

2. Decided to ask the planning commission for a progress report on previously discussed plans for setting up an architectural review procedure. This was prompted by receipt of a resolution from the Fairfax Merchants Assn. urging creation of a review commission.

3. Agreed it had no objections to putting metal plates on the city's new litter containers giving the merchants credit for their purchase, if the merchants would have such plates made.

4. Adopted the city's winter recreation schedule, submitted by recreation director Nyal D. Wornham, including "family nights" on Wednesday and a tentative plan for weekly judo lessons, which Wornham and attorney Myers assured the council could be undertaken with no city liability in case of accidental injury.

Red Cross To Hold Dinner Meeting

The Marin County Red Cross will hold its 52nd annual dinner meeting and recognition ceremony at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 23 in the Peacock Gap Country Club, San Rafael.

The main speaker at the meeting will be the director of public relations of the Carnation Company of Los Angeles, Wallace Jamie. Master of ceremonies will be William H. Johnson, a member of the board of governors of the American Red Cross.

Signup Dates Set By San Rafael Chorale

Enrollment for the Winifred Baker Chorale will be held in Angelico Hall of Dominican College, San Rafael, at 7 p.m. Wednesday and Sept. 23 and 30.

The group, open to both men and women, rehearses each Wednesday evening and presents two major concerts each season.

Sausalito Council To Discuss Water Need

A report on the condition of the privately owned water system on Wolfback Ridge will be made to the Sausalito City Council by City Mgr. Charles A. Brown at the council meeting at 8 p.m. today.

Greyhound Bus Line's request for a 20 per cent boost in commuter rates will be reported by a council subcommittee.

1 large onion
1 clove garlic
1 fresh tomato
1½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
½ tsp. celery
1-lb. fresh green beans
Cut pork shoulder in cubes and coat surfaces with flour. Brown cubes on all sides in melted shortening. Cut onion in thin slices, chop garlic fine and add to pork along with tomato, salt, pepper and rosemary. Bring to a boil, reduce heat, cover and cook slowly for about 45 minutes. Stir occasionally. Add a little water if necessary to prevent sticking. Meanwhile, clean green beans and cut in thin diagonal strips. Add to pork mixture and cook 25 minutes longer. Serves 6. Serve with fluffy rice and pass the soy sauce.
GINGER COOKIES
Cream ¾ cup butter or margarine with 1 cup granulated sugar 'til light. Add 1 egg and 2 tbsp. molasses; beat well. Sift 2 cups flour with 1 tsp. each ginger, cinnamon, and salt, ½ tsp. cloves and 1½ tsp. soda. Blend thoroughly. Shape dough into balls about an inch in diameter. Dip top sides in granulated sugar and place on lightly-greased cook sheet. Bake 350° 12 minutes or until lightly browned. Makes 3 dozen cookies.

Avoid Gambling For Small Gains When Playing Game

"The expert gambles if he stands to profit greatly; he refuses to gamble if he stands to gain little," writes Albert Morehead in his best-selling book, "Morehead on Bidding."

Opening lead — ♠ 4

The casual player might bid three hearts with the South hand, reasoning that North might hold a king and two or three small hearts despite his failure to respond to the opening bid.

THREE HEARTS

If so, South may make three hearts.

The trouble is that South may just as easily go down 500 or 800 points. "The expert will not risk 500 points to make a part score or to prevent his opponents' making a part score," Morehead points out. "But somehow the casual player finds a suit such as South's irresistible."

When this hand was played South was severely punished for his foolish gamble.

FIRST TRICK

East won the first trick with the ace of spades and returned with the deuce of diamonds. Three rounds of that suit allowed West to ruff, and West shifted to a club, taken by South's ace.

Declarer desperately took the ace of hearts and continued with the ten, but there was no escape. West stepped up with the king of hearts and led a club to the king.

East returned another diamond, and West got another ruff.

DOWN THREE

South was down three, for a loss of 800 points, and his 100 honors were small consolation. It was even less consolation to learn that the opponents would have stopped at a part score and that they would have gone down if they had bid game.

South gave up 700 points to stop a part score.

"South's three-heart bid gave his opponents a fielder's choice," Morehead sums up.

"If they wished to go on to three or more spades, South's bid could not stop them. If they found it more profitable to double, they could double — as they did."

What do you say?

Answer: Pass.

You cannot afford to bid diamonds or clubs, and you dare not double for a takeout for fear that partner will respond in hearts. Your best course is to await developments.

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, Sept. 15, the 259th day of 1964 with 107 to follow.

The moon is approaching its full phase. The morning stars are Venus, Jupiter and Mars. The evening star is Saturn.

William Howard Taft, 26th president of the United States, was born on this day in 1857.

On this day in history:

In 1789, the U.S. Department of State came into being.

In 1935, the Nazi Third Reich started a program of violent religious persecution against the Jews and established the swastika as the national flag.

In 1942, German armies started the bitter siege at Stalingrad.

In 1963, a bomb was thrown at a Negro church in Birmingham, Ala., killing four Negro girls and setting off racial rioting. Two Negro boys were shot to death on the same day.

A thought for the day—English statesman Benjamin Disraeli once said: "What we anticipate seldom occurs; what we least expected generally happens."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

Coincidence turns up in the strangest places.

The Robert Bohannas (of Marin Neon) were traveling down Baja California way. Stopping off at the historic Las Rositas Beach Hotel south of Ensenada, they made a small purchase in the hotel's gift shop. The merchandise was nicely packaged for them in a new paper bag.

But it wasn't until later that they noticed the advertising and logo printed on it: The Marcus Shop, San Rafael.

Charles Marcus denies that this store has a finger in any such Mexican pie. "The bag company must have made a mistake or run off too many. They had to get rid of them somewhere," is his explanation.

Or it could be that the Marcuses have a good foreign publicity agent. It seems that one of their friends traveling in Switzerland ran into another coincidence. In a little Swiss town he came across another Marcus Shop. And it was almost an exact replica of the San Rafael store. He sent home a photograph to prove it.

A FREE COURSE in the buying and selling of stocks has been scheduled for Novato, starting Tuesday, Sept. 29. It will meet for six Tuesdays from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the Marion School, Building 5, Room 16.

Instructor will be Donald F. White of Sausalito, a registered representative with Harris, Upham and Co. of San Francisco. White said the entire program will be devoted to exploring methods and techniques of selection and timing for both the general market and individual securities.

JOHN H. HOEFER of Belvedere has been appointed moderator of the Panel of Presidents for the annual western region meeting of the American Assn. of Advertising Agencies Oct. 29 in Beverly Hills. He is president of Hoefer, Dieterich and Brown, Inc., San Francisco advertising agency.

RONALD F. FEIN of San Rafael has joined the staff of John J. Hourihan and Robert C. McGowan at Marin Mortgage Co. as loan accountant. He was formerly a partner of the A. R. Roumiguiere Mortgage Loan office.

ROBERT E. BURKE of San Rafael has been appointed manager of Woodson Mortgage Co., San Rafael. Prior to his last five years in the real estate field he was an insurance broker for six years in Novato.

JACK K. SMITH of Mill Valley has been promoted to assistant vice president of San Francisco Federal Savings and Loan Assn. He has been with the company for the last 10 years. Earlier he was with the U. S. Revenue Service and the Bank of America. He is a former governor of the American Savings and Loan Institute.

IF YOU'VE NOTICED the ads lately, the period from Sept. 1 to Oct. 15 is "National Frozen Food Buying Time." A promotion campaign in newspapers, food supplements and over radio and TV is under way to encourage the housewife to check over the frozen food shelves every time she visits the market.

Marin Products Co., Inc., of Ignacio and other major frozen food distributors are working with retailers to emphasize the magnitude of the frozen food industry.

So far this year, the industry has offered nearly 250 new items—including such things as frozen avocados, tomato slices, fried clams, sea squab and deviled crab in the shell. They bring to a total of 2,800 the frozen foods now available to the housewife.

FOR THE NEXT two weeks it's vacation time for this writer—and I'll be away attending to my own business instead of "Other People's Business." Back again by the end of the month.

Mozambique has not yet felt the unrest sweeping so much of Africa.

RAMBLER'S CONVERTIBLE THREESOME FOR 1965

For the first time in American Motors' history, model changes include convertibles in all three Rambler series. The 1965 Ambassador (lower left) features dual vertical headlights and tail lights. Intermediate Classic (right) has dual horizontal headlights and wrap-around tail lights. Economy American has large single headlights. These and other models will go on sale Sept. 23 at Larry Brink Motors, Mill Valley and Dexter Rambler, San Rafael.

Boating Display

Kimball-Schmidt, Inc., of San Rafael will display its line of boating products at the 1964 Marine Trades Exhibit and Conference in Chicago from Thursday through Sunday. Kimball-Schmidt will be among some 425 boating firms to be exhibiting in the show.

Gets Service Pin

Profit-Taking Gives Market Loss At Close

NEW YORK (AP) — Late profit-taking sent the stock market to a loss by the close today. Trading was fairly active.

Chrysler, which had been up about 2, settled back to a fractional net loss. General Motors erased a fractional gain. Ford cut down a 1-point gain to a fraction.

Volume for the day was estimated at 5.6 million shares compared with 5.36 million yesterday.

Gains and losses of fractions to about a point were scattered among key stocks.

Chrysler paced the list on volume and held a gain exceeding a point. Ford was a point higher. General Motors was up a fraction.

G.M. and Chrysler touched new highs as did the top four steelmakers but the latter stumbled into irregularity as the session wore on. Bethlehem, heavily traded, held a gain of nearly a point. U.S. Steel erased a gain and was about unchanged.

Phelps Dodge dropped 2 points and Kennecott about a point while Anaconda canceled most of an early gain.

Corning Glass and Cummins Engine lost about 2 each. Britol Myers and Cerro Corp. dropped more than a point each.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange in moderate trading.

Corporate bonds were mixed; governments were weak.

Fred Brylka Promoted By Bank

Fred H. Brylka has been promoted to assistant vice president and assistant manager at Crocker-Citizens National Bank's San Rafael main office, it was announced by Charles L. VanHorne, vice president and manager of the office.

Brylka thus returns to the office where his banking career in Marin County began nearly 15 years ago. After serving there in a variety of positions, he was assistant manager at Crocker-Citizens offices in Mill Valley and San Anselmo and manager of the bank's Westlake office in Daly City and its Tiburon-Belvedere office.

Brylka is a member of the board of governors of the Marin County chapter of the American Cancer Society and past treasurer of the Tiburon Chamber of Commerce.

Lower Interest Rate Is Urged

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—California's savings and loan industry was urged by one of its own executives yesterday to lower the 4.85 per cent interest rate it pays on savings.

"If there is one item which should receive attention in this business in California now, it is the rate paid for savings," said Franklin Hardinge Jr., executive vice president of the California Savings and Loan League in a speech to the league's annual convention.

"A large segment of the population is asking when there will be an adjustment in the rate we pay for the savings commensurate to happenings in the real estate market which have resulted in a reduction in interest rates and fees charged for new loans," he said.

Hardinge also emphasized the importance of building cash reserves to absorb association losses, for "our business should acknowledge that it will make errors, and it will take losses."

Hawaiian Firm Plans Meeting

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Directors of Castle and Cooke, Inc., announced today they will hold their quarterly board meeting and inspect the company's operations in Northern California and Oregon on Sept. 17-22.

This will mark the third time that the directors of the Hawaii based company have held a meeting outside of Hawaii. Prior meetings have been held in Astoria, Ore., in 1961, and in the Bay Area in 1962.

The coast tour will take in stops at San Jose, San Francisco and Sonoma County in California, and Salem and Astoria, Ore.

Drug Group Gets Honorable Mention

The Marin County Pharmaceutical Assn. has taken an honorable mention in the first annual public education awards presented by the Northern California Pharmaceutical Assn.

The Marin County group received the award for its year-round public education and public relations program. Santa Clara County won first place among the 18 county associations competing for the awards.

Gas Station Will Open

The new Enco Service Station one and one-half miles north of Novato on Highway 101, adjacent to the Lodge, will hold its "grand opening" Friday and Saturday, according to Jack Lepinski, owner.

There will be many free gifts both days, he said.

This is the first Enco station in Marin County. It is a Humble Oil Co. Station, with Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey the parent company. It will carry Atlas products.

All cars that come in for service will be vacuumed, Lepinski said. The station also has pickup and delivery service.

Safeway Sales Up

OAKLAND —Safeway Stores Inc. has announced sales for the first 36 weeks this year were 4.5 per cent ahead of the comparable period of last year. For the 36 weeks ended Sept. 5 sales totaled $1,896,559,935 as against $1,815,424,229 for the comparable 1963 period.

Cassius, Sonny Sign, Suspended; 'So What?'

BOSTON (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay, pardon, Muhammad Ali, was strangely subdued. Challenger Sonny Liston actually smiled. Gov. Endicott Peabody announced they'd meet in a Nov. 16 title fight at Boston Garden — to the surprise of no one.

The World Boxing Assn. quickly replied that everyone in the room was quarantined, as it were, by a sweeping suspension. Clay's title was lifted.

Clay, deep in thoughts of the Black Muslims and a 30 per cent slice of a predicted $5 million purse, looked as concerned as an elephant bitten by a gnat.

"Who are the WBA, they oughta be investigated," Liston said in scorn.

The WBA had threatened in advance to refuse to recognize a rematch.

The Massachusetts Boxing Commission, which has bounced in and out of that fistic forum faster than a man on a trampoline, as has Michigan, said it felt the safeguards it had undertaken would satisfy the WBA.

"This isn't really a return bout," said commissioner Ed Urbec. "We've arranged a fight between the champion and the top contender.

"We shouldn't have been allowed to vote in the last WBA meeting anyway. We didn't pay our dues last year or this year because of our financial condition.

"I can't visualize the public not accepting Clay as the champion. Titles are won or lost in the ring. This is the fight the public wants."

'GREAT FIGHT'

Gov. Peabody wasn't too concerned, either. "I look forward to a great fight," said the chief executive who did not win his party's renomination in the state primary.

The State Commission, in its statement, outlined stipulations for the 15-round bout. Chief among them is that the winner must post a $50,000 cash guarantee he'll meet one of the top four rated contenders as listed by the WBA within six months after the fight.

The commission expressed the opinion it had set up safeguards "against all the evils which have bedevilled the heavyweight division in recent years."

"We will," intoned commission chairman Herman Greenberg, "be avoiding the confusion which would attend the stripping of a title from a champion and institution of a tournament which could lead only to confusion."

The next step the WBA is expected to take, having now declared "no recognition" of the fight and "no champion" is to set up a tournament to settle the title.

Merv McKenzie, newly elected president of the World Boxing Assn., said from Toronto the mass suspensions became automatic when the fight was signed.

"Nothing can override the WBA resolution (denouncing a rematch)," said McKenzie.

Liston suggested the body stick to its resolutions and he'd stick to Clay's body long enough for a knockout and recapture of the crown recognized here and there — but certainly not everywhere.

Bostonians seemed calm in the face of a ban issued by outsiders but then it's old hat here. Parliament and the crown tried that jazz in the 1960s.

At any rate, the fight is on at the Garden where 13,909 is the legal capacity and where tickets will be scaled from $50 to $10. Sam Silverman, partial promoter along with Intercontinen-

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

By JIM GILMARTIN

It's Going To Be A Long, Cold Grid Season, So Be Prepared

It's going to be a long, cold football season, folks, so haul out your longies, top coats, parkas, ear muffs, etc., early this year.

Usually, we Marvelous Marin football buffs don't need the cold weather gear until middle or late October. But fans at the Pop Warner Football Festival in Kentfield Saturday night were given a warning that winter's in a hurry this year. A cold wind swept through the grandstands that turned noses red and fingers blue. I saluted three times before I learned those flags were people. When they returned the salute I realized I, too, was colorfully cold.

So take this worning: When it's that cold in Marin on Sept. 12, there'll be frost on the pumpkins early this year. Yea, t-t-t-t-eam.

BILL MC DEVITT

JACK B. CRAWFORD, vice-president of the Marin Boys Club, felt poetic in submitting the following report to the I-J: "Hysterics, hustle and hoodwinks highlighted the 11th annual Pop Warner Football Festival last Saturday evening as the Marin Boys Club launched its 1964 season at College of Marin before a record crowd of provocative and perennial parents and patriarchs of pigskin performance."

Jack, ol' boy, you said a mouthful.

I STOPPED by the Marin Semi-Pro Baseball League's barbecue dinner-dance at San Anselmo's Star Hall Saturday night. Big success with more than 350 dinners served: Pete "Little Flower" Maggi proved champion spaghetti vendor while there was a tie for best appetite of the night between Frank "Ninny" Quinn, Al Tognoli, Babe DeMaestri, Ed Hutchison (the builder), and Joe Anselmo.

Anselmo and Hutchison were talking about their big bash coming up Sept. 26 when the Billings-Hutchison Builders celebrate their league championship while at a nearby table Manager Bob Selna of the Mill Valley Merchants said his team will celebrate its best season in years at a dinner-dance at the Mill Valley Golf Club, also on Sept. 26.

WILL THE committee working on Sunday's Marin Invitational Tournament of Stars golf shindig please stand up and take a bow? The group that has done a remarkable organizational job lining up the Hollywood stars and top-flight amateurs and countless other details is headed by contractor Bill McDevitt who has spent six months on the project. Others on the committee are Ed Vest, (tourney chairman), Doug Cowan (ticket sales), Art Dettner Jr. (advertising), Herbert A. Crocker (finances), Fred F. Enemark (golf club relations), Mozart Kaufman (awards), Alfred Marty (printing and program design), San Rafael Elks Club (program sales), J. William and Margaret Zimmerman (host and hospitality committee), Nelson Cullenward (sponsort pages).

Meanwhile, run, do not walk to your nearest golf pro shop and buy a gallery ticket to the golfing fun-fest. The price is right ($2) and the crippled and retarded children who will benefit can use the help.

Drake Big, Fast, Tough—L-O-A-D-E-D

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Drake is loaded.

That simple sentence has been floating around Marin Athletic League football circles these days, and it's easy to see why.

The Drake Pirates, a predominantly junior team last year that shared championship honors with San Rafael High School, has 18 members of that team back this season. But this year they are bigger and faster than in 1963.

Many of the returnees played first string last year. They must have done a lot of eating because they are really beefed up now. Head coach Bob Franceschini, an extremely happy man these days, says the middle of his offensive line has picked up about 40 pounds per man.

Reports from those who have watched the Pirates scrimmage all add up to one thing: "Wow!" Every varsity coach in the Marin Athletic League picks Drake as the team to beat this year, and with good reason.

Leading the Drake running attack will be fullback Joe DeMasi and halfback Dean Lazzarini, both starters on the '63 team. DeMasi, used for power plays up the middle, weighed 200 pounds last year. He now weighs 218 pounds "and seems to be faster," says Franceschini.

Lazzarini, a dazzling runner as a sophomore, picked up five pounds and two-tenths of a second that he'll use as a junior this season. The 165-pounder ran the 100-yard dash in 10.1 as a sophomore, but equalled the MAL record last track season with a 9.9 clocking.

Al Simontacchi started for Drake in the latter part of the 1963 season at the quarterback spot. He'll lead the Drake passing attack this year, and like all youngsters, has grown. He's now 6 foot 1½ inches tall and weighs 195 pounds. "His height makes him faster at picking out the receivers this year," says Franceschini. "Our passing attack should be much improved."

The only backfield position that was a question mark for Drake this year was at the flankerback spot. The two flankers from last year, Mike Crabtree and Dave Cericola, both were graduated. Trying for that open spot were senior Tom Manahan (175), a letterman, and juniors John Boothby (170) and Greg McCarty (168), two boys up from junior varsity.

After a full-scale scrimmage Saturday, Franceschini picked Boothby, crediting him with a fine job. Drake came out of that scrimmage without any injuries.

The Pirates' head coach said DeMasi showed power and Lazz displayed improved form in his running. "The entire team showed its experience in the scrimmage," Franceschini commented.

SPLIT END

Larry Stein, No. 4 pass receiver in the league last year, will be the split end for Drake, switching to both the left and right sides. He picked up 20

Marichal, Giants Oppose The Mets

The San Francisco Giants, just about stripped of any chance for the National League pennant, face the New York Mets tonight with Juan Marichal on the mound.

The Mets are Marichal's favorite team. He hasn't dropped a game to them yet. Such a victory would have to be classed as dubious for the locals, nevertheless.

The Giants must all but sweep their remaining 17 games to give them even a healthy sniff of the coveted flag. And the league - leading Phillies aren't going to ease off at this stage.

The cellar - dwelling Mets, which haven't been much competition in the league, quixotically have been quite a nuisance to the more talented Giants.

The Mets have collected six victories over San Francisco, and three times have taken them into extra innings.

In his team's final appearance at Candlestick Park, the ancient Casey Stengel will pitch former Big Ten fullback Galen Cisco, 5-16. Three times he has lost in extra innings to the Giants—All to Jimmy Davenport.

Giants Manager Al Dark, who does have his troubles, repeated his announcement of last week on hurlers:

"It'll be Marichal, Perry and Estelle in that order throughout the remaining games, barring injuries or illness."

Dark hasn't hung up his knickers, either, in his hopes for the pennant.

Modernized Meadows Opens Long Season

SAN MATEO (AP)—Modernized at a cost of $425,000, the Bay Meadows race track opens a thoroughbred meeting tomorrow which will extend through 83 racing days.

Innovations include an electric timer closed circuit television to various parts of the plant, and a sauna bath for jockeys.

The first 34 days of racing will be the Tanforan meeting over the Bay Meadows track. Then the Bay Meadows portion takes over to make the 83 days.

Lou Elkin, racing secretary for the Tanforan portion of the meeting and holder of the same post at Golden Gate Fields, says Northern California racing now has continuity.

While Tanforan operated at the Tanforan track, now sold for a real estate development, the three Northern tracks had rotating dates. Now there will be set times each year, the same as in Southern California.

Elkin explained that with the long meeting at one track, it has been possible to attract a better class of horses for this meeting.

"In succeeding years with the dates coming at the same time each year, we'll gain more stability and hence better horses," the official said.

An experiment finds the tote board being painted brown with chartreuse lettering. In the past its' been white on green.

An unusual injury that sidelined San Francisco 49ers' lineman Bob St. Clair Sunday may well put an end to his 12-year career in the National Football League.

"It's probable I'll quit," St. Clair said yesterday. "Things happened so fast I'm mixed up. I expected to quit this year but I didn't think I'd go out without firing a gun."

The 6 - foot, 9 - inch offensive tackle pulled fibers loose from the Achilles tendon on his right heel while running to catch a punt in the pre-game drill before Sunday's San Francisco-Detroit season-opening game.

St. Clair, 33, will undergo surgery within the next few days.

The 265-pounder was a member of the undefeated University of San Francisco team in 1951, an All Pro selection three times and selected five times to play in the Pro Bowl. Last year he was voted the Len Eshmont Award as the 49ers' most inspirational player.

St. Clair owns a chain of liquor stores. He is a former councilman and mayor of the San Francisco suburb of Daly City.

Walt Rock, a second - year man from Maryland, has been working at St. Clair's spot in the line and is expected to start Sunday against the Eagles in Philadelphia.

Davis Cup Lineups Listed

NEW YORK (AP) — Chuck McKinley, Dennis Ralston, Arthur Ashe and Martin Riessen were chosen today by the Davis Cup committee as the defending United States tennis team in the Challenge Round against Australia at Cleveland this weekend.

At the same time, Harry Hopman, the veteran non-playing captain of the challenging Australian team, said his team would be composed by Roy Emerson, Fred Stolle, John Newcombe and Tony Roche.

The matches will be played Friday, Saturday and Sunday on the composition courts of the newly built Harry T. Clark Stadium in Cleveland Heights. The draw will be made Thursday. It is the first time that cup matches in the United States will be played on a surface other than grass.

Ashe is the first Negro ever to be named to a U.S. Davis Cup team for the challenge round.

The U.S. won the cup from Australia last December with McKinley and Ralston playing in all five matches. The defenders are underdogs in the coming competition following play in last week's National Tennis Championships at Forest Hills, where Emerson won the men's singles title by beating Stolle in the final.

Bow Champ

He won the title and the perpetual trophy with a gross score of 506 for 42 targets.

Warriors Keep Five, Drop Five

SAN JOSE (AP)—Bud Koper, long shooting guard from Oklahoma City and the San Francisco Warriors' No. 2 draft choice, is one of five rookies to survive a roster cut.

The Warriors let five other first-year men go yesterday including Gene Elmore of Southern Methodist, the club's fourth draft choice.

Coach Alex Hannum had high praise for Koper's shooting skill and hinted that rookie Forward McCoy McLemore of Drake "might move somebody back." McLemore was the team's No. 3 choice.

Others dropped in yesterday's cut were four who signed as free agents: Sammy Key of Western Michigan, Leonard Guinn of Orange State, Norman Owyoung, former high school star in San Francisco, and James Hill of Kansas City.

The Warriors play the U.S. Olympic squad in San Francisco Monday night. Fourteen players are in camp with Wilt Chamberlain due tomorrow.

PADRES WIN KEG OPENER

San Rafael Padres, led by Phil Wallace, upset the El Cerrito Gators 15-12 Sunday night at Country Club Bowl, San Rafael, in the first round of the Western Professional Bowling League.

Wallace blistered the pins for scores of 210, 188, 237, 233 and 204 for 1,072 pinnage on five lines.

Other Padres' scores in the doubles, singles and team events were Walt Silva, 185, 157, 199, 189; Don Gee, 184, 179, 205; Dick Treadway, 198, 173, 169, 179; and Larry Mar, 180, 146.

Constellation 'Two TD Favorite' In America's Cup

By SID MOODY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — A long, windy summer comes to a climax today when America's Constellation and Britain's Sovereign set sail in their first race for the America's Cup.

All that men, money and months of practice can do has been done.

"Now we'll go out and race," said 46-year-old Eric Ridder, skipper and co-helmsman of the 68-foot American Cup defender.

"I don't believe in over confidence," said Ridder, "But I'm not going to be like a football coach with a loaded team and go around crying how we don't have a chance."

Constellation is conceded much more than a chance and if sailing were football the American 12-meter yacht probably would rate a two touchdown favorite.

Sovereign, however, can't be written off. She is a much improved boat over Sceptre, Britain's sluggish challenger in 1958. Ridder feels she is probably faster than Gretel, the Australian yacht that gave the Americans a scare against Weatherly in 1962.

Sovereign and Constellation were up on ways yesterday, both to give their bottoms a final polishing and to keep them safe from the fringes of ex-hurricane Dona that swept over this old seaport with rain and 45-knot gusts.

They set out in mid-morning for the starting buoy about 12 miles southeast of here. Starting time is set for 1:10 EST. The first yacht to win four races takes the cup.

The race will be over a 24.3-mile triangular course. If neither boat completes the course in six hours, the race does not count.

There should be no trouble with that today. Southwesterly winds of 10 to 20 knots are forecast with an afternoon shift into the northwest.

David Boyd, Sovereign's designer, spent Monday fretting over his progeny like a mother sending her child off to his first day of school. He climbed about her, checking this and that. Is she ready?

"I hope so," said the laconic Scot. "I started working on her in 1960."

Ridder and Robert Bavier, 46, his co-helmsman, feel Constellation is as highly tuned as can be after a summer of experimenting and campaigning.

There has been talk that Sovereign's sails look more like a laundry line than the trimly cut sails necessary to get the most out of a 12-meter yacht. But Peter Scott, Sovereign's 54-year-old skipper, said they were getting better after trying out different suits.

"You only need a couple that are right," said Bavier.

Success in yacht racing is dependent on three factors: The hull, the sails and the crew. The hull is like marriage. You are stuck with it for better or worse. Sovereign and Constellation both seem to be representative hulls. Sails can be changed from race to race in a continuing effort to find the right combination. But Sovereign's sail switching seems to indicate she doesn't have the perfect solution yet.

As for the crew, all three helmsmen have international reputations as sailors and tacticians, largely in smaller boats. The rest of the crews have been working together all summer so that they are as finely meshed as a set of gears.

As a gesture of the sportsmanship that has often marked this gentlemanly sport, Ridder has loaned Sovereign a spinaker strut, a metal brace to give more purchase on the big parachute's afterguy and keep strain off the mast.

"We gave it to them to keep any one from being hurt if something should break," said Ridder. "We're out to race, not to kill any one," he said with a grin.

By JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Two pleasant surprises for California's new football coach Ray Willsey this fall have been halfback Jim Blakeney and tackle John Rusev.

Both are lettermen but elected to compete with the track team in the spring rather than drill with the gridders. So Willsey didn't get to see them in the spring and those who didn't practice in the spring had to prove themselves quickly this fall.

Blakeney and Rusev did just that and both will see extensive duty against Missouri when Cal opens the 1964 season at Memorial Stadium on Saturday.

"Blakeney showed me plenty," Willsey told the Northern California Football Writers yesterday. "He has real speed, is quick with good moves. When he goes up to block a tackle or end, he's as tough a back as we have."

From Hanford, Blakeney lettered two years in football and two in track where he was a sprinter.

Rusev, a 232-pound junior from San Jose, has enough speed to be a triple jumper on the track team. He suffered a knee injury last fall after playing 117 minutes but appears fully recovered.

"Rusev was a big surprise," said Willsey. "He's fast, big and moves well. He and Ron Calegari will be the starting tackles on offense."

Knee injuries continue to plague the Bears. Willsey does not think Jim Phillips will return this year and Dave Urrea also had to undergo surgery. A third letterman lineman, Jim Pinson, has a cast on his knee but might see action at the end of the year.

KEY LINEMAN

Stanford also may have losta key lineman, at least for the opener Saturday against Washington State in Spokane. Bob Nichols, a 242-pound tackle, hurt a knee in a scrimmage Saturday.

Assistant coach Leon McLaughlin told the newsmen that head coach John Ralston was "satisfied but not elated" with the scrimmage.

He said tackle Dick Leeuwenburg, wingback Dick Ragsdale and halfback Ray Handley have looked good in the workouts.

San Jose State opens against Idaho on Saturday night at San Jose and Coach Bob Titchenel says the visiting Vandals have their best team in years. Yet he doesn't grab for the crying towel.

"We feel we'll have a good football team," he said.

Return of letterman Jim Ross, a 250-pound guard who missed last season, will help the line. Newcomers include halfback John Travis, a 205-pounder from Foothill Junior College, and Eddie Titus, a flanker from Oakland JC. Both probably will have starting roles.

Don (Tiny) Campora, starting his first season as head coach at University of the Pacific, sends his club against Montana University on Saturday night.

UOP will use a two platoon system with the veterans primarily on the defensive platoon. Exceptions are quarterbacks Tom Strain and Ernie Zermeno who'll share duties directing the offense.

"We'll be playing the first one by ear," said Campora as he reflected the thinking of the other coaches.

The writers named Dan Hruby of the San Jose Mercury as president of the organization to succeed Bill Leiser of the San Francisco Chronicle. Sid Hoos of the Hayward Review was named vice president and Tom Hansen of the Athletic Association of Western Universities secretary-treasurer. Jack McDonald of the San Francisco News-Call Bulletin was named sergeant-at-arms.

The writers named Jack Stephenson of Associated Press, Don Selby of the San Francisco Examiner and Dave Beronio of Vallejo as a committee to select the Northern California back and lineman of the week during the season.

The writers also voted to support the initials "PAC" as a nickname for the AAWU, to be used in such combinations as "PAC-8" or Pacific "8".

Marin Winners In Fishing Contest

Three Marin County anglers were among 52 weekly winners in the Schenley Sportsmen's Club salmon contest for the week ending last Monday, it was announced today.

Ed Brandt of 199 Valley View, San Rafael, caught a 42-pound, 12-ounce beauty near Slide Ranch Sept. 5; Joe Neal of 1 Inman, Kentfield, caught a 39-8 whopper at Stinson Beach Sept. 7, and Ralph McGrath of 1796 Indian Valley Road, Novato, caught a salmon weighing 37-9 near Slide Ranch on Sept. 6.

The season total so far in the Schenley contest is 416 winners, compared to 266 last year on this date.

Novato Trap Club Adds 21 Members

Novato Trap Club has welcomed 21 new members to its roster, Secretary Everett R. Whitney has announced.

A GALAXY FOR TOURNAMENT OF STARS

These well-known sportsmen will be in the lineup Sunday at San Rafael's Peacock Gap Club in the Marin Invitational Tournament of Stars golf tournament for the benefit of crippled and retarded children. They'll join scores of well-known amateur golfers and some 30 television and movies personalities from Hollywood in the day-long golfing fun-fest. Gallery tickets are $2 each and may be obtained at local pro golf shops. Above, looking over a tournament poster, are Lefty O'Doul, Harvie Ward, James French Jr. and Joe DiMaggio.

NOTES FROM PRO GRIDIRONS

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Let's hang out the pro football wash for the first time this season, but when it dries, don't be surprised at all the stiffness.

It was a long summer between tackles for some and the results should be evident about now. The worst injury of the opening weekend was suffered by San Francisco 49er tackle Bob St. Clair, whose 12-year career may have been ended by a freak pre-game accident.

St. Clair, a 6-foot-9 offensive tackle, pulled fibers loose from the achilles tendon of his right heel while running to catch a punt in a pre-game drill. He'll undergo surgery within eight to 10 days and, at 33, he could be finished.

BEAR STAR OUT

Linebacker Larry Morris, hero of the Chicago Bears' 1963 National League championship victory over the New York Giants, was operated on yesterday after injuring his right knee in Sunday's opener at Green Bay. There was no word on how long Morris would be out.

STEELERS HURTING

The Pittsburgh Steelers lost defensive end Dan LaRose, who hurt a knee against Los Angeles. Three other injured Steelers, halfback Dick Hoak (injured back) defensive back Willie Daniel (injured hip) and right end Jim Kelly (arm injury) are expected to be ready for the New York Giants next Sunday.

HORROR MOVIES

Players weren't the only ones hurting. Giant Coach Allie Sherman was nursing a severe case of strained eyes after watching films of the Giant-Eagles game with the press yesterday. The 38-7 Philadelphia victory was still there at the end.

"Poor execution and poor pursuit," the coach said.

The players will see the films Friday and the ending isn't expected to change then, either.

DON'T PROCRASTINATE

For three periods Sunday, the American League Kansas City Chiefs looked great against the Buffalo Bills. But the Chiefs got started 15 minutes too late.

Kansas City outscored the Bills 17-3 over the final 45 minutes but for the first 15 it was Buffalo 31-0. Result: Buffalo 34, Kansas City 17.

Moral: Don't procrastinate.

CROWD PLEASER

The New York Jets unveiled Shea Stadium's football layout and also presented a linebacker who could inherit Sam Huff's fans.

He's Wahoo McDaniel, part Indian and part-time wrestler, who was picked up from Denver in an off-season trade.

The fans seemed to pick up Wahoo's tempo after he was in on the first few tackles and cheered his every move. Eventually the public address announcer got into the swing of things, too.

After starting with the rather conventional "New York tackle by McDaniel," the PA man later shifted to "tackle by guess who — Wahoo."

'RAIDERS GREAT'

The Boston Patriots have never won an exhibition game and Coach Mike Holovak couldn't care less. His club wins when it counts.

The Pats, Eastern AFL titlists last year, whipped Oakland in Sunday's opener, but Holovak had some encouragement for the Raiders.

"They are a great football team," he said. "I don't think they'll lose again . . . until they meet us in Boston Oct. 16.

A GUIDE TO HELP YOU LANDLUBBERS

Port—left.

Starboard—right.

Mainsail—the after sail.

Spinaker staysail—a small, fully cut jib used with the spinaker. Also called a cheater.

Tack—the position the boat takes to the wind. A boat is on the port tack when the wind is over its port, or left, side. It is on the starboard tack when the wind is over the right side.

Reaching—sailing with the wind coming from the side of the boat.

Running—sailing with the wind from astern.

Beating—sailing into the wind. A boat is pointing when it sails as close to the wind as possible.

Leeward—away from the wind. Opposite from windward. A boat is to leeward of another if it is farther away from the wind.

Safe leeward position—to leeward of a rival boat but far enough ahead so as not to be bothered by its backwind.

Blanket—a verb. To maneuver your boat to come between your rival and the wind, taking the wind from his sails.

Come about—to steer a boat from one tack into the wind and onto the opposite tack.

Tacking duel—to tack frequently hoping to force the other boat into a mistake in sail handling.

Cover—a verb. A yacht covers another when it follows every tack its rival makes. A yacht splits tacks when it does not cover a rival's move.

Jibe—to move the sails from one side of the ship to another when sailing before the wind.

12-meter yacht—a boat of about 70 feet built to an intricate formula involving sail area, hull displacement and length. All three can be varied within limits of the rule.

5 Foreign Stars In Coast Tennis

BERKELEY (AP)—Five foreign entries were added today for the 75th annual Pacific Coast International Tennis Championships Sept. 20-28 at the Berkeley Tennis Club.

The three-woman Japanese Federation Cup Team, headed by Reiko Miyagi, 10-time Japanese national champion, joined Scotland's Harry Matheson and England's Carole Rosser in filing for the tourney.

Other members of the Japanese team are Kazuko Kuromatsu, No. 4 ranked woman and intercollegiate champion, and Yoko Obata, ranked No. 5 in Japan.

'. . . AND MAY THE BEST MAN WIN'

Aces Take Turns In Spotlight

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

While the Philadelphia Phillies virtually are running away with the National League pennant, they are enjoying an intra-murual game of follow the leader.

Their latest game came last night as they defeated Houston 4-1 and increased their lead to 6½ games over the second-place St. Louis Cards, whose game at Milwaukee was rained out.

Chris Short posted his 17th victory against seven defeats with a four-hitter while Johnny Callison rapped three hits, drove in two and scored two.

Bunning won his 14th game Aug. 23, and Short followed suit three days later. Their 15th victories came Sept. 1 and 2, respectively, while the 16th plateau was reached Sept. 5 and 10.

Although Short, who will be 27 Saturday, has lost three more games than Bunning, his earned run average is lower — 1.85 to 2.23. In fact, only Sandy Koufax has a better ERA in the league, 1.74, and he's finished for the season.

Incidentally, if Short and Bunning each win 20 games, it will mark the first time since 1916 that the Phillies have had two winners in that category. Grover Cleveland Alexander won 33 games and Eppa Rixey won 22 for the second-place Phillies that year.

JOIN FUN

But back to follow the leader. Allen and Callison have joined the fun the past two games. Allen, the second batter in the line-up last night, singled in the first inning before Callison, batting third, lofted his 27th homer, a season high for him.

The day before, Callison, third in the line-up, belted a run-scoring single in the 10th inning before Allen, hitting fourth, slammed his 26th homer. Callison's hit snapped a 1-1 tie, and Allen's blow clinched the victory.

Besides his home run Monday, Callison singled in the third and doubled and scored in the fifth.

Short lost his shutout bid in the eighth inning when Bob Lillis doubled and came around on two infield outs.

In the only other NL game, Pittsburgh whipped Los Angeles 7-2 as Bob Veale fired a five-hitter for his 17th victory against 10 losses. Dick Schofield drove in four of the Pirates' runs. His three-run double in the fourth broke a 2-2 deadlock.

In the only American League games, Baltimore nipped Minnesota 4-3 and Kansas City edged Boston 7-6.

MARIN JUNIOR FOOTBALL POWERHOUSE

Everybody Predicts Drake Is Team To Beat In Marin

pounds and now weighs 185 pounds. The other starting end for Drake will be Stan Carter, a 165-pounder who is another returning first stringer.

Stein was named to the all-Marin Athletic League team last year as a junior. Lazzarini and DeMasi were selected to the second team all-league squad by the coaches of the MAL.

In fact, Drake offensive first stringers are returning to every position but flankerback and the two guard spots. When you say experience is a big thing for the Pirates, it must be the year's biggest understatement.

40-POUND GAIN

The returning center is Loren Swaney who was listed at 145 pounds last year. This season the programs will show him at 185 pounds. Charles Hahn was a first string linebacker last year and will be one of the starting guards for 1964. He gained some 35 pounds and now weighs 195. The other guard for the starting unit is Bob Barnicut who weighs 185 pounds. He played second string varsity last year.

Some quick arithmetic shows that the Drake offensive line, from end to end, will average 190 pounds, and from tackle to tackle, 196 pounds.

For experience, there are seven other returnees who will be getting into a lot of games for Drake. Namely, they are halfback Tony Rivara (170 pound), guard Ray Menjou (175), guard Jerry Feickert (178), tackle Alan Hadley (195), end Bruce Trimble (170), tackle Brian Palmer (205) and end Steve Davis (165).

TWO-PLATOON

Drake will be two-platooning again this season and will be strong at the end positions on defense. Palmer, with his 205 pounds, and junior Doug Manuel, a 195-pounder who is also a tremendous shot putter, will be holding down the end spots defensively. And of course there's Jamison at tackle, the top defensive lineman last year for Drake. A middle guard possibility for defensive work is sophomore Bill Hickerson, who tips the scales at 235 pounds.

Franceschini thinks it will be a close race this year. "I think it will be between us, Terra Linda and Novato," he said.

Drake opens its season Saturday afternoon against strong Petaluma High School. The 2 p.m. game will be at College of Marin Stadium in Kentfield. First Marin Athletic League game for Drake will be Oct. 3 against Redwood, 8 p.m. in Kentfield.

tal Promotions, Inc., estimated it would produce a $450,000 gate with the rest of the money coming from closed-circuit TV, radio, and foreign rights, including movies.

Both contestants will get 30 per cent of the whole pot.

Both say they'll win without much elaboration.

Muhammed Ali was asked about the "new" man without the old brashness.

"I had to talk big at first to bring attention," he replied. "I was campaigning before. Now I'm in office and don't need to talk as much."

Liston said the shoulder ailment which caused him to throw in the towel at the last fight is fine now and that "it's going to be entirely different this time."

Asked why he was smiling and Clay was frowning, Liston replied:

"He knows what he's in for and you don't."

REPORTS ON MARIN'S PROS

Good Week For Boccabella, Cimoli

John Boccabella of San Anselmo and Gino Cimoli of Tiburon had good weeks in the pro baseball circuit, according to Player Periscope of Novato.

Boccabella, finishing out the season for Salt Lake City, had 9 hits in 28 at bats for the week for a week's mark of .321. It boosted his season average to .225. Included in his hits were a home run and two doubles, plus two runs batted in.

For the Pacific Coast League team, Boccabella now has a total of 23 homers, 9 triples and 21 doubles, and has rapped in 76 runs while scoring 62 himself.

Cimoli had 4 hits in 12 at bats for the week with Rochester, N.Y., of the International League. Included in the outfielder's hits were a homer and a double. On the season, Cimoli now is at a .302 clip and has knocked in 21 runs. He has 4 homers and 6 doubles included in his 42 hits.

Gerry Ard of Fairfax, shortstop for Modesto of the California League which concluded play, was hitting at a .231 clip at last report. In the last reported week, Ard had 7 hits in 28 at bats, including his first homer of the season. He also has 2 triples, 11 doubles, and has 36 RBI.

Ard's teammate with Modesto, Ron Cole of Mill Valley, finished his season with the Houston Colts farm club with a 13-12 record. In his last week's work, he pitched in three games and came out with one loss. In those three games he went eight innings, allowing only six hits and 3 walks while striking out seven.

On the season, Cole had registered 144 strike outs. He gave up 203 hits and 65 walks in 192 innings on the mound. His earned run average was at 4.03 at last report from Player Periscope.

Tiburon Backs Dock For Ferry

To the applause of commuters, the Tiburon City Council last night gave the go-ahead signal for construction of a permanent dock for the Tiburon-San Francisco ferry.

A majority of councilmen finally agreed that Harbor Carriers, Inc., which operates the ferry, would not have to provide any parking for commuter cars.

All councilmen said they heartily favored the ferry, beloved of some 120 commuters who ride across the bay each morning with coffee and return each evening with cocktails. But a council committee recommended that the line provide 30 parking spaces for the average of 30 cars which commuters now leave in Tiburon each weekday morning.

This proposal was looked on as "rather a drastic imposition" by Lester C. Bedient, general manager of Harbor Carriers. "It's a well recognized fact that this is a losing proposition," he said.

Commuters arose from the audience to say that parking was their problem, and they would solve it individually.

"The restrictions you are trying to place on Harbor Carriers would do a great deal toward scuttling the line," said John G. McChesney.

"I don't think there is a parking problem weekdays; there may be in the future," Rampton W. Harvey said.

Commuters heard that all-day parking on city streets probably would be curtailed with tighter enforcement of time limits, and that all-day parking in a merchant-operated lot meant for shoppers was not being looked on kindly by businessmen.

Councilman John S. Hoffmire Jr. moved that a use permit be granted the ferry line without requiring it to provide parking.

The motion was voted down 3-2, with Councilmen Anne L. Ellinwood, Fred C. Hannahs and Mayor Gordon W. Strawbridge voting against and Leo Souza and Hoffmire in favor.

Hannahs then moved that the use permit be approved with provision of 10 parking spaces.

"Raise it to 20 and I'll second it," said Mayor Strawbridge. The motion died for lack of a second.

"Why don't we get on the ball and form a parking district and solve all our problems and not penalize one (business)?" suggested Hoffmire. This brought rousing audience applause.

Councilman Souza then moved that the decision on Harbor Carriers be postponed for two weeks for further research on parking. This motion also died for lack of a second.

Councilman Ellinwood moved that not less than 25 spaces be provided by the company. She and Strawbridge proved the only councilmen in favor of this motion.

Councilman Souza retreaded Hoffmire's motion and again moved that no parking be required. This time the motion passed, to the sound of audience applause, with Hoffmire, Souza and Hannahs voting in favor; Strawbridge and Ellinwood opposing. The Tiburon City Council also:

1. Affirmed planning commission approval of splitting into two parcels a lot at 1741 Mar West—1728 Centro West, owned by Nick D. Ferzacca. The vote was 3-2, with Strawbridge and Souza opposed.

2. Adjourned to 8 p.m. Friday when at midnight the council had covered five of the 20 items on its agenda.

'Orchid Species' Is To Be Topic

A. J. Bingham of Sacramento will tell members of the Marin Orchid Society about "Orchid Species" when they meet at 7:45 p.m. Thursday at the Fairfax branch of Crocker-Citizens Bank.

The society will join with similar groups from Santa Rosa and Napa in a three-day display Oct. 16-18 at the Flamingo Hotel in Santa Rosa.

Five entries submitted by members of the Marin society won blue ribbons at the San Francisco Flower Show in August. These members were Mr. and Mrs. Enrico Introini of San Rafael, Mr. and Mrs. Mrs. Joseph G. Soldavini of San Anselmo, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Chapin of San Anselmo, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Lyons of San Anselmo and Mrs. Leslie Tindall of San Rafael.

Mrs. Owen's Election Suit Tossed Out

Marsha Owen's challenge of last April's Sausalito city election was thrown out of court yesterday.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court granted a defense motion for dismissal of the suit, which had charged misconduct by precinct boards, illegal voting, bribery, errors in vote count, and ineligibility of the three successful candidates to serve on the Sausalito City Council. Reason for dismissal was that Mrs. Owen (better known as Sally Stanford) had failed to answer a second demurrer to the charges.

Mrs. Owen ran fourth in the city council election April 14, with three positions to be filled. The successful candidates, Carl W. Gabrielson, Melvin S. Wax and Mrs. Eleanor O'Hara Chapin, were named defendants in the suit, filed after the election.

The defendants filed a demurrer to the charges on May 26, claiming the complaint was not specific. An amended complaint was filed July 10, and on July 16 a second demurrer was filed in behalf of the defendants by attorney Roger P. Garety. Mrs. Owen was given 10 days to answer the second demurrer. She failed to do so.

Saturday Evening Post For LBJ

NEW YORK (UPI)—The traditionally Republican Saturday Evening Post today urged American voters to elect President Lyndon B. Johnson. It was assumed to be the first time the magazine has endorsed a Democratic presidential candidate since it was founded by Benjamin Franklin in 1728.

In a full-page editoral, most of which was devoted to a blistering attack on the Republican nominee, Sen. Barry Goldwater, the national magazine said "a crushing defeat for Goldwater will drive the fanatic saboteurs of the Republican Party back into the woodwork whence they came."

The editorial expressed confidence that "Johnson will make a good president because he already is a good president.

LISTENING TO tapes which she has borrowed from the library for the blind is Gisela Contreras. The 22-year-old San Francisco State College student is trying to finish her college education and training in rehabilitation for counseling the blind before she herself is blind. A small group of Sausalito women have made a project of helping her to achieve her ambitions.

Humanitarian Race Against Time

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

It all came about when the San Francisco Chilean Consul, who knew of Sausalito's interest in Chile through its sister city relations with Vina Del Mar, asked the Loren Jays for help. Jay is chairman of Sausalito's People-to-People Program.

GISELA HAD come to this country in January, 1963, for eye tests at the University of California. She lost the sight of one eye in an accident at the age of two, and she has peripheral vision in the other, which is going with practically no possibility of saving it.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl G. Thompson, and Mr. and Mrs. M. Justin Herman signed for her visa and became her legal guardians in this country. She lived with the Jays last summer, and she now lives with the Thompsons.

In her own country Gisela had studied two years at the University of Chile when the sight in her remaining eye began to fail. She was not permitted to take the examinations because she could not read the texts.

ON COMING to this country she bought a portable Braille writer, started the study of Braille and worked hard to learn English.

For one year, through individual and organizational help, she was able to attend the University of the Pacific at Stockton, where instruction is given in Spanish as well as English.

This week Gisela entered San Francisco State College as a junior. She has been told by the Stanford School of Medicine that on completion of her A.B. degree and a postgraduate professional education, she will be welcomed as a trainee in the Stanford Medical Center's division of rehabilitation medicine.

Meanwhile it is a touch and go struggle to obtain funds to continue her education.

One of her main needs is for full size tape recorder on which she can play the texts which are recorded by an organization called "Recording for the Blind" in New York and by volunteer work of prisoners at the California Medical Facilities of the State Department of Corrections at Vacaville, where there is a center for the blind.

In classes she uses her portable recorder instead of taking notes, and she dictates her examinations. Soon she hopes to be able to type them.

IN ADDITION to Mrs. Jay, Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Herman, the main group of Sausalito women who have "adopted" Gisela includes Mrs. Brookner Brady, Mrs. William B. Lynch and Mrs. Byron Hurd. And others have helped in various ways, such as providing clothes, transportation and money for incidental expenses.

THOUGH SHE is nearly blind, Gisela is far from helpless and can do things a sighted person might envy. These include painting pictures in watercolor that her sponsors consider good enough to have framed and hung in their homes. She also sews a little, but her major talent is cooking.

She has been doing this since she was 5 years old, she says, not only because she loves it, but because she was trained to do so by her mother, who has had to support the family consisting of Gisela and a younger brother and sister since the father was killed fighting a fire when Gisela was 9.

Today the attractive young woman is so expert that she never measures or times anything and finds it impossible to give anyone the recipes for some of her Chilean dishes.

On completing her education and training in this country Gisela hopes to return to her country and found a center for the blind, since in Chile no blind person can enter the university.

Her Sausalito sponsors would be glad to have anyone join their project who would care to do so.

IN THE KITCHEN of the Earl G. Thompsons' home in Sausalito, Gisela Contreras prepares to serve the Empanadas, a Chilean dish, which she has prepared. She has been cooking since she was five years old and is so expert she never measures or times anything—to the regret of those who would like to have some of her recipes.

THE SUBURAN SCENE

Banquet To Precede Tourney

By MOLLY MARIN

The largest number of movie, television, nightclub and sports celebrities at one time in Marin will be at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant Saturday night for the Celebrity Banquet preceding Sunday's first annual Marin Invitational Tournament of Stars at Peacock Gap.

The banquet will be patterned after a similar affair preceding the Bing Crosby Tournament at Pebble Beach, with the Marin invitations at a premium since few others besides the golfers and their wives, committee chairmen, members of the hospitality committee and members of the press, radio and television invited.

Besides the celebrity golfers from Southern California, the best amateurs from the Bay Area are also invited along with some of the better golfers from every private club in the Bay Area. These number well over 200.

Starting at 6:30 p.m., cocktails will be served on the Galleria overlooking the yacht harbor at Dominic's and dinner will be served at 8 p.m., in the Musee d'Art International.

The entertainment will be the highlight of the affair, with the celebrities putting on impromptu acts at the invitation of honorary chairman Maurie Luxford of North Hollywood, tournament director of the Bing Crosby classic and advisor of the Marin event. Assisting Luxford as master of ceremonies Saturday night will be Jim "Mr. Magoo" Backus and Richard Arlen.

MARIN COUNTRY CLUB members will celebrate the sixth anniversary of the club with a full day of events on Sunday. The day will begin with mixed couples golf for members from 9:15 a.m. to 12:30. A patio lunch is planned at noon.

In the evening cocktails will be served from 5:30 to 7 p.m. in the main lounge and at the pool, with a barbecue steak dinner at the pool from 6 to 8 p.m. for members and their families.

Nearly 200 guests are expected to participate in the day's celebration. A Dixieland group will provide music for dancing around the pool in the evening.

The Kenneth Lamotts and their son John of Tiburon are home from Seattle, where they spent a week while Ken gathered material on the city on an article assignment for Holiday magazine.

BRIDE-ELECT Sandra Hodgson of Kentfield, who will wed Jay Rodrigo on Dec. 22 at St. Paul's Church in San Rafael, was honored at a shower given by Mrs. Charles F. White of Ross. Sandy and Jay have been assisting Ann Curtis Cuneo with her swim classes during the summer vacation from University of California, where Jay is studying medicine and Sandy's major is nursing. The guest list included Mesdames Ralston Hodgson, Sandy's mother; Wallace Hickman, Jordan Martinelli, Leon Smith, Scott Polland, Arthur Latno Jr., Gordon Cuneo, Paul McArdle, Fred Enemark, LeRoy Page, Edward Ruff and Joseph Rodrigo, Jay's mother, as well as other friends and neighbors of Sandy's. Mrs. George Volk (Diana White), who is here from her home in Maryland with her two small children, assisted her mother as hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Marincich of the Belvedere Lagoon, entertained recently with a Polynesian luau in honor of their daughter, Bonnie, who was celebrating her 21st birthday. Bonnie attends the University of California, where she is a senior majoring in biological science. Twenty-four guests attended the luau.

NANCY MIRATA of Belvedere will fly East today to visit with friends in Iowa and New York before her Oct. 1 departure on board the S.S. Hope for Conakry, Guinea. Nancy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Mirata of Belvedere, has accepted a position as radiological technologist aboard the S.S. Hope to be based in Conakry. She was graduated from Mt. Zion Hospital and Medical Center, School of Radiological Technology, where she is chief technologist and instructor of medical terminology. The ship will arrive in Conakry on Oct. 16 to begin its people to people teaching program.

Mrs. S. W. Kramar of The Meadows, Terra Linda, entertained a party of eight guests with dinner Saturday evening at the Oakview Club. Honored guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Rubin of Greenbrae, who were celebrating their twenty-first anniversary.

THE ROBERT GOLDENS of Larkspur are proud parents of a son, Bret Robert. They also have another son, Todd, six, and daughter, Kristina, two. Mrs. Ragna Kidder of Larkspur and Mrs. Claire Thompson of Los Altos are the grandmothers.

Laroche designs for the elegant lady in line and fabric and plays it with the covered-up look, immense hooded capes and long sleeved dinner dresses like this sand-tone crepe gown trimmed with mink, left, selected for the Celanese Paris Collection. The collar, high in front, dips slightly lower in the back. Long narrow sleeves are also mink trimmed. Laroche still likes the lost waistline, here, flowing into a long skirt with wide front panel that reveals an underskirt in the same fabric. Yves Saint-Laurent also shows a covered up look for evening, This stately gown in pale turquoise satin of Arnel triacetate, right, has high cut neckline, barely defined princess silhouette. The simple understated look is dramatized by the sumptuous short collarless jacket embroidered overall with sequins to evoke the richness of Rennaissance brocades.

TIGHT LID

Whys Of Schizoids

By CHARLES SCHAEFFER
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — Some schizophrenics are apparently creations of parents who clamp a tight lid on childhood self-expression.

The parents of schizophrenic youngsters also tend to manipulate family life to meet their own needs, rather than their children's.

The same parents employ guilt to control the children.

These are some of the unhealthy traits found by federal government scientists in a study of a number of families with schizophrenic children. In the same study, psychologists also measured the behavior of families with delinquents.

THE EMOTIONAL turmoil that helps induce schizophrenia is different from the upsets leading to delinquency, the researchers reported. But "disordered thoughts" helped pave the way for both abnormalities.

Scientists with the National Institute of Mental Health surveyed three families of at least four members each. In the first group each family had a schizophrenic child, a normal child and the parents. The second family group included a delinquent child, a normal child and parents; and in the third group all family members were normal. The researchers—Drs. James R. Stabeau, Joe Tupin and William Pollin and Martha Werner—based their findings on intensive psychological tests taken by the families, which had similar ages, income and social standings.

The researchers used the Thematic Apperception Test in which subjects glanced at 10 cards one at a time. Each bore an ambiguous image.

Those tested were asked to tell a story about the picture. When the story revealed a clue to the parent-child relationship, the psychologists used it in their evaluations.

IN ANOTHER test, designed to reveal differences, the subjects were asked 16 questions on attitudes and opinions. Sample: "Marriage is more important than the work one does"; or "There is nothing a person cannot do if he really wants to." When family members disagreed they were asked to talk it over and reach a common agreement. An unseen researcher observed how they tried to work out the differences.

The TAT scores indicated that the parent-child interaction in "schizophrenic" families was intense but aimed at satisfying the parents' needs rather than the child's. The children were seen as extensions of the parents and curbed in their self-expression.

THE REVEALED difference test showed that "schizophrenic" families created overcontrolled and inappropriate emotional tones; instilled guilt feelings and showed undue concern about conforming; communicated fuzzily with each other and developed rigid family organization.

In the families with a delinquent child, the involvement of parents with the children appeared superficial and impersonal. However, parents were portrayed as demanding and punishment-minded.

When the child fell short of parental "standards," he was impulsively rejected rather than helped. And, the researchers added, the child seemed to manipulate rather than cope with his environment. Parents displayed little basic trust in the child's ability.

The emotional tone of the delinquent families was uncontrolled and intense. At times it appeared artificial and self-destructive. Family interactions sometimes produced shame and doubt.

Housewives Under Forty Are Typical Candy Buyers

CHICAGO (UPI) — The average candy buyer is usually a housewife under 40 who is influenced by her child to select a particular brand name in a plastic bag at the closest store to her house, according to one national survey.

The survey, made for American Viscose, indicated that candy was purchased by 76 per cent of 1016 women answering the questioners. Seventy-seven per cent said someone in the family bought candy, but only 70 per cent of 106 male respondents said they had made any family candy purchases.

The majority of families who did not buy candy said they refrained from indulging because they simply did not care for it. The next major reason was that candy was too fattening. Many old people felt they were "too old for candy" or said candy was "for kids." Other reasons related to health.

Most respondents said housewives did most of the candy purchasing, but 24 per cent said their children did the buying. As many as 70 per cent of the parents interviewed said at least some portion of their purchases were made at their children's request.

In 45.1 per cent of the families which bought candy, parents were under 40 years old. Of the non-candy buying families interviewed, 76.8 contained adults over 40 years old.

Swinging Angels To Hold Dance For Beginners

The Swinging Angels square dance club of Novato will sponsor a beginners square dance class for boys and girls between the ages of eight and 12 years, beginning tomorrow. Registration will be open tomorrow, Sept. 23 and Sept. 30.

The dances, under the instruction of Mrs. Wanda Willey of Novato, will be held from 7 to 8 p.m. every Wednesday at the Rancho School multipurpose room.

The Lil Angels, also under the direction of Mrs. Willey, will meet with the Swinging Angels for a Christmas party and the annual family picnic in July.

Women Authors Prove Versatile

NEW YORK (UPI) — Women write all kinds of books — on subjects ranging from atomic power to Zuni tribal customs.

A survey of Library of Congress listings for Barnard College graduates shows that nearly 2,000 books have been written by 540 Barnard authors in the last 75 years. The college made the survey in connection with observance of its 75th anniversary.

Subjects included treatises on industrial problems, guidebooks to almost everywhere, "how to" publications in a myriad of fields, as well as the expected novels and juveniles.

Alumnae President Enjoys Traveling

MRS. JOHN BASSETT

Travel, books and sketching are favorite pastimes of the new president of the Marin Alumnae Club of Alpha Gamma Delta, Mrs. John Bassett of Mill Valley. She reveals that plans for the club's money-making projects include a wine-tasting party and a ball game this year.

Joanna Bassett and her husband are four-year residents of Marin and are the parents of a 16-month-old daughter, Elizabeth Anne.

The sorority proposes to support charitable projects such as the Crippled Children's Society, the new president said.

Novelist Will Be The Speaker At Sausalito Lunch

Herbert Gold, San Francisco novelist, will be the speaker at the annual luncheon of the Wellesley alumnae of northern California on Saturday, at the Alta Mira Hotel in Sausalito at noon.

Mr. Gold, who has just returned from a summer of teaching at Harvard University, is the author of six novels, and he is a prominent essayist and short story writer.

A recent judge of the National Book Award for fiction, Gold came to San Francisco a few years ago on a Ford Foundation Theatre Fellowship to work at the Actor's Workshop and decided to live here.

Group To Mark 'Hospital Day'

"Hospital Day North" will be celebrated on Sunday when the Donald V. Westlund Auxiliary, No. 7816, of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of Novato hold a picnic luncheon at the Yountsville Veterans' Home.

Members will invite one or two veterans to share their lunch. Gifts will also be presented to the veterans at the annual affair.

A membership drive is being conducted this month for women whose husband, father, brother or son served overseas during combat. Mrs. Louis Cavallero said that anyone interested in youth activities, relief work, Americanism work or community service are welcome to become members.

Luggage Not Key To Its Owner

NEW YORK (UPI) — Once, it was by their luggage the hotel people usually knew them. But no longer.

Victor Giles of New York's Governor Clinton Hotel says luggage no longer is a key to the affluence of its owner.

Now, just about everyone has good-looking matched luggage, said Giles. He figures it's because of "ready availability of luggage at moderate prices" and the increase in travel in general.

But, said Giles, there's always the exception — the eccentric who is well endowed but doesn't believe anything more durable than a cardboard box is necessary for his travels.

Beverly Saunders Weds W. K. Collin

The wedding of Beverly Grace Saunders and William Kent Collin, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Collin of Sleepy Hollow, San Anselmo, took place on Aug. 29 at Brae Road Chapel in Duncan, British Columbia.

Beverly was given in marriage by her father, Stephen Saunders, as the Rev. Huron C. Sheppard officiated. She wore a full length French brocade gown with a train.

Marcie Collin, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor and Marilyn and Patti Miller, nieces of the bride, were bridesmaid and flower-girl. They were dressed in full length gowns of turquoise crystal charm.

Matt Drake of Wilmington, Ohio, was best man and Peter Young of Ashland, Ore., and William and Henry Saunders, brothers of the bride, ushered. Three-year-old Stephen Saunders was ring bearer.

Beverly was graduated from Royal Jubilee Hospital in Victoria, B.C. She served as a volunteer nurse in a bush hospital clinic in Nigeria where the couple met. William served as a Peace Corps volunteer teaching science in a secondary school in Nigeria.

The bridegroom was graduated from the University of California at Davis.

After a wedding trip "up island," the couple drove to San Anselmo and Los Angeles where the bridegroom will continue graduate work at the University of California in Los Angeles.

Cancer Board Meeting Set On Thursday

The annual meeting of the Board oof Directors of the Marin County Branch of the American Cancer Society will be held Thursday night at the Meadow Club. The affair will be no host with cocktails starting at 7 p.m. followed by dinner at 8 p.m.

Besides directors, any volunteer who has worked for the Cancer Society during the past year may attend, although reservations must be made through the local Cancer Society office in San Rafael.

Mrs. Harvey M. Hand, chairman of the nominating committee, has announced the nomination of Mrs. John Horton as president, Mrs. Clarence Lesko as vice president and A. W. Rolfe as secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Carrie Smith, president of the Napa Branch of the Cancer Society will be guest speaker. Her topic will be "The Tapestry and the Weavers."

Suds Off Cleaner

Copper cleaners can't do their work well on greasy surfaces. That's why a copper pan — or stainless steel with a copper bottom — must be sudsed and rinsed with hot water both before and after applying copper cleaner to remove discoloration.

Dip Cotton In Ink

Guild Sets Date Of Belvedere Ball

Mrs. Henry S. Sanderson and Mrs. Bennett Wren are co-chairmen of the Belvedere Ball to be held Sept. 26. Other committee members are Mesdames James Crittenden, Bennett Wren, Christopher Rivers, John Hoefer and Thomas Corn, invitations; Edwin Weed and daughters Margot and Cynthia, mailing; John Flint, reservations; Ernie Van Asperen, John Hoffman and William J. Ferguson, decorations.

Stanford Freshmen Feted At Barbecue

Participating in the swimming and barbeque were Richard Baum of San Anselmo, Kathleen Dufficy of San Rafael, Thomas Farber of Larkspur, Laurence Hearst of Ross, John Kaufman of Kentfield, Donald Levison of Belvedere, Barbara Johnson Marshall of San Rafael, Alice Merrill of Sausalito, James Murphy of San Anselmo, Gordon Nelson of San Anselmo, John Pasqualetti of Kentfield, Roderick Ponath of San Rafael, Michele Slavich of Tiburon and Diane Swingle of San Rafael.

Hosts and hostesses were Barrett Lion, Sharon Johnson, Marie Bertoli and Carl Schmidt.

Carbon Steel Edge

Many professional chefs feel that carbon steel gives the best cutting edge for kitchen and carving knives. But remember —carbon steel stains easily and must be washed and dried immediately after use in hot soap or detergent suds and rinses.

Help Suede Shoes

Elaine Lenci Bride Of Wayne Neubauer In Reno

The marriage of Elaine Lenci, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Lenci of San Rafael, to Wayne S. Neubauer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Neubauer of San Anselmo took place Saturday at the Golden Wedding Chapel in Reno.

The bridegroom is the brother of Mrs. James Detels of Soda Springs and Alan Neubauer, who is serving with the U.S. Navy in Japan. He is the grandson of Mrs. Amelia Neubauer of San Francisco and Mrs. Kay Marker of Oakland.

Grandparents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lenci of San Francisco and Mrs. Sara McKinney of Fairfax.

The bride and bridegroom were graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School. Wayne attended College of Marin and served on the U.S.S. Glacier in the Antarctica Deep Freeze Operation.

The couple will reside in San Diego wheret he bridegroom is attending U.S. Navy pre-commission school.

Bringing Up Baby®

Most baby-care experts advise against propping the bottle for baby's feedings. Apart from the warmth, comfort and security you give your baby when you hold him, there are rather nice benefits for you. Feeding time gives your on-the-go body a chance to relax, your feet a fine rest. Above all, you achieve a special "oneness" with your baby, reward enough for any mother.

Warming thought. If baby's a dawdler, one of those knitted coasters will help keep the bottle warm longer.

Solid comfort. As soon as your doctor gives you the green light on cereal, Gerber Cereal Sixes are just right for a bird-size appetite ...and the perfect way to introduce baby to different flavors. This handy, six-in-1 package contains small-size boxes of Rice Cereal, High Protein Cereal, Barley, Mixed Cereal and two Oatmeal. After baby samples all five, and indicates his favorites, you can get Gerber Cereals in the regular, large-size boxes.

All Gerber Cereals have the delicate flavors and super-smooth texture that encourage baby to take to this important basic food. And they're enriched with iron, calcium and B-vitamins to get him off to a good nutritional start.

Saving plans. (1) If you've a two-story house, you'll save many a step by keeping a supply of diapers both upstairs and down. (2) Folding a day's supply of diapers at one time simplifies and speeds the pin-up job.

Why vitamin C? Doctors specify this vitamin early in the infant diet because breast milk or cow's milk have very little vitamin C, which baby needs every day. Gerber Juices —all nine of them —are rich in this important vitamin, needed for sound gums and other body tissues. While Orange Juice has been the traditional "starter," doctors often recommend Gerber Apple Juice because it's especially mild and well-tolerated by babies. My Husband says

I'm the best company just after I've had an appointment at Greenbrae Salon of Beauty.

I'm not surprised, either. I feel so good. So rested and relaxed . . . and confident, too, that Louise and her staff have me looking my very best.

They know what's new . . . and better, what's best for me. They're friendly, considerate, competent without intruding on my mood at the moment.

or too old for Revlon's 'ETERNA 27'?

The truth is, if you're under 30, you don't need this astonishing skin cream. But if you're beyond that...you should know that women all the way up to the age of 88 have seen dramatic changes in their skin after using it! Famous skin specialists proved that 'Eterna 27' works. Their reports show that it brought dramatic changes to the skin in more than 6 out of every 10 cases they tested! And there are no hormones in 'Eterna 27.' This special offer makes it easy for you to at least try it.

INVITATION FOR PROPOSAL

Sealed bids will be received at the office of the Marin Municipal Water District, 220 Nellen Avenue, Corte Madera, California, until 1.30 p.m. Wednesday, September 23, 1964, and will be opened at that hour for the installation of approximately 30 lineal feet of 16" outside diameter welded steel pipe, together with the necessary pump barrel, valves, appurtenances and connections to the existing system; the furnishing of approximately 14 cubic yards of reinforced concrete for pump pit together with the miscellaneous metal and wood materials for the construction of the complete Phase 3, Lagunitas Pump Station. The work to be done lies in District property adjacent to Sir Francis Drake Highway in the Town of Lagunitas, Marin County, California.

All pipe, valves, fittings and pump suction barrel with the exceptions noted in the specifications will be furnished by the Marin Municipal Water District. The concrete and miscellaneous metal and wood will be furnished by the contractor. The contractor shall furnish all necessary and required labor and equipment and other materials not furnished by District.

The General prevailing rate of wages in the locality in which work is to be performed has been ascertained by the District, under the provisions of Section 1770 of the Labor Code, to be as follows:

Classification	Rate Per Hour

Power Blade Operator	5.10
Power Shovel, Dragline, Crane, Clamshell, Backhoe Operator:
Up to and including 1 yard	5.20
Over 1 yard	5.33

Bond shall be not less than ten (10) per cent of the total amount of the bid and shall be made payable to the Treasurer of the Marin Municipal Water District.

The proposal for "Construction of Phase III of the Lagunitas Pump Station" must be submitted in the enclosed envelope provided for this purpose.

Specifications may be obtained at 220 Nellen Avenue, the office of the District. The $25.00 deposit required for each set of specifications will be refunded when specifications are returned to the District. It is requested that those Contractors wishing a Water District representative to accompany them on their first visit to the site of the work, notify the District sufficiently in advance so that necessary arrangements may be made.

Progress payments will be made.

In the Matter of the Estate of DORA M. MEHERIN, Deceased.

To the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the County of Marin:

The petition of PATRICIA ENGSTROM and KATHERINE MEHERIN respectfully shows:

1. That petitioners are the duly appointed, qualified and acting Executrices of the estate of DORA M. MEHERIN, deceased.

2. That there is included among the property of said estate, as shown by the inventory on file herein, a certain parcel of real estate with improvements thereon, situated in the City and County of San Francisco, State of California, and particularly described as follows, to-wit:

Those certain five rooms on the south and west side of the second floor of the office building at 2444 San Bruno Avenue, San Francisco, California.

3. That it will be for the advantage of said estate to lease said property, inasmuch as there is a suite of offices consisting of five rooms thereon, suitable for use as a patient's waiting room and doctor's offices (same having formerly been so used and occupied for this purpose). The rental of which is necessary and desirable in order to produce income for said estate; that the same can be leased, and it is proposed, therefore, to lease said premises for the term of five years, at a rental of Two Hundred Twenty Five Dollars ($225.00) per month, upon the conditions set forth in the lease, a copy of which is hereto annexed, marked Exhibit "A", and made a part hereof.

WHEREFORE, petitioners pray that an order be made and entered herein authorizing them as Executrices of the last will and testament of said DORA M. MEHERIN, deceased, to lease said property in accordance with the terms and conditions of said proposed lease.

'Buck Rogers' Test Set For Astronauts

By GENE BYLINSKY
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON—Space agency astronauts will test a Buck Rogerish "jet-propelled back pack" for the Air Force while floating in space more than a hundred miles above earth.

First flight tests of the unit will be made by Gemini astronauts in mid-1966 and may lead to first-hand inspection of hostile satellites. The propulsion unit is also designed to allow spacemen to assemble and repair orbiting space stations and satellites, assist in rendezvous operations, and transport materials.

On-the-spot satellite inspection, and possibly destruction, is expected to be the major goal of the Air Force project, however.

It is one of a number of approaches to interception of hostile satellites. The Air Force also is investigating ways of shooting down enemy satellites with ballistic missiles and doing research on an unmanned satellite inspector.

Another reason for the Air Force's interest in satellite inspection could be the desire to find out how easy or difficult it will turn out to be, and to devise proper defenses against destruction of U.S. spy satellites by Russian spacemen.

Until recently in the realm of science fiction, the scheme will enable an astronaut tethered to his mother ship to "fly" up to an hour and travel as far as 1,000 feet in any direction.

The "flight" in space will be accomplished in the following manner:

One of the two Gemini astronauts will don the chest part of the chest-and-back pack Modular Maneuvering Unit while inside the Gemini capsule and connect it to a tether and communications cable. He will then depressurize the Gemini capsule, open the hatch and step out into the void of space.

He will see a velvety, pitch-black sky where the sun shines without glare and stars appear as sharp, unblinking pinpoints of red, blue, white, and yellow. Below him the earth will spread in a majestic panorama. All the while the spaceman will be travelling with the same speed as the mother ship — 17,500 miles an hour.

The spaceman's first goal will be to reach the back pack stored outside the capsule in a special container, because the 160-pound outfit is too big for in-capsule storage. The astronaut will don the back pack, check out its life support, communications and propulsion systems, and attach the tether line.

Propulsion is provided by a 12-nozzle hydrogen peroxide system. Four jets propel the astronaut forward, four backwards, two up and two down. An attitude control system automatically stabilizes the spacemen to prevent uncontrolled tumbling. Each control handle is large enough to permit easy operation while wearing a pressure suit and gloves.

The tethered astronaut will have a two-way voice communication with the Gemini capsule. An alarm system, with a beeping audio tone, is provided both astronauts to warn of a malfunction in the system. Should anything go wrong, the astronaut will be pulled back to the capsule.

Scientists already are presenting papers with titles like. "The Dynamics of Retrieval of Tethered Astronauts." The retrieval will be somewhat akin to reeling in a placid fish. But it must be done carefully to avoid wrapping a spaceman around the capsule and killing him.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Doctor Links Intake Of Sugar To Having Heart Attacks

VAN DELLEN

Is it too much fat or too much sugar in the diet that causes hardening of the arteries? Dr. John Yudkin, professor of nutrition and dietetics at the University of London, says those who have heart attacks consume more sugar than do the control subjects. His conclusion: "People who take more sugar in tea or coffee are far more likely to have heart attack than those who take little."

He asserts that is the first time the diet of heart patients has been shown to differ in any way from that of normal people. Much research points to an association between the development of coronary arteriosclerosis and the level of blood cholesterol, the blood pressure, body weight, and cigarette consumption.

ON THE OTHER hand, he claims no specific dietary constituent, including calories, minerals, vitamins, proteins, total carbohydrates, fat, animal fat, and saturated and unsaturated fatty acid has been proved to be the specific cause of hardening of the arteries.

Dr. Yudkin's project was done with the help of a state registered dietitian, Janet Roddy, on ben between 45 and 66 years of age. All had a recent first attack of coronary thrombosis or proved hardening of the leg arteries. Their diets were compared with a group of healthy men who entered the hospital because of accidents.

HALF THE SUGAR intake was measured by finding out how many lumps or spoonfuls were taken daily. The rest was estimated from the amounts available in readily identified items, such as canned foods. The group with hardening of the arteries used nearly twice as much sugar as the control group. A detailed analysis determined that the degree of atherosclerosis was in proportion to the amount of dietary sugar.

Dr. Yudkin may have difficulty selling his ideas to researchers who believe fat and cholesterol play an important part in the problem and they have the advantage of considerable animal research in their favor. Many authorities believe there is more to hardening of the arteries than cholesterol. And herein lies the fallacy of using one substance such as sugar in a statistical analysis. The least the physician could have done was to include cholesterol, weight, blood pressure, and tobacco in the survey.

(Dr. Van Dllen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

REPLY

This may follow exercise in which the joints are irritated to such an extent that the tissues swell.

REPLY

This was a popular remedy years ago. It proved to be unsatisfactory and seldom is used today.

President Remaining Aloof From Attacks

By EDWARD W. O'BRIEN
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — Republicans are failing in their efforts to draw President Lyndon B. Johnson away from the lofty posture he has assumed and into the slugging give-and-take of a traditional election campaign.

Both Sen. Barry Goldwater and Rep. William E. Miller have been baiting Mr. Johnson ever since the Republican convention, often on high policy issues and sometimes on more personal matters, such as the Johnson family's television-radio fortune. But the president has chosen to hold to his strategy of giving the impression of being above the battle.

Thus the campaign has been relatively tranquil until now, and it may remain so.

In politics, you can't have a fight unless the other fellow is willing. Despite the new prominence of the vice presidential candidates, public attention still centers on the presidential candidates, and Johnson, to the disgruntlement of Republicans, is still saying nice things about them.

At a recent press conference, for example, Johnson was asked to respond to former Vice President Richard Nixon's claim that the GOP is now the party of the common man while the Democrats have become the party of big business.

Any battle-scarred pro is tempted by such a challenge. But Johnson meekly restrained his instincts and answered: "I think the Democratic party and the Republican party both are trying to do what they think is best for all the country, without regard to any specialized segment of the country."

"I think the whole question is the approach to it, and which course is more likely to attain the best results,' 'he continued. "I don't think that the Democratic party wants any business government, any labor government, any big government. It is just interested in the best government for all the people."

On Wednesday the president was asked how he felt about the endorsement of Sen. Goldwater by Mississippi Democratic governor. Again the president was all sweetness and moderation. "I think that every person in this country ought to support the candidate of his choice and the candidate that he feels will best serve," Johnson said.

Even when Johnson has an obviously political engagement, he is skittish about saying so. His Labor Day speech in Detroit, the customary campaign-opener for Democratic candidates, was somehow transformed by the president into nothing more than a talk to "a group of working men who invited me three or four months ago to come out there."

Pennsylvania Democrats understood for weeks that he would go to Harrisburg Thursday evening and address their $100 fund-raising dinner. But only five days earlier he was insisting "I have no plans to do it" and urging newsmen not to "speculate." It was not until the day before the dinner that the date was officially confirmed at the White House.

Congress, controlled by the Democrats, is dragging out its session and probably won't go home until early October. This tits in with the Johnson strategy of cool detachment because the routine news generated by Congress dulls public interest in such other affairs as the presidential campaign.

In all this, however, there is an over-riding caveat, as the Republicans well know. President Johnson is not taking the campaign casually. On the contrary, it seems to be his consuming interest.

Though few of his activities are visible, he is running the campaign as fully as he ran the Atlantic City convention, and he has mobilized almost every available resource within and outside the government to the end that he may win a tremendous reelection victory.

Children's Fete At Jewish Center

A festival launching the fall children's program of the Marin Jewish Community Center is scheduled from 2 to 5 p.m. Sept. 26 at the center, 1618 Mission Avenue, San Rafael.

Called the Succot-Simcha Torah Festival, the affair will be open to youngsters from kindergarten through sixth grade and will feature games, drama, crafts and singing.

Name of the festival comes in part from the traditional Jewish holiday of Succot, which recalls wanderings of the children of Israel in the wilderness after they were delivered from Egyptian bondage.

Australians Worry Over Auto Tariffs

By ARTHUR SCHOLES
Worldwide Press Service

CANBERRA — The Australian Tariff Board is scheduled to hold a special hearing this month into duties on motor vehicles that are imported completely assembled.

The fears of Australian manufacturers, over the growing popularity of low-priced Japanese cars, are believed to have forced the federal government to order the special hearing.

Japanese auto makers are bidding to win six per cent of the Australian car market this year. Only General Motors Holden, Ford Australia, British Motor Corporation Australia (BMC), Chrysler and Volkswagen now make more sales.

The first three of this "big five" are known to have been holding conferences recently on combatting the Japanese challenge.

PRESENT POLICY

Existing tariff rates are lower on auto parts than on cars already assembled—so as to encourage the development of local industry.

The domestic costs of Japanese car makers are so much lower than of companies manufacturing here that the Japanese have been able to absorb the higher duties on completed cars and still compete with cars assembled here.

Of 55 models of Japanese cars, station wagons and trucks, now winning a place in the Australian market, only three are presently assembled here. But Japanese car manufacturers have announced that they soon intend to begin production of autos here.

JAPANESE FEARS

Japanese car agents here make no effort to hide their fears that the Australian Tariff Board may recommend duties so high as to block the import of finished cars, and keep the Japanese autos out until they have built assembly plants in this country.

At present, many Australian sheep and cattle ranchers are buying Japanese cars on a reciprocal basis. They say: "You buy our wool and we'll buy your cars."

Government trade officials are concerned that the imposition of higher duties on Japanese autos might spill over the threaten the highly profitable over-all trade now conducted by Australia with Japan. Last year Japan was Australia's second-best customer, with Britain first by only a narrow margin.

In the financial year ending June 30, 1964, Australia sold Japan 549 million dollars worth and bought in return only 182 million dollars worth of goods.

1970 GOALS

Whether by local assembly or imports, the Japanese motor industry plans for an annual sale of 200,000 vehicles in Australia by 1970. This would amount to a third of the estimated 1970 market—equal to the present huge slice held by Holden.

Car Owner Reports Gas Siphon Attempt

John R. Dolan of 25 Windsor Avenue, San Rafael, went into his front yard at 9 a.m. Sunday and spotted a nine-foot length of garden hose protruding from the gasoline tank of his car in the driveway.

Donlan told San Rafael police that six to eight gallons of gasoline had been siphoned from the tank.

Society Will Spotlight Early Belvedere Days

How Belvedere Island became an island will be the subject of Helen Van Cleave Park when she addresses the annual meeting of Marin County Historical Society tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the San Rafael Improvement Club.

Mrs. Park has done extensive research on the subject, in which she has been assisted by James L. Heynemann of Belvedere, who will be an honored guest at the meeting. His grandfather came to California during the Gold Rush and he has lived in Belvedere since 1900.

Mrs. Richard Keating, Marin County librarian, will exhibit new books which recount Marin County history.

Principal speaker will be John C. Oglesby, who served as Marin County surveyor for several terms, and was city engineer for seven cities in the county. He will tell of the first land grants in Marin, and how the boundaries were determined. To illustrate his talk, Dr. W. Scott Polland, a director of the society, will show an illustrated map of the first land grants.

Another speaker will be Waddell F. Smith, great-grandson of one of the founders of the Pony Express. The speakers will be introduced by Florence Donnelly, founder-director of the society and program chairman.

Members may take guests and golden wedding couples will be presented.

The evening will be concluded with refreshments. Mrs. Elie Dalmon, chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. V. J. Bloom. Both are directors of the society.

Pool, More Tennis Courts Planned By Peninsula Club

Directors of the Tiburon Peninsula Club hope by next summer to expand the facilities by addition of a swimming pool, four tennis courts, and larger parking area.

"Working drawings" are being prepared for construction of a second pool, 25 by 60 feet, to be located on a portion of what is now the parking lot.

The tennis courts will be in a corner of Judge Field, J. Donald McCune, club president, reported, still leaving room for the two Little League baseball diamonds. The club now has four tennis courts.

A 50-car parking area will be installed on what now is the "old basketball court," McCune said.

Study Center Sounds Call For Tutors

Tutors are being sought for the Marin Study Center which begins its second year Oct. 5 and 6 at Sausalito's Richardson Bay School.

Those interested, according to Mrs. Jacqueline M. Smith, program coordinator, may appear at 8 p.m., next Monday, at the school's home economics room for orientation and to learn about the program.

The center offers students an after-school opportunity to study and receive individual help from older students and adults, many of whom are teachers and all of whom are volunteers. In addition to tutors, the center seeks persons interested in serving the center in other capacities, said Mrs. Smith.

The center schedule is: grades 7 to 8, 3:30 to 4:30 p.m., Tuesdays, beginning Oct. 6; grades 9 to 12, 7 to 8 p.m., Mondays, beginning Oct. 5.

Prowler Enters Woman's Room

Someone entered a San Rafael home early Sunday, leaving an obscene note and an item of underclothing next to the bed where a 22-year-old Sacramento baby-sitter was sleeping.

Ruth C. Henninger of 92 Belvedere Street, Apt. 13, said the house was entered between 2 a.m., when she retired, and 4:30 a.m., when members of the family returned and found the front door open.

The note was found later in the morning by Mary H. Facio of Sacramento, who had been staying at the home as a baby-sitter.

More Jazz Planned

The Stinson Beach Arts Foundation will hold a second "Jazz on the Mountain" concert next August in the Cushing Memorial Theater on Mount Tamalpais with Gerry Olds as director. Proceeds from the benefit series held last month, including a jazz concert, are expected to be known by the end of September, according to Louise Childs, publicity chairman.

New School Site Leads Agenda Of Lagunitas Board

Lagunitas School District trustees will continue discussion on proposed sites for a new school in Woodacre at 8 p.m. today in the school's multipurpose room.

The board at its last meeting asked for more figures, particularly on development cost, for the two possible locations recommended by a site selection committee.

One location adjacent to the Woodacre Improvement Club is an improved site, appraised at $165,000. The other site is undeveloped, south of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, near the Idlewild rest home, and appraised at $47,000.

Also on tonight's agenda are an enrollment report and consideration of problems resulting from increased enrollment.

Wallet Disappears From Club's Locker

Thomas C. Perkins said the wallet was in the pocket of a suit left in the locker at 2:30 p.m. He told police an attendant had promised to be certain the locker was locked, but when he returned later, the locker door was open and the money was gone.

Art On Exhibition

County Seeks To Coordinate On Languages

The Marin County schools office is about to embark on a $2,900 program to bring order to elementary schools' foreign language programs.

Asst. Supt. of Schools Stanley Friese, claims that, although many school districts this year are starting foreign language programs, there has been virtually no coordination among districts and no standards set.

In one district, language instruction might start at the kindergarten level and use persons fluent in a foreign language.

In the district next door, no teacher may speak the language being taught, and the school system is merely using elaborate tape recordings and movies, along with educational television programs.

The next district may have no program at all this year, although all schools will have to teach foreign language in sixth grade next year.

What happens when children from these diverse districts enter high school? That is the question the county seeks to answer.

Friese said the work will be done mainly with small school districts under jurisdiction of the county office, but the hope is to come up with standards which can be applied to all schools in the county.

Dixie Trustee Meeting Off To Tomorrow

The Dixie School District board meeting, originally set for tonight, has been rescheduled for 8 p.m. tomorrow at the district office at 35 Trellis Way, San Rafael.

Major item will be decision on the foreign language program this year. The district's language consultant, Manuel Guerra of University of Southern California, will propose use of the Encyclopedia Britannica film series and two weekly session with Spanish-teaching teachers.

A proposal for an increase in psychological staff time will also be considered. Supt. Dennie B. Willis will recommend sale of $240,000 worth of bonds to qualify the district for a state loan for construtcion of a new school in upper Lucas Valley.

Pay-TV Firm Is Forced To Cut Employees

SANTA MONICA (UPI) — Subscription Television Inc., first major pay-TV attempt in the West, yesterday announced a sharp cutback in personnel in its battle to combat free television.

The company said the Reuben H. Donelley Corp., which provides it with sales, billing and business personnel, had lopped of 90 workers in Los Angeles and another 53 in San Francisco.

A company spokesman said the cutback was made necessary by expenditures to defeat an initiative on the California ballot to outlaw pay television.

Wholesale Food Strike Simmers Amid Hot Words

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A two-day-old strike-lockout in Southern California's wholesale food industry simmered on today amid hot words from both sides.

After renewed negotiations collapsed in less than an hour last night, President Robert K. Fox of the Food Employers Council said:

"The union is still insisting on the same exhorbinant, inflationary demands which caused the negotiations to fail before."

A Teamster Union spokesman said management is "stubbornly refusing to consider legitimate needs of their employees on such issues as protection against the effects of automation and job security."

Dean Appointed

Dr. Ellsworth R. Briggs, dean of adult education at College of Marin, has been re-appointed to the state-wide junior college committee on moral and spiritual values for the 1964-65 school year. He has been chairman a similar committee at the college.
